

LONDON, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1992

ESTABLISHED 1887

At Least 52 Are Killed In Portugal Air Crash Chartered Dutch Jet Catches Fire

and the second secon

In Bad-Weather Landing Attempt

By Peter Wise Ington Post Service

ی کاری کاری میں ویک کاری کاری کاری

DNR

EÐ

. د

6.00

1. 2. 2.

 $2^{+}\pi$

23

1

نەرىپى ئەرىپى

1 451 - 2 12

1.00

Or to Oral

52/92

LISBON — A Dutch jetliner carrying more than 320 holiday travelers crashed Monday and caught fire as it tried to land in a storm at Faro Airport in southern Portu-gal, killing at least 52 people, officials said.

At least five people were unaccounted for, an official at the office of the district's civil governor said. Radio reports put the injured at more than 200; hospital officials said 11 were in critical condition. [Carlos Saruca Salgado, the airport direc-tor, said that 54 people were killed, and that all others had been accounted for, Reuters reported from Faro. Cabrita Neto, governor of the Algarve region, said that at least 283 people were injured. Sources in Faro said about 80 survivors had left hospitals and checked in to local hotels.

[Officials for the airline, Martinair, said the plane carried 327 passengers, mostly Dutch nationals, and a crew of 13. It was en route from Amsterdam.]

Rescuers battled through dense smoke to bring the injured from the wreckage of the chartered DC-10. Many of the injured were badly burned, hospital officials said.

Some survivors jumped from doorways, windows and the gap caused by an explosion that split the fuselage in two pieces, survivors and witnesses said.

The plane was making a second attempt to land in beavy rain and crosswinds when a fire crupted in the right wing, according to airport officials. Some witnesses said the aircraft may have been hit by lightning.

plane, who survived the crash with minor injuries, told Portuguese radio he felt a strong gust of wind hit the plane, tilting the right wing and causing it to hit the ground. The wing scraped along the ground for more than 160 meters (180 yards) as the plane veered off the runway, witnesses said. One of the three engines hit the tarmac and caused an explosion, according to airport officials.

"There was a flash of light, all the lights went off and then there was an explosion," ooe passenger said. "I grabbed my mother and rushed out of the plane. Not everybody

Celestina Rosario, a tourist guide and one of six Portuguese citizens who survived the

See CRASH, Page 6

**

The unidentified Dutch captain of the plane, who survived the crash with minor was so lucky.

Rescue workers probing the wreckage of the chartered Dutch DC-10 that crashed while trying to land in Faro, Portugal.

Russian Bank Challenges Key Reforms On the Ruble

Nation Followed Orders By IMF 'Like a Robot,' Deputy Director Asserts

> By Fred Hiatt Washington Post Servic

MOSCOW - The deputy director of the Russian central bank, Valerian Kulikov, has proposed a return to a highly centralized bankng system with massive state financing of industry.

Mr. Kulikov also said that under Yegor T, Gaidar, the recently dismissed acting prime minister, the bank had mistakenly followed orders from the West's International Monetary Fund "like a robot," the newspaper Izvestia reported Monday.

Mr. Kultkov's challenge to free-market poli-cies came amid continuing turmoil and acrimo-ny in and around the Kremlin as President Boris N. Yeltsin and Prime Munister Viktor S. Chernomyrdin prepared to announce a cabinet on Tuesday.

Mr. Yeltsin has pledged to maintain his free market policies despite having jettisoned Mr. Gaidar, but conservative forces continue to press for major changes in policy and person-

Mr. Yeltsin's spokesman, Vyacheslav Kostikov, accused the parliamentary speaker, Ruslan Khasbulatov, of character traits "bordening on the criminal" and compared the speaker, one of Mr. Yeltsin's chief conservative opponents, to Stalin,

"The history of the Soviet period knows a precedent when a politician with such inclinations grabbed power in the country," Mr. Kos-tikov said after Mr. Khasbulatov allegedly threatened to "destroy" Mr. Yeltsin's spokesman, "The results are well known; mass terror, deportations and the gulag."

Ella A. Pamphilova, social welfare minister, became the first reformist in Mr. Gaidar's cabi-net to tender her resignation, Interfax reported. Miss Pamphilova had campaigned almost single-handedly against privileges for the govero-ing elite. It was oot reported whether Mr. Yeltsin had accepted her resignation.

And the increasingly nationalistic parliament summoned Foreign Minister Andrei V. Ko-zvrev to account for his policies with regard to Yugoslavia, Many deputies believe, Mr. Ko-zyrev has been too pro-Western and insulticiently supportive of Russia's "Slavic brothers" in Scrbia. Mr. Kozyrev, who may be called to testify as early as Tuesday, is a chief target of conservative forces since parliament earlier this month woo the right to confirm or deny Mr.

Amid Cries of Electoral Fraud, Milosevic Is Claiming Clear Victory

By Stephen Kinzer New York Times Service

BELGRADE - President Slobodan Milosevic of Serbia took a commanding lead in his race for re-election as vote counting continued Monday, but his principal opponent, federal Prime Minister Milan Panic, denounced the counting as fraudulent and said he would demand a new election.

The dispute set the stage for further conflict between forces backing the two candidates. Belgrade remained calm Monday, but many Yugoslavs fear the coming conflict could turn violent.

After counting 19 percent of the vote, electoral officials said the militantly nationalistic Mr. Milosevic had won nearly 57 percent, with Mr. Panic winning slightly more than 33 percent.

declared that ber candidate had won "a clear victory." Mrs. Dacic rejected calls for a new election. "No country in the world can accept the practice of constant elections until the opposition wins," she said.

In a written statement, Mr. Panie asserted that the official election results were invalid "because of fraud, theft and cheating in the counting of ballots." He called the results "null and void."

Serbian prisoner of war compounds in Bosnia-Herzegovina croke horrors of World War II Nazi death camps. Page 2

Mr. Panic, a Yugoslav-born American businessman, can-celed appointments Monday and remained closeted with

A spokeswoman for the Milosevic campaign, Ivica Dacic, advisers at his suburban villa. Before the first official results "tainted by shameless propaganda in the state-run media, were announced Monday, he said that if he lost it would be because of "massive fraud," and "the criminal lies spewed by state television."

After the voting ended Sunday evening, a polling firm hired by Mr. Panic said that its exit polls showed the two candidates in a dead beat, which would have required a second round of votiog in January. Election observers from the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe issued a statement describing the ugoslav electoral process as "riddled with flaws and irregularities." They estimated that at least 5 percent of eligible voters, most of them young people who were expect-ed to support Mr. Panic, were unable to vote because their cames did not appear oo voong lists. The European observers said the campaign had been especially television, that exclusively supported the govern-ment party and either ignored or distorted the message of the opposition."

They did not, however, endorse Mr. Panic's charge that the vote counting had been fraudulent

Io caopaign speeches, Mr. Miloscvic pledged to continue defending the interests of all Serbs, even these who live outside Serbian borders. This policy has led him to support Serbian forces who are besieging cities and carrying out ruthless "ethnic cleansing" campaigns in neighboring Bosoia-Herzegovina.

Maoy foreign governmeots, abandoning the centrality they normally observe when commenting on foreign elec-

See SERBS, Page 6

Western Strategists See Bosnia as a War Zone, Not a Charity Case

By Joseph Fitchett International Herald Tribune PARIS - Strategic planners said Monday that any Western officials said that U.S. and European govern-ments had elarified their military objectives in recent days during high-level discussions about possible military inter-

I'o prevent this, the military options - and political priorities - are much clearer for the West than they were in carlier phases of the civil war that has dismantled Yugosla-as Iraqi forces in Kuwait were after their communications to Baghdad were cut off, according to Western military planners.

Britain has been emphasizing a potential dilemma: Any use of Western air power in Bosnia would trigger Serbian retaliation against UN forces, mainly British and French troops, who have been deployed in small numbers to get food and other forms of relief to civilians. In the United States and France, which favor the exclusion zone, officials said that the Serbian threats should be countered by making it plain that the West would meet any should be aimed at containing the conflict and not at delivering bumanitarian relief.

"This is an Iraq in bad terrain, not a Somalia that happens to be next door to Europe," an officer at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization said. He said that the focus of military planning about Bosnia-Herzegovina and its neighbors has shifted from saving civilian lives to curbing aggres-sion by Belgrade in its bid to carve out a "Greater Serbia."

The West's overriding concern is to prevent an international conflict in the Balkans, a result that would follow almost automatically if the fighting spilled over into Kosovo, a Serbian-controlled province principally populated by Muslims with ethnie ties to Albania.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Establishing an air-exclusion zone over Bosnia of the sort that prevails in northern and southern Iraq would be a devastating blow to Serbian troops in Bosnia. Much of this occupying force depends on a very narrow, vulnerable ground supply route running into eastern Bosnia from Scrbia

Without airplanes to cover the road and deliver arms and food in emergencies, the Serbian forces would be as exposed

See OPTIONS, Page 6

Mr. Yeltsin last week dropped Mr. Gaidar and appointed as prime minister Mr. Cherno-myrdin, a veteran bureauerat from the Soviet oil and gas industry. The appointment was made under strong pressure from the Congress of People's Deputies, which accused Mr. Gai-

See RUSSIA, Page 11

Clinton Signals A Hands-On Foreign Policy

By Dan Balz ngton Post Service

LITTLE ROCK, Arkansas - As Presidentelect Bill Clinton prepares to name his foreign policy and military advisers, be is giving signals that he may be almost as much an activist in foreign policy as he is domestically. Aides said Mr. Clinton would seek to involve the United States in a variety of situations and to assert U.S. leadership across the board.

But while he is assuming the presidency with a deep understanding of and involvement in domestic issues, Mr. Clinton is untested in foreign affairs. Moreover. he must pick his senior advisers from among Democrats who have been out of government for a dozen years and who, like him, are untested in dealing with pressing post-Cold War issues such as the situa-tions in Somalia and Bosnia, as well as relations with Russia.

Bill Clinton makes his choices for the education and energy cabinet posts. Page 3.

Most of those with the standing to become senior officials are likely to bave served in previous administrations. Transition advisers predict that the new faces and new ideas will come in appointments to the subcabinet and the National Security Council.

"Essentially we have to erect a whole oew conceptual basis for foreign policy after the Cold War," said Will Marshall, president of the Progressive Policy Institute. "There is now a vacuum," be said, adding that the old rationale for policy-making no longer worked, while a new one was not clear. The likely choice of Warren M. Christopher for secretary of state appears similar to Mr. Clinton's selection of Senator Lloyd Bentsen, Democrat of Texas, for secretary of the Treasury: an established and reassuring figure rather than a new face.

Mr. Christopher, 67, was deputy secretary of state in the Carter administration. He is an experienced foreign policy professional who commands considerable respect, even though he is not known as a conceptual thinker on foreign policy. "I think Christopher is generally compatible with Clinton's focus on promoting democracy and human rights abroad," a transition official said. "But he combines it with a real nuts-andbolts appreciation of the diplomat's art, and a real skill in managing large organizations." On the other hand, Mr. Clinton's expected

A deportee, wounded by shrapnel, being carried Monday just outside Israel's self-declared security zone in southern Lebanon.

Arab Deportees Repelled By Gunfire, With 2 Hurt

By Clyde Haberman New York Times Service

JERUSALEM - Ordered by Lebanese soldiers to leave their makeshift tent camp, 415 exiled Palestinians in southern Lebanon tried to march back into Israeli-controlled territory Monday but were stopped when Israel's elient militia fired mortars and machine gun rounds at them.

The shooting seemed designed more to frighten off the Palestinians than hurt them, and it worked, because they headed back to their camp. Nonetheless, two men were reported to have been wounded, one in the band and one in the jaw by a piece of shrapnel.

Despite ample drama and confusion, little had fundamentally changed by day's end in the standoff that began Thursday when Israel ex-pelled the Palestinians from the Israeli-occupied territories.

Lebanon still says it will not accept the de-portees. And Israeli poliocal leaders and military commanders assert that they are dangerous Islamic fundamentalists who are intent on killing Israelis and who will remain on Lebanese soil, no matter what it takes.

If anything, the Israeli government dug in, moving forward its own troops and those of its surrogate South Lebanon Army to keep the Palestinians north of the strip that Israel has carved out of southern Lebanon and claims as a security zone against guerrilla attacks. A senior official in Jerusalem said that soldiers would form cordons at the edge of the buffer zone and might fire tear gas, but that their orders were not to fire live rounds directly at the deported fundamentalists.

Prime Minister Rafik Hariri of Lebanon told humanitarian organizations on Monday that the organizations could no longer provide emergency aid to the deportees. Reuters reported from Beirut.

[Franke De Jonge, coordinator of operations of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency in the Near East, said after meeting with Mr. Hariri that the government had decided to prevent any organization, including the UN agency and the International Committee of the Red Cross, "from providing these people with any sort of assistance from the Lebanese side.") Stung by strong overseas condemnation of the expulsions as a violation of international law, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin of Israel lashed out at the critics on Monday, accusing them of hypocrisy and of wrongly turning the fundamentalists into victims.

"Just as the state of Israel was the first to recognize the Iraqi nuclear danger, thus we stand first today in the line of fire against the

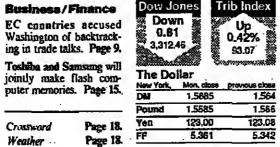

See ISRAEL, Page 6

Kiosk

U.S. Sues 8 Airlines for Price Fixing

operating a computerized fare exchange sys-WASHINGTON (Reuters) - The U.S. tem in a way that unreasonably restrained Justice Department announced Monday price competition. that it had filed a civil antitrust lawsuit It alleged that the airlines had agreed to against eight domestic airlines and a data increase some fares and eliminate discounts exchange system over alleged price fixing. for travel between specific cities. The suit asserted that the airlines were

For N.Y., a New Train to the Plane?

By James Dao New York Times Service

NEW YORK - Ninety percent of the passengers using Kennedy International Airport get there swearing and cursing and praying in a cab or car as they fight traffic and the clock. By the end of the century, they may have another choice: boarding an electric train oo First Avenue and alighting at Kennedy 37 minutes later. after stops at La Guardia Airport and Shea Stadium and a smooth ride over the rooftops of Queens - and jammed roadways.

After studying the concept for three decades, the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey is creating a rail line connecting midlown Manhattan with La Guardia and Kennedy airports.

The idea of a rail line that could whisk passengers from a Manhattao terminal to Kennedy has collapsed before in the face of political opposition or lack of funds. But now, officials say, they have the financial means to turn it into reality: a $3 fee on departing passengers approved to July by the Federal Aviation Administration as a designated source of revenue for the $2.6 billion plan.

The Port Authority has begun reviewing designs for trains and stations, and has mapped out o 20-mile route almost entirely along public rights of way. And the authority is preparing to hire consultants who will oversee $19 million in environmental, marketing and engineering studies to gain the Federal Aviation Agency's approval over the next three years.

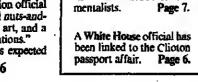

With the election of Bill Clinton, Port Authority officials believe their chances of gaining approval are better than ever. "I do think the president-elect will have a firm commitment to infrastructure developnent and mass transit." said Stanley Brezenoll, executive director of the Port Authority. "That can only be beneficial."

But there are critics. Airlines are unhappy that their passengers will be paying for the rail line. And some supporters question the route, arguing for a Manhattan connection at Pennsylvania Station or Grand Central Terminal

Port Authority officials say the rail system will help maintain Kennedy's status as the nation's busiest international airport by providing a reliable access alternative to gridlocked highways. Paris, London. Tokyo, Chicago and Washington all bave rail systems connecting downtown areas to airports.

The government could approve the plan in 1995 at the earliest; construction would start no sooner than 1996

About 90 percent of the approximately 150,000 passengers and employees who travel to La Guardia and Kennedy airports each day use buses, cars, taxis or limousines. Rush hour on the Van Wyck Expressway, a main route to Kennedy, lasts 14 hours a day, according to the city's Department of Transportation.

General News

Two Mogadishu warlords began to move weaponry out of the city. Page 6.

King Fahd warned Saudi extremist Muslim funda-

Page 18.

× Page 2

Pa

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1992

In a Serbian POW Compound, Echoes of Nazi Death Camps

WORLD BRIEFS

By Michael Getler

Washington Past Service MANJACA, Bosnia - The prison camp there sits alone on a mountaintop - a vast crater-like plain of snow, rock and mud. At the entrance, a gate topped with crude wooden letters spelling Manjaca swings out over a muddy ditch. It is cold and quiet, a long way from anyplace. Unspeakable things could happen here and nobody would know.

Outside, mine fields line the barbed-wire enclosure. Inside, 2,000 Slavic Muslim men huddle together against the cold in three huge, unheated cattle barns. Their Serbian captors call them prisoners of war, but virtually all are civilians swept from their villages, towns and families because they are Muslims and conceivably could bave resisted the Serbian terror tactic of "ethnic cleansing." They lie on thin straw mats and are covered by tattered blankets. At night, 11 few tiny oil pots provide the only light. The Bosnian Serbian commanders here are rather proud of their camp. The captives are not emaciated; they have clothing and get medical treatment from a Muslim physician who runs a small clinic here. They all will be released soon, the com-

"terrible conditions" for many months before international outrage over Serb-run camps like this one allowed the Red Cross to begin visits in August.

The scene inside the frigid harns, with the eyes of strong yet humiliated men turned toward each new visitor, evokes the concentration camp horrors of Nazi Ger-

Indeed, so much about the nightmare of killing, destruction and forced exile that has gripped millions of Bosnian Muslims and Croats since the Serbian onslaught began last spring fosters unavoidable im-ages of World War II: an extremist strongman in Serbia's president, Slobodan Milosevic; state-controlled media spreading fear of an Islamic horde seeking to subjugate Bosnian Serbs; the culture of victimization, some of it legitimate, that grips many Serbs mightily, and consuming nationalist hatreds.

NEWS ANALYSIS

"We have some of the most sophisticated savages in Europe here." said a United Nations official about what is happening in Bosnia and other former Yugoslav repubmanders tell visiting journalists. But the prisoners, in furtive snippets of conversa-tion when guards are at a distance, tell of much more guilty."

The sense here that the clock has been turned back a half-century is augmented by less dramatic hut unnerving violence elsewbere in post-Communist Eastern Europe: the neo-Nazi attacks on foreigners in Germany, anti-Semitic incidents in Hungaty and the rise in the number of skinhead assaults on foreigners. Jews and Gypsies elsewhere in the region.

But in Bosnia in particular it is clear that people are being brutalized and murdered simply because they are Muslims or Croats. The unchecked situation in the shattered republic presents democratic nations with a moral, military and political dilemma that has grave implications for stability in the post-Cold War world as nationalist politicians elsewhere absorb the lessons of the Balkans.

"We are in a crazy period of history in which the more eccentric forms of nationalism are on display," said a UN official from Britain. "But they must not be allowed to strut or go on forever."

Some here think it is already too late, that the Serbian land grab and destruction are too great, that Bosnia's Muslims and Croats will never be able to return to their homes - and that Serbs, Muslims and Croats will not be able to live together in those areas again. "The contradiction," said one frustrated conflict, "is that it is too late to do any- ed military role in the conflict by enforcing "But if you do nothing, it will grow," he lead to attacks on aircraft and airfields.

said, meaning more "ethnic cleansing" and a spreading war into neighboring Kosovo, Macedonia and beyond.

Nobody is prepared to launch a serious war for humanitarian purposes," he said. "Bosnia will be an example to other nation-

"We have had an unprecedented media denunciation of rape and all the horrors," There are obvious pitfalls to foreign mil-he continued. "Yet nobody has been able itary intervention of any kind, especially

"Absurd, sick, insane, grotesque, worse than any other war I've ever been caught up in," is the way another UN relief official described what she has witnessed here. "This is not a military war," she said.

"There are no targets. We're talking about eradicating. We did too little too slowly. But who was prepared for this? Nobody and it's getting worse." After months of consultation, compro-mise and hand-wringing the United States have given half-hearted political hacking."

By Peter Steinfels

New York Times Service NEW YORK - For decades, the Reverend William Sloane Coffin-Jr. was an outspoken critic of American military actions abroad. As chaplain at Yale University. then as pastor of the Riverside Church in New York City and fi-nally as the leader of a group pro-moting disarmament, he opposed the war in Vietnam, American support for the contras in Nicaragua, the invasions of Grenada and Panama, and the war in the Gulf.

"Moral isolation is simply not a defensible position for those op-posed to war," he said last week. "There is great anguish and confu-concerned with the ethical issues of warfare, there is a widespread reexamination of the morality of military intervention to deal with events like the "ethnic cleansing" Sweden's role as a neutral haven is long-standing. After World War II, more than 45,000 former con-starvation in Somalia.

500,000 people be discuss it.

A U.S. pacifist

UN refugee official from Spain who is and its North Atlantic Treaty Organization wary of foreign military intervention in the allies now seem determined to play a limita UN "no-fly" zone over Bosnia that could World sentiment is also building to end a UN embargo that prevents Bosnia's Muslim-led government from acquiring weap-ons to match the Serbs, but most Western leaders say they are still strongly opposed to the kind of large-scale military effort alists who will know that Europe cannot that could require tens of thousands of combat proops.

to stop this everyday, cumulative borror the threat of Serbian revenge attacks show. We have been completely unable to stop 'ethnic cleansing." the threat of Serbian revenge attacks against relief workers and UN protective troops in Bosnia and the likelihood that food deliveries that now keep thousands of civilians alive would be halted by escalating warfare. But there is growing opinion that military help for the outgunned Muslims could work - accompanied, however, by a sense that if the United States does not lead the effort nothing will happen.

"Unless America gets involved," a Britexpected it, planned for it. There is no ish official said, "don't sit on the edge of manual for it. This is a dangerous place, your chair waiting for the Europeans. They won't get involved here. They are looking

U.S. Pacifists Find Idea of Intervention Tough to Dismiss

tion, a group that embraces a vari-ety of pacifists, also opposes the Somali action.

But it also called for troops to be placed under command of the UN Security Council, stressed the role of the United States in arming Somalis during the Cold War and urged cooperation with groups such as clan elders rather than altempts to disarm lighting factions. Anne McCarthy, a Benedictine nun who is the pational coordinator for Pax Christi, met last week with refugees in Zagreb, Croatia. She said the conflicts in Somalia and in the former Yugoslavia were bringing new questions to the peace movement that we didn't

She lamented that large contingents of pacifists were not already well trained in nonviolence, non WETE ID But in the absence of such a force, she said, "the international community cannot let 500,000 peo-ple be wiped out while peace groups sit around and discuss it." roups an around and discuss it. No less caught up in the reasses-ment are the intellectuals — politi-cal analysis, theologians and ethi-cists — who regularly study questions of morality and war. Jean Bethke Elshtain, a political scientist at Vanderbilt University who has written on strong and who has written on women and war, said she thinks the occasions which intervention is justified in are "going to increase rather than decrease." She reported growing agreement among intellectuals on "certain minimal standards we

Honecker Ordered to Stay in Prison

BERLIN (Reuters) - The former East German leader, Erich Honecker, was ordered by a court Monday to remain in prison on manslaughter charges linked to the deaths of persons who were shot while attempting to flee across the border to the West during the Cold War.

A Berlin court rejected a motion by Mr. Honecker's lawyers to have the case dropped on grounds that the hard-line Communist, 80, was too il with liver cancer to survive a trial.

Judge Hansgeorg Brautigani told the courtroom that Mr. Honecker was lit enough to remain in Berlin's Moabit Prison for now, despite a medical report last week predicting that the cancer may kill him within six months. But the judge said Mr. Honecker would be examined again by court-appointed doctors in January and would remain under medica supervision in the prison hospital.

Minister of Yeltsin's Asks to Kesign

MOSCOW (Reuters) - Social Security Minister Ella Pamfilova has offered to leave the Russian government, the first cabinet member of former acting Prime Minister Yegor T. Guidar to ask to quit. Interfax news agency said Monday.

It said Miss Pamfilova, the only woman in Mr. Gaidar's cabinet, had writen to President Boris N. Yeltsin asking to be relieved. She gave no reasons for her request.

Collor Trial Figure Leaves Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Paulo César Farias, accused of heading up the corruption network likely to cost Fernando Collor de Mello his presidency, left Brazil on an unexpected trip. officials said Monday. The announcement of Mr. Farias's trip came on the eve of a Senate impeachment trial that will decide if Mr. Collor can return to his presidency or be barred from politics for eight years.

France Condemns the Khmer Rouge

PARIS (Combined Dispatches) - France condemned Cambodia's Khmer Rouge on Monday for a series of kidnappings of international peacekeepers and urged the United Nations to take firm action against the guerrilla group. A Foreign Ministry spokesman. Daniel Bernard, said: "France asks the Security Council to react with determination and firmness by implement-ing the measures in resolution 792 adopted on November 30." The resolution imposed economic sanctions on areas under Khmer Rouge control after the guerrilla group refused to participate in the peace (Reuters, AFP

Algeria Police Kill 8 in a Gunfight

ALGIERS (Reuters) - The Algerian government said Monday that ALOTEKS (Reuters) — The Algerian government said broadday that special forces had killed eight people, including six Muslim fundamental-ists, in a gunbattle in the town of Blida, near Algiers. The government said that some of those slain were responsible for having killed four police patrolmen and a senior police officer. It said that troops assaulting a house Sunday evening had been met with automatic fire and had been handicapped by the presence of women and children.

Kenyan's Foes Vow Election Boycott

NAJROBI (Reuters) — Kenya's three main opposition parties said Monday they may boycont multiparty elections Dec. 29 because of widespread irregularities in the electoral process.

It was the latest broadside in the opposition's war of words against what it says is manipulation of preparations for parliamentary and presidential elections by the Kenya African National Union Party of President Daniel arap Moi, who has been in power for 14 years.

About That CNN-IHT Poll

An article Monday about a poll of attitudes toward the European Community failed to say that the survey was co-sponsored by Cable News Network International. In addition to being reported on CNN International's news broadcasts beginning Dec. 28, the poll will be featured on the network's series. "Europe: An Uncertain Union." This can be seen Jan. 1 at 2030 GMT, Jan. 2 at 1300 GMT. Jan. 3 at 1730 GMT and Jan. 4 at 2230 GMT.

TRAVEL UPDATE

GRIEF IN SARAJEVO - A widow being carried by family members Monday in Sarajevo after her husband's burial.

Bosnia's War Takes Its Toll on Sweden

By Eugene Robinson Washington Post Service MALMO, Sweden - On the map, this hustling port in southern Sweden is more than 1,500 kilometers from the shelling, sniping and "ethnic cleansing" of what was once Yugoslavia. But Malmo reluctantly finds itself on the front line. battling_a crisis that officials in unmistakably, the climate has ers have charged that this cold changed.

gious motivations - the Bosnian "It's not like Germany, it's not organized activity," said Lennart Rohdin, undersecretary of state for refugees are Muslim, the Somalis are black. immigration and refugees. "But the reasons for the incidents are famillar. People are asking why all these Kenneth Clarke, in introducing a Officials deny these allegations. Yet the British home scoretary. refugees should come here when we tough new immigration bill, stated have a recession, when we have that "good race relations and a such high unemployment. The healthy sense of community de-shoulder has racial, ethnic or relirope and the former Soviet republics. What Europe needs to do is prepare for the next crisis."

centration camp inmates were admitted. In 1956 came refugees from the Hungarian uprising; in 1968, asylum-seekers from the Prague

Spring. In the 1970s, when the gen erals staged military coups

Today, despite misgivings, Mr. Coffin backs the presence of American forces in Somalia, and he is at least willing to contemplate mili-tary measures against Serhian forces in Bosnia.

sion. We are groping for some kind of legitimate police action on an international scale."

He is far from alone. Among pacifists and intellectuals most

Some of these people said that as the world reshapes itself in the

We cannot let

"Some pacifists feel that armed escort of food convoys is legiti-mate, just as most pacifists would say that police actions within a society are legitimate," said Doug Hostetter, the group's director. "What makes us so uncomfortable about this is that it is not truly international," he said, adding that there was "an element of skepticism about whether the food deliv'ery is the only goal." Pax Christi, a Catholic anti-war organization whose 12,000 mem-bers include about one-fifth of the country's Catholic bishops, reluc-tantly approved of the military intervention in Somalia.

deal with during the Cold War." "The New Jersey shore as most people know it isn't there any more," said Michael S. Bruno, director of the Davidson Laboratory at Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, New Jersey.

European nations have sought to ignore: Europe's higgest flood of refugees since World War

The fighting in the former Yugo-slavia has displaced more than 2 million people, many of whom are seeking to emigrate. European nations, in recent decades open-door havens for refugees from other parts of the world, are choking on the sudden influx.

With anti-foreigner sentiment rising across the Continent, and with officials worrying about the effect of unchecked immigration on their societies. Europe has he-gun to shut its doors.

Even in Sweden, a traditional refuge for the hounded and perse-cuted, what once was considered an absolute duty to accept refugees and asylum-seekers now is being questioned. With the economy stalled and unemployment rising to unprecedented levels, Sweden is changing the rules after already having agreed to shelter nearly 75.000 asylum-seekers.

Bosnians are still allowed into Sweden, no questions asked, but those fleeing other former Yugo-slav regions must have visas, which are all but impossible to get, Every day, people are being turned back. In recent months, Sweden has seen a string of sniper attacks against immigrants and several arson attempts directed at foreigners by groups of youths. Subtly, but moral barriers are being lowered, pend on an effective system of and the atmosphere is being created that allows people to commit acts of violence."

SEEN ON EVERY FLOOR OF

15 RUE DU FAUBOURG SAINT-HONORÉ

What Sweden, Germany and other countries that have taken a large share of refugees would like to do is persuade other countries to share the hurden. But meaningful waves of refugees.

help has not been forthcoming, and such countries as Britain are working to toughen immigration and asylum laws, not loosen them. Advocates for the asylum-seek-for Europe as poverty and strife in Africa, Southeast Asia and the former Soviet Union bring in new

"It's very difficult to develop policies to handle a crisis while the crisis is going on," Mr. Rohdin said. "It's too late for the Yugo-slavs, hut there's the potential for similar situations in Eastern Eu-

UN Relief Airlift to Sarajevo Resumes With U.K. Plane

The Associated Pres

SARAJEVO. Bosnia-Herzegovina - The UN airlift of relief supplies to the Bosnian capital resumed operation Monday with the arrival of a British plane.

It was the first flight to bring humanitarian supplies to Sarajevo since the airlift was suspended three weeks ago because of fighting around the airport. Alemka Lisinski, a spokeswoman in Zagreb for the UN High Commissioner for Refingers, said the British plane was to be followed by 11 others.

running water.

The resumption of the flights came as military representatives of Bosnia's Muslim-led government. Serbs and Croats continued daily meetings to discuss demilitarizing the city.

throughout Latin America, waves strict immigration control." of leftist activists came north seek-Some warn, however, that Yugo-slavia may be just a dress rehearsal wiped out while ing refuge. When Yugoslavia began to disin-tegrate, Swedish authorities reacted peace groups sit the way they always had: Let peo-ple in first, ask questions later. around and Sweden already was home to thousands of Yugoslavs from the Serbian province of Kosovo, who arrived in the 1970s and '80s seek-ing work. As fighting began last war in Croatis and sound to Ber wake of the Cold War, many more year in Croatia and spread to Bossuch conflicts are inevitable.

nia this year. more Kosovans began The Reverend J. Bryan Hehir, an to take advantage of their family contacts and head for Sweden. adviser to the American Catholic bishops on international affairs, The result was an influx that left said: "People are calling for rein-terpretations of the concepts of Swedish officials gasping. Beginning in March, the number of asyboth national sovereignty and nonlum seekers arriving in Sweden be-gan a sharp rise from its normal level of 3,000 a month. In July, intervention, saying that the way we've understood them for three more than 15,000 refugees turned up at Sweden's doorstep.

The refugee flood coincided with a string of worsening economic news, with unemployment climb-ing to about 5 percent, more than double the normal rate. Swedes were being asked by the new center-right government to contem-plate fundamental changes in the welfare-state model that had served so well for decades. With everyone else being asked to righten his belt, the idea of tens of thousands of refugees living off the state's largess became an irritation.

need to hold people to. "Things like 'ethnic cleansing' violate a minimum standard set by a rough-and-ready notion of fundamental human rights." In her seminars and discussions, she said, she finds that while some people are sympathetic, an equal nber are "stuck in what I would call a cynical mode." The cynics, she said, reason that "if the United States is going to intervene it must be because of chicanery - we want an air base or something in Somalia - an assumption deriving from the Viet-nam and Cold-War years that all our public reasons really cover a strategic or imperialist concern." Statley Hauerwas, a professor of Christian ethics at Duke University and one of the most articulate theorists of Christian pacifism, noted that "for me it is problematic that you have a standing army at all" and that he was "bothered by the military's use of this event to reinforce the presupposition that we need a big military." But he continued: "Having said that, it is essential to distinguish between a war and a police action. A police action means that there is a specified crime, the police go in to stop it using no more force than needed, and they do not serve as the judge and jury." Using the military to intervene in Somalia could be justified as a po-lice action, he said. But intervention in Bosnia would be an uncon-

Pei-tsun and his cabinet will resign other, more liberal prime minister after the ruling Kuomintang's poor performance in parliamentary elec-

the main opposition Democratic Progressive Party and some liberals in his own party to resign, indicated he was willing to quit but stopped short of saying he would definitely do so.

"Political stability is what matters," Mr. Hau. 73, said., "It does not matter if I am prime minister." He added. "I hope the country can continue to develop in a stable manner."

port of Kuomintang conservatives after the election setback, could re-Soong is "physically and emotion-ally fatigued and determined to resign," Mr. Chu said, nominate the prime minister.

Public anger at corruption bene-fited the opposition in Saturday's vote — the first general elections to the legislature since the Nationalists lost the Chinese civil war and fled to Taiwan in 1949. The opposition party more than doubled the number of its seats to 50 in the 161-seat parliament. The Kuomintang, while retaining a ma-jority with 102 seats, saw their

Others say Mr. Lee would take for approval by the legislature. The opposition asserts that Mr. Hau, a former military chief of staff, is trying to block democratic reforms.

share of the popular vote plunge to its lowest level ever. James Soong, the party's secre-tary-general, and Wang Shu-ching, its top election strategist, have offered to resign to take responsibility for the election showing.

manner." Some analysts say that Mr. Hau's resignation might be a for-mality. They say President Lee Teng-hui, seeking to retain the sup-treng-hui seeking to retain the sup-tre tions, the deputy prime minister, Shih Chi-yang, said Mooday. Mr. Shih, speaking after the Nationalists' worst election setback in four decades on Saturday, said the resignations were certain but not the date. Mr. Hau, under pressure from

Agrees to Resign TAIPEI - Prime Minister Hau the opportunity to nominate an-

Philippine Airlines will suspend domestic operations on Christmas Day and New Year's Day to observe the holidays. The airline said domestic service would halt from midnight of Dec. 24 and Dec. 31 to midnight of Dec. 25 and Jan. 1. Except for suspension of flights to the United States on Dec. 25, international service remains uninterrupted. Aircraft maintenance workers in Beljing, upset over pay and conditions, are causing delays at the Capital International Airport by staging work slowdowns, a Chinese newspaper reported. (AFP) inter storms, experts said.

slowdowns, a Chinese newspaper reported. (AFP) Air France expects to maintain normal service Wednesday despite a planned half-day strike by ground staff that morning, a spokesman for the airline said Monday. (Reuters)

(AP

A section of the Trans-Siberian Railroad has been closed after a coal train skidded off the rails near Chita, in eastern Russia, the government said Monday. It was not clear when the railroad would reopen. (Reuters)

Taiwanese Cabinet

A Hot Line for EC Border Red Tape BRUSSELS (Reuters) - An advocacy group said Monday that it was setting up a hot line for citizen complaints about red tape at internal European Community borders next month, after controls are supposed to be removed. The Euro Citizen Action Service will also collect written complaints and prepare a report for the EC Commission. The number, in operation from Jan. 4-8, is 32-2-534-8325.

Although Community governments pledged to create "an area without internal frontiers" by Jan. 1, Britain now says it will keep passport checks to control immigration and crime.

Storm Ravaged East U.S. Beaches NEW YORK (NYT) — The four-day slorm that clawed the New Jersey and Long Island coasts and swept away millions of cubie yards of sand from beaches in the worst flooding in 30 years there left the already precarious beaches exposed to dangerous new flooding from even average centuries is not adequate. Next semester, Father Hehir, a faculty associate at Harvard's Center for International Affairs and a professor at Harvard Divinity hool, will teach a course titled "The Use of Force: Political and Moral Criteria." Not long ago, many divinity students would have dismissed the listing as a contradiotion in terms. And just this month, before the announcement of plans to send American troops to Somalia, leaders of major Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Muslim groups issued a rare joint statement calling for firmer American action in both

Bosnia and Somalia. The United States "is not police-man to the world," the groups ao-knowledged, "but the mass murder of innocents is unacceptable." The United States, the statement read, should act "in concert with other nations where possible, alone where necessary.

Such views are not unanimous. The American Friends Service Committee and the Friends Committee on National Legislation, two independent Quaker organizations, have opposed the Somali action. Kara Newell executive secretary of the service committee, called itsposition "consistent with the long-standing Quaker belief that military force never solves problems."

Baccarat CRYSTAL. THEN Now FOREVER Penguin

PARIS - 42.65.36.26

PARIS - 47,70,64,30

Sarajevo, which has been besieged for more than eight months, is suffering through the beginning of winter with no heat, electricity or

TRANSITION / A FINAL WEEK OF APPOINTMENT

A Woman as Energy Secretary, an Old Friend for Education

eral.

By Paul F. Horvitz onal Herald Tribune WASHINGTON - President- of education.

FS

Prison

A SOL A SET Encl. A SET Encl.

An An Angel

Resign

n 434 10

in a Strat

'srazi]

an sun p er Roug

∼ Cane

11576 2 0000 -

France

nlight

12

- 3e. 3 - 2 -

1.07 - N.a.

1 Bureat

5

• 2

-----

रत्त्व कि

1.1

. . . .

hine

gn

rachei

elect Bill Clinton on Monday nominated a Midwest utility executive. Hazel R. O'Leary, to be energy secretary, and picked an old friend,

A REAL PROPERTY AND A REAL

major women's organizations seek-Both are lawyers, the fourth and fifth of the eight cabinet posts Mr. Mrs. O'Leary, 55, is the second Clinton has filled. The selections, announced in the list of cabinet nominees.

Bill Clinton mingling with Christmas carolers outside the governor's mansion in Arkansas

Away From Politics

• C. Jack Dowden - a former blood-testing company sales manager whose suspicions resulted in a guilty plea by a rival concern, National Health, to charges of submitting false claims to govern-ment health insurance programs — stands to gain at least $15 million of the $115 million government settlement under a federal whistleblower law.

• A barge bit a ledge outside the harbor in New London. Connecticut, on Monday, spilling about 3,000 gallons of heating oil, Coast Guard officials said. They said it was too early to say how much of a threat the spill posed to the environment. There were no injuries. • A man wanted for a killing in Missouri shot himself in the head after be was surrounded by police alerted to his whereabouts from the TV series "America's Most Wanted." The FBI bad been hunting James Henry Hampton in the murder of a 58-year-old St. Louis woman. Hospital officials said Mr. Hampton was in guarded condi-

. Members of the Ku Klux Klan, armed with a city permit, put up a cross in downtown Cincinnati near a Jewish menorah, but despite police barricades a man pulled it down about four hours later. Several bundred people had turned out a day earlier to protest the plans for the Klan cross, saying it was fivisive and the symbol of a racist organization. The man who pulled the cross down was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

• The Mormon Church has started to excommunicate many of its ultraconservative followers in what some experts on the church describe as an attempt to do away with extremists. Their talk of conspiracies and impending world ruin are believed not to coincide with a faith eager to enhance its standing in the American main-

• The National Law Journal, a legal newspaper, has chosen Justice

former Governor Richard W. Riley Little Rock, the Arkansas capital, of South Carolina, to be secretary of education, major women's organizations seek-ton is expected soon to name the degree from Rutgers, the state unination's first female attorney gen- versity of New Jersey. She worked as a prosecutor in New Jersey be-

Mrs. O'Leary is a former Energy fore joining the U.S. Cost of Living Department lawyer who is an exco- Council under President Richard utive with Northern States Power Nixon. Company, an electric and gas utility based in Minneapolis that serves eral Energy Administration, the 1.6 million customers in Minneso- Community Services Administrata, Wisconsin and the Dakotas. She tion and the Department of Energy was recently assigned to head the under Presidents Gerald R. Ford utility's gas division after serving as and Jimmy Carter. Before joining Northern States's executive vice Northern States in 1989, she was a private energy consultant.

nresident. The naming of Mrs. O'Leary aded speculation that the job ended would go to Senstor Timothy E. Wirth, Democrat of Colorado, and weeks of behind-the-scenes jockeying by Mr. Wirth's opponents, many of them Republicans. They vowed a brutal confirmation hearing that would cite Mr. Wirth's ties to the savings and loan and cable television industries. Mr. Clinton said that at North-mentor. an States, Mrs. Leary had been a "spark plug" for energy reform and was an "energy expert with hands-on experience in both business and

Referring to her mandate to re-duce the nation's dependency on imported oil, Mrs. Leary said, speaking of the situation 20 years ago: "We're no better off, in terms of membrane hash form that form of stepping back from that foreign barrel of oil." "That's unconscionable," she aller of a scale of a scale of a scale of the scale of th

"were in many ways the envy of the nation," Mr. Clinton said. added. Mrs. O'Leary was graduated ident-elect said, Mr. Riley "can spread the word about what works and what doesn't."

Mr. Riley vowed to "reduce frag-mentation that plagues education" but said "there's no magie bullet out there" to solve education prob-She later held jobs with the Fed-

He is viewed as an expert on issues ranging from infant mortal-ity to nuclear waste disposal.

He was educated at Furman University and received his law degree from the University of South Carolina. He later worked as coun-sel to the U.S. Senate Judiciary Mr. Riley, 59, a Democrat, served as governor of South Caroli-na from 1979 to 1987. He became a called upon by Mr. Clinton as per-Committee. He practiced law pri-vately in recent years before being close friend of Mr. Clinton's as a sonnel director for subcabinet jobs fellow Southern governor, while during the presidential transition. the two worked on a variety of Until Monday, the only female Clinton cabinet official was Donna regional and national education panels and in the reform-minded E. Shalala at the Department of Democratic Leadership Council. Health and Human Services. Mr. Referring to their early years as governors, Mr. Clinton called Mr. Clinton has appointed women to the noncabinet jobs of chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, Riley "my partner and often my deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget and bead of the Environmental Protection Like Mr. Clinton, Mr. Riley succeeded in raising state taxes to fi-nance improvements in education. Agency.

A study by the Rand Corp. later praised the South Carolina re-There could be another black cabinet official if Mr. Clinton, as forms, but Mr. Riley did not re-ceive as many headlines for his iniexpected, selects Representative A. Michael Espy of Mississippi as secliatives as Mr. Clinton did for Another black woman, Dr. Joy-celyn Elders, the highest bealth of-ficial in Arkansas, is expected to education changes in Arkansas. Mr. Clinton called Mr. Riley a "nationally recognized leader of education" and said he was "great become the U.S. surgeon general. The appointments left Mr. Clinat working with all kinds of peoton with six cabinet slots to fill,

Mr. Riley's reforms as governor which he plans to do this week. The unfilled jobs are at the departments of Interior, State, Defense, Trans-As education secretary, the pres- portation, Agriculture and Justice.

★ POLITICAL NOTES★

Clinton Snaps Back at the 'Bean Counters'

LITTLE ROCK. Arkansas - President-elect Bill Clinton showed a rare flash of public anger Monday when asked at his news conference about criticism from women's groups whose members are pressing him to name additional female cahinet members. "They've been playing quota games and math games," Mr. Clin-ton said angrily. He noted that he had named women to head the Environmental Protection Agency and the Council of Economic Advisers, both subcabinet posts. The "bean counters" among women's groups, he said, were not giving him full credit for his efforts to give women a greater voice in his administration.

The presence, or lack, of women in his cabinet bas become Mr. Clinton's main concern, aides said. Until his appointment Monday of Hazel R. O'Leary as energy secretary, he had appointed only one woman to a cabinet-level post.

Aides say Mr. Clinton has finally settled on a choice for attorney general, the highest-profile post that is considered likely to be given to a woman. Two women who had been mentioned as finalists for the job - Judge Patricia M. Wald of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia and Judge Judith S. Kaye of the New York State Court of Appeals - have since fallen out of contention.

That leaves three women on the list: Judge Amalya Kearse of the the 2d U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Manhattan; Brooksley E. Born, a partner in the Washington law firm of Arnold & Porter, and Born, a partner in the washington taw that is a state of the state of Los Angeles.

Nominees' Opponents Don't Have Much Time

WASHINGTON — If the Senate Republican leader, Bob Dole of Kansas, and Senator Trent Lott, Republican of Mississippi, intend to make good on their pledge to rough up some of Bill Clinton's cabinet choices, they had better move quickly. Mr. Clinton's transition people are already working with Senate leaders to see if they can-get all top nominees through hearings before they are formally minated. That way, Mr. Clinton can send the names up on Jan. 21 and nominees can be confirmed quickly by voice vote. (WP)

Quote/Unquote:

Richard W. Riley, Mr. Clinton's nominee for education secretary: "There is no magic bullet to solve our education problems. We need to continue our effort... to bring about fundamental change bull to do it in a positive way." (IHT)

If you want to reach the main cities in Japan, the quickest way is often through Seoul.

overnment" "Of all the people I considered for this position 1 thought she had the best mix of experience," he said

Page 3

"Lawyer of the Year," saying she bas assembled "a new center on the COURT

• A landmark report commissioned by Congress to help shape the debate over how to revamp the U.S. armed forces says that the army will have to rely more on combat units from the National Guard and reserve in coming years. It calls for integrating both more fully with (NYT. AP. LAT) active-duty forces.

$50 Million Gift To U.S. College

New York Times Service WASHINGTON - A Baltimore philanthropist has given the Johns Hopkins University School of Arts and Sciences $50 million, the largest monetary gift in univer-sity history and one of the largest in American higher education.

The benefactor. Zanvyl Krieger, a 1928 alumnus, said he bad chosen the school because arts and sciences was an area philanthropists had neglected.

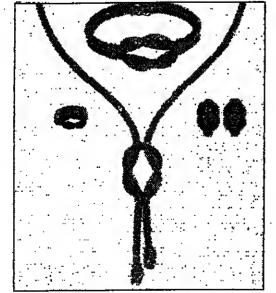

Only five larger gifts are known to have been made to an institution of higher education: $105 million in 1979 to Emory University; $100 million in 1992 to Glassboro State College, renamed Rowan College of New Jersey in bonor of the do-nors: $70 million in 1986 to Stan-ford University; $56.25 million in 1986 to the University of Miami; and $51.4 million in 1991 to the University of Houston.

BEAU-RIVAGE PALACE 1006 Lausanne - Switzerland Tel. 4121 617 17 17 Fax 4121 617 78 76 The Jeading Hours of the World

HAUTE CUISINE

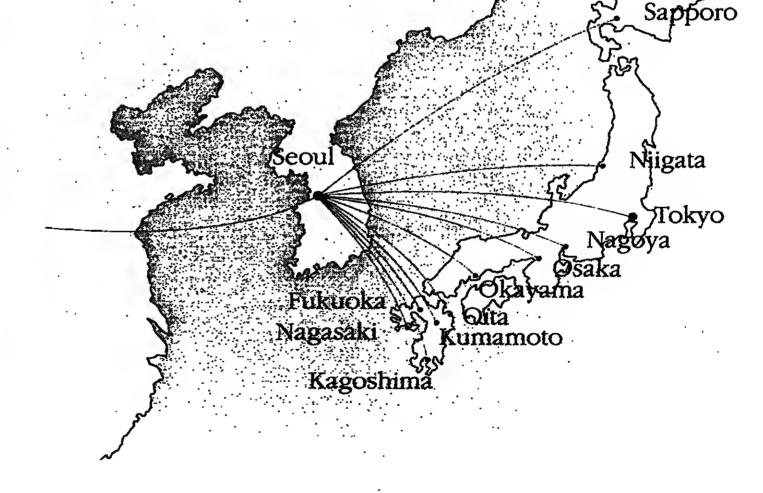

HAUTE ELEGANCE

Golden Wishes for Christmas

PARIS: 364 , rue st. Honoré Tel.: 42815565 GENEVA: 23, rue du Rhône Tel.: 7812163 ATHENS: 6, Panepistimiou & Voukourestiou str. NEW YORK - ZUR ICH - LONDON - TOKYO - HONG-KONG

Korean Air offers 12 non-stop flights between Europe and Korea every week. More than any other airline. Avoiding the Tokyo-Narita crush, it's really a faster and certainly more pleasant way to fly via Seoul to any of Japan's eleven major cities. Time saved means more serenity. To travel aboard the Boeing 747-400, the world's most modern long haul jet, on one of the largest Asian airlines, is very relaxing and contributes to your serenity.

12

I.

KGREAN AIR

Pa

-

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1992

OPINION

Herald Eribune,

Europe Is Slowing Down

Europe is in trouble. The governments of the big countries, all weakened by domestic political setbacks, oow confront economic stagnation as well. Unemployment in the industrial countries of Western Europe is a third higher than in the United States, and it is likely to go higher still next year. All of the big countries' governments are committed, in one degree or another, to push the European Community to an unprecedented level of union. A year ago, when the politi-cians signed on to the idea, they expected it to be broadly popular. Since then they have discovered that their voters are conspicuously lukewarm and ambivalent.

The sudden rise in friction among the Europeans and the loss of momentum in their economy is having an impact in America. It is going to be harder for a while to negotiate cooperation in business that ought to be of great interest on both sides of the Atlantic - and harder to lift the American economic recovery with exports eastward.

Europe is working out its new, post-Soviet sense of direction in an unexpectedly fierce debate over the European Communi ty. The 12 member countries had agreed to the themselves much more tightly together, bringing themselves the political and diplomatic power commensurate with their enormous economic weight. The plan calls for a common currency and, beyond that, common foreign policy and security policy. But since last spring that glowing prospect has become less certain. Europeans have uneas-ily begun to wonder exactly who is going to run this new powerhouse. The early indications have not reassured them.

One question is whether the common currency will mean domination by German monetary policy, which is now holding in-terest rates throughout Europe so high that they are drawing remonstrances even from the cautious and soft-spoken International Monetary Fund. Another wedge within the Enropean Community is the world trade negotiations, in which the French are furiously fighting curbs on farm subsidies and threatening to block a final settlement that most of the rest of Europe wants badly. And then there is the gruesome civil war in what used to be Yugoslavia. The inability of the 12 to come to any agreement regarding Bosnia suggests that, regardless of plans and treaties, in reality the European Community is still a long way from a common foreign policy. The next long step toward greater European unity and prosperity no longer looks quite as simple as it did a year ago. - THE WASHINGTON POST.

Watch Kenya's Elections

vote in their first competitive elections in 26 years. But the timing and the rules have been manipulated to benefit Kenya's high-handed president. Daniel arap Moi. The rules are loaded against opposition parties. The tim-ing — in the midst of bolidays and America's presidential transition — seems designed to minimize scrutiny and possible protests.

That Mr. Moi has allowed even the semblance of a free election owes much to insistent pressure from Kenya's aid donors, notably the United States. Grudgingly, he agreed a year ago to legalize opposition parties and call presidential and legislative elections, After monopolizing power for 14 years, the president will finally face accountability for his regime's corruption and its often brutal harassment of press critics and political opponents.

Electoral progress has been rocky. At

On Dec. 29, if all goes well, Kenyans will first no date was set for a vote. Then Dec. 7 was chosen, only to be changed. An elector-al commission was formed, but packed with Mr. Moi's cronies. Opposition parties are denied access to state-managed broadcasts; police disrupt their rallies. Foreign monitors say that as many as a million voters failed to get identity cards, and could not register. Rules for choosing a presi-dent were altered to favor the incumbent. Rules for nominating candidates were "mis-takenly" reworded to shorten deadlines, demoralizing a badly divided opposition. The massive U.S.-led international rescue operation in neighboring Somalia has given a gratuitous assist to Mr. Moi by dominating regional news. Nonetheless, having encour-aged Kenya's first real election in decades. Americans have particular reason to look hard and carefully at its conduct.

- THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Checkmate in Belgrade

The indictment of Bohby Fischer on charges of breaking the U.S. economic sanctions against Yugoslavia bas, unfortunately, very little to do with chess. It would be much preferable for all concerned if it did - if the salient factor of the situation were Mr. Fischer's still-thrilling prowess at the chessboard. But what is going on in the former Yugoslavia is no game. Much as Mr. Fischer has expressed coatempt for the fact, an actual war is what is being waged by Belgrade's reckless and outlaw government, and Mr. Fischer's eagerness to cooperate with that government in staging the financial and public relations bonanza of his into further levels of unheard-of atrocity and casualties. That, after all, is part of what happened in the case of Ezra Pound, being cited as a partial parallel to this one, in which the poet escaped prosecution and conceivably execution for treasonable pro-Fascist broadcasts from Italy only because he was diagnosed as mad and confined. Public sentimentran particularly high against the poet in the immediate aftermath of World War II as the truth about Nazi genocide emerged. But just as the Fischer case is not about chess, even less is it about eccentricity or madness. That he is a famed eccentric and conspiracy theorist who talks Cold War dog-

It's Time to Scrap the Myth of the German 'Volk'

The Recent assaults by young Ger-mans on foreigners do not mark the revival of Nazism. History never re-peats itself exactly, and most of the factors that shaped Hitler's move-ment — batred of the Versailles Trea-ty, fear of Bolshevism, runaway inflajoined in to produce today's nationwide wave of murderous violence. At the root of all these manifestanons of xenopbobic nationalism lies a myth that served as one ingredient

The great majority of Germans, including their political and cultural leaders, have learned that the myth of ethnic national identity is a lethal drug.

tion, the Great Depression, wide-spread rejection of democracy — are missing. What we see now is a new form of xenophobic nationalism, colored by current circumstances.

The wave of assaults was triggered by communism's demise in Eastern Germany, Even before the Berlin Wall fell in 1989, Marxist ideology bad lost its appeal for much of the younger generation there. Some formed covert youth gangs and ex-pressed their rebelliousness by shav-ing their beads and wearing provocative attire.

ative attire. Rejection of Communist inter-nationalism made Nazism's byper-nationalism seem attractive for many. Having learned little about its real history in Communist schools, they invented a romanticized version of it. One gang idolized the stereotyp-ical Nazi villan in a novel promoted by the Communist resime.

by the Communist regime. Still more Eastern youths became disoriented when reunification failed produce prosperity, leaving them thout jobs or future prospects. Frustration turned to aggression when they saw their new government bestowing hospitality on hundreds of thousands of foreigners entering Germany through its now porous castern borders to request refuge under its generous guarantee of asylum for po-litically persecuted persons. As revealed by recent violent attacks on foreigners in Western Ger-many, bomicidal xenophobic na-tionalism exists even where democracy has prevailed for more than four decades. There the assaults have been directed not only at asylum seekers but also at resident, taxpaying "guest workers" who were invited to Germany to replenish an insufficient work force. These attacks seem in large measure to emanate from extreme rightist organizations previously regarded as minuscule fringe phenomena with no appreciable following. Now, emboldened by the assaults on foreigners in the East, their members and sympa-thizers — mainly young men — have

By Henry A. Turner

of Nazism but whose origins anteidentity requires denial of historical reality. That country bas been a crossroads and melting pot through-out its past. Over the centuries it has absorbed large numbers of immigrants — Protestant Huguenots flee-ing persecution in France, Dutch set-tlers willing to drain swamps, and Poles willing to mine coal, Without date that movement: the myth of ethnic national identity, According to it, being a German is a matter of ancestry: One can become a Ger-man only by being born one. No one else can belong to the Volk — a word usually translated in to Englisb as the millions of guest workers endeed to the Federal Republic after World War II from Greece, Italy, Spain and "people" but which also connotes ethnic bomogeneity. In the eyes of those daped by this War II from Greece, Italy, Spain and Turkey, the economic miracle of which Germans are justly proud could not have taken place. If today's more than 5 million resident foreigners were sent away, the economy would be severely dis-rupted. Still more will be needed in the future, as the German birthrate-is now so low that neither the econo-my nor the elaborate welfare state my nor the elaborate welfare state that draws on it can function at present levels without additional manpower from abroad.

Europe's North Needs to Be Courted

any blandishments. It is a coalition of strange bedfellows: rightist national-ists, leftist intellectuals, farmers and Greens. Each group has its own reasons for opposing the Community. What they share is a passionate com-

In contrast, supporters of member-ship are motivated less by any great enthusiasm for the Community than by the fear of being left out. As long as the Community appeared to be a success, the alternative to joining seemed to many to lead to the mar ginalization of their country. But after all the turmoil in recent months will be influenced less by the terms of accession than by the future course of the European economy. Experience has shown that integration advances with prosperity and is slowed by re-cession. The Maastricht treaty was vinion in the applicant countries mitment to their causes.

they are no longer so sure.

HELSINKI -- The decision at the speed up the enlargement of the Eu-

Fortunately, the great majority of Germans, including their political and cultural leaders, have learned that the myth of ethnic national iden-tity is a lethal drug. This was revealed by a beartening aspect of German reunification that went largely unnoticed in the American press: the vir-nual absence among the political and cultural leaders of the nationalistic such developments.

Their unwavering support for Eu-ropean integration, which entails sur-render of a large measure of national sovereignty, further attests to this. It is now up to those Germans who know better to enlighten com-patriots still in the grips of a myth that has contributed to great mistortunes for their country. They might start by recasting naturalization laws derived in large measure from that myth, which make it exceeding-ly difficult for resident "foreigners" become citizens.

citizens of the Federal Republic" rather than, as at present, in terms of a "German Volk."

The writer, who leaches history at Yale, is author of "Germany From Par-tition to Reunification." He contributed this comment to The Washington Post.

Rabin and his cabinet take this fateful step? Why, especially, a government that is left of center and includes a significant oumber of doves who have criticized right-wing governments in the past for deporting Palestinians? Political survival is the reason. The Hamas killings had terrified and outraged Israelis. Worst of all was the murder of the border policeman, Sergeant Major Nissim Toledano, wbo was kidnapped inside Israel proper, not in the occupied ter-ritories. The government understandto be seen whether the steps to stimu-late the economy envisaged in Edin-burgh will have the desired effect in time to turn opinion round. ably felt it had to do something. "Rabin acted quickly in self-de-fense of his government," said Yaron The debate on the membership issue is not, however, only about ecocomics. A comparison of opinion polls in Finland, Norway and Swe-Ezrahi, an Israeli political scientist now visiting at Princeton. "He has den is revealing. In Norway and Swebegun to educate the Israeli public in ... den, support for membership has fall-en below 30 percent, while more than moves that would require fateful territorial concessions, especially on the Syrian front. And be knows be can-40 percent are opposed. But in Finland, supporters retain a narrow lead: 43 percent for and 41 against. not do that without an enhanced sense of security." Professor Ezrahi is a supporter of ... with 16 percent undecided. The reason for the difference apnegotiation and compromise with the, pears to be that Finnish opinion is Arabs. But he said that in this situamore influenced by security concerns. Norway has NATO, Sweden has Fintion the government's choice among, evils — the choice of deportation and. But Finland faces Russia along a was better than possible alternatives, 1,200 kilometer (750 mile) border such as relaxing the rules on when the deepest welfare gap in Europe to-day. Many Finns would feel more sesoldiers patrolling in the occupied territorics may fire. cure inside the Community. A very different view was ex-The geopolitical situation in the pressed by a founder of the Peace. Northern region has changed funda-mentally. During the Cold War, the military forces of East and West con-Now movement, Tsali Resbef. "It was a crucial mistake. We all agree that we have to fight the horror of frouted each other in Central Europe Hamas. But this will not belp. It will while the Nordic countries kept rather help Hamas in its battle with, the PLO for Palestinian leadership. aloof. The balance of power enabled Finland and Sweden to pursue a poli-"And mass deportation payes the cy of neutrality, while Norway and Denmark refused to allow NATO troops or nuclear weapons to he staway for a future government of Israel. a right-wing government, to use the, precedent and take it further, to mass tioned on their territories. transfer. If you can transfer 400 people Today, Western Europe is separat-ed from Russia by a wide belt of without a trial, without evidence, without even a claim that they are terror-ists, why not 4,000, or 40,000? It is a independent buffer states. The only point of direct contact between Rusblack day for my country." The events of the last week could sia and the West is in the North. This will open up important new opportu-nities, provided that Russia achieves well hing uearer the return of a right-wing Istaeli government led by Li-kud. Hamas is in an ironic sense an ally of Likud. arousing the fears that political stability and economic progress. But it poses new risks in case Russian nationalism asserts itself. turn Israeli voters to the right. The accession of Finland, Norway and Sweden will thus add a new If anything is to be saved from ; this disaster — if peace is to have a chance — there will have to be fresh dimension to the European Community, with implications that go beaction from Washington. On this as youd the present preoccupation on so many other issues, the world waits for Bill Clinton. with economic problems. International Herald Tribune. The New York Times.

relatively recent invention, having attained widespread acceptance only during the second half of the previous century. Prior to that, German na-tional identity was defined mainly in terms of a shared culture, as is still the case in France. And culture, unlike ethnicity, can be acquired. Belief in a German ethnic national eupboria that usually accompanies have been dominant, unlike the more fundamentalist Gaza Strip. A young man in Ramallah said: "If the Pales-They might also consider refram-ing their constitution in terms of tinian delegation returns to the table without a return of the deportees, they will lose all popular support." Why did Prime Minister Yitzhak

Rabin and his cabinet take this fateful

Terrorists

Put Peace

In Doubt

By Anthony Lewis

BOSTON -- The Palestinian Is-lamic movement Hamas had -clear political objectives when its ter---rorists murdered four Israeli soldiers and a border policeman in recent days. It aimed to disrupt the Middle East peace negonations and to enhance its own standing among Pales-tinians in the occupied territories. It has achieved those objectives. That is the bitter truth to be faced to deport some 400 suspected Hamas

members. The politics of extremism has won a significant victory. The huge mass deportation : brought protests from the United States, the United Nations and bu-man rights defenders of all kinds. It a led Arah delegations to walk out on the last day of the current round of peace talks in Washington.

The Israeli government expected those protests. It has had them before when it deported Palestinians - a total of 66 people expelled from -1967 to last week - and expects the denunciations to fade after a time.

But this time the problem is much

The mainstream Palestinians who ; make up the delegation negotiating in Washington have been put between a rock and a hard place. If they come -back to the table after a month or , two, Hamas will accuse them of forsaking the 400 deportees. And if the

If anything is to be saved from this disaster, there action from Washington.

delegation refuses to resume negotiations, it will effectively be ceding.

leadership to Hamas. Hamas has already gained new support because of the deportations.

So Joel Greenberg of The New York Times found in the West Bank, where political moderation and secularism will have to be fresh more difficult.

after the Israeli government's decision 📊 💈

chess match can almost certainly be said to have eased the isolation and the financial crunch in which the international community has been trying to squeeze the Serbs.

It is against that backgrouod that a federal grand jury handed up an indictment last Tuesday against Mr. Fischer for violating U.S. sanctions - an "economic crime" that officials admitted will probably not meet criteria for extradition but that nonetheless could carry substantial penalties. Mr. Fischer has the option of staying in Yugoslavia or of finding some third country that will grant him asylum. He won his $5 million match with Boris Spassky and is now rich (the maximum U.S. fine, the government estimates, is $250,000), but if he returns to the United States and is convicted he could also be imprisoned for up to 10 years.

You have to wonder, too, what kind of bitterness and disgust he might face some, years hence if the Yugoslav war continues ma and anti-Semitism, not to mention spit ting on U.S. documents in news conferences does not change the fact that he had the forethought to request a written opinion from the Treasury Department on whether the match was legal. R. Richard Newcomb, Treasury's director of foreign assets control, notes that Mr. Fischer simply made a decision to ignore the response: that be would be prosecuted for "trading with the enemy." But if the sanctions in this case failed to deter Mr. Fischer, they remain the only current tool for deterring the sanctions-busting by other nations that fuels this vicious Balkan war. If America is serious about those sanctions, it is entirely justified in taking action against the person who has most visihly flouted them. Other world-famous chess players have expressed interest in matching skills with him in future. On the same grounds, they might want to think twice.

- THE WASHINGTON POST.

Bankers Still Need Rules

Apply for a loan new, and you'll automatically be entered in our free loan giveaway. You could win a FREE LOAN - borrow up to SIS.000 and NEVER pay it back! Dear Mr. Clinton:

Think about this ad placed by a large Wichita, Kansas, bank in local newspapers. The hank put up a pot of gold worth $15,000 to lure would-be borrowers. Apparently this bank was perfectly willing to lend more money, hut couldn't find many takers during these recessionary times.

The bank's discovery does not square with some of the statements made at last week's Little Rock economic conference. Bankers promised to pump billions of dollars of new loans into the economy if only you would ease the amount of reserves that banks are required to hold and waive other costiv regulations. The new loans, they argued, would jump-start the sluggish economy — and not cost Congress a dime. The proposition sounded wondrous — and it certainly grabbed your imagination. But, as the ad suggests, bank deregulation is no magic clixir.

To see why, recall the elegant testimony provided by Robert Solow and James Tobin. These economists showed that the current high unemployment rate is caused by too little spending. The answer is to stimu-late the economy with temporary spending hikes and tax cuts. As long as consumers aren't buying very much, they won't want to borrow very much. Neither will businesses who aren't selling very much. So giving banks more incentive to lend won't accomptish very much. That said, there is reason for your administration to review bank regulations passed by Congress last year. Some are wasteful, some even absurd. For example, it took more than 250 pages to translate congressional will into regulations governing how banks would be allowed to advertise interest rates on deposits. And there wasn't much of a problem to begin with. There is also reason, as Federal Reserve Board Vice Chairman David Mullins pointed out last week, to believe that regulations are unnecessarily steering banks away from small-business loans.

Carefully pruting regulations to make financial markets work better makes a lot of sense. But hasty deregulation for the purpose of manipulating the unemploy-ment rate is foolhardy. If your administration tries, it will risk replaying the savings and loan debacle.

-THE NEW YORK TIMES.

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE KATHARINE GRAHAM. ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER LEE W. HUEBNER, Publisher JOHN VINOCUR, Exercitive Editor + WALTER WELLS, News Editor + SAMUEL ABT, KATHERINE KNORR ROBERT J. DONAHUE Editor of the Education Pages • REGINALD DALE, Economic and Financial Editor

RENÉ BONDY, Deputy Publisher • RICHARD H. MORGAN, Associate Publisher

JUANITA L CASPARI, International Adventising Director • ROBERT FARRE, Circulation Director, Europe International Herald Tribune, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Gaulie, 92521 Neuilly-sur-Scine, France. Tel.: (1) 46.37.93.00. Telex : Circulation, 612832; Production, 630698. Directar de la Publication : Richard D. Simmons Chairman from 1958 to 1982 : John Hay Whitney

Editore for Asia: Michael Richardson, 5 Conterbury Rd. Singapore (0511, Tel. 472-7768, Tix RS56928 Mng, Dir. Asia, Rolf D. Krunepuhl, 50 Gloucester Rd., Hong Kong, Tel. 86/0616, Telez: 61/70 Mng, Dir. U.K., Garry Thurne, 63 Long Acre, London WCZ, Tel. R36-4802, Telez: 262009 Gen. Mgr. Germany, W. Lusterbach, Friedrichstr. 15, 1000 FnotlfareM, Tel (169) 75575, Th. 416721 Pres.US: Michael Course, 850 Third Are., New York, N.Y. 1022, Tel (212) 752-8890, Telex 427175 S.A. au capital de 1,200.000 F. RCS Nanterre B 732021130, Commission Puritaire No. 61337 (C-1992, International Hendel Tribute: All rights overveel. ISNN: 1024-8152. HEALER OF

ropean Community implies a subtle shift in attitude toward the countries that have applied for membership ---Austria, Finland, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

myth, the presence of other sorts of people is a peril to that purity of the Volk which alone can ensure a na-

This notion is not a peculiarly German phenomenon. Essentially the same idea is wreaking havoc in

In the German case, the myth is a tional life.

former Yugoslavia.

Previously, the Community — or, more precisely, the EC Commission — took the view that the applicants must prove themselves worthy of membership, and if they failed to pass the test the loss would be solely theirs. Now the Community bopes that a success-ful enlargement will not only bring Denmark back into the fold but revitalize the Community. The EC thus has a strong interest in negotiating terms of accession palatable to skeptical voters in the applicant nation This will be a tough task. It has been made even more complicated by the dispensation granted to Denmark. It will not be easy to persuade voters in other Nordic countries that they must accept conditions more stringent than those applying to a member state. launched at the wrong turn of the tide. To lift it afloat the Community The hard core of the opposition to must be able to inspire public confimembership will not be converted by dence in economic growth. It remains

Clinton Is Mostly Just Playing It Safe

The leaked intention of nominat-

Will the Senate's prim Tower drag sex practice or preference into the confirmation hearings will get a zap from us partisans of privacy,

but at least a couple of the newcomers can expect to be roughed up; Mr. Clinton properly warned of go-۰.

ing "beyond the pale."

WASHINGTON - When Ed Koch was mayor of New York, he would plunge into the subways to ask riders "How'm I doin?" (His Beijing look-alike, Zhu Rongji, is doin' fine.) How does Bill Clinton after two-thirds of the interregnum? My criteria are his cabinet choices, his economic outreach and last week's news conference.

1. Thirteen Yes-Persons and a billion in tax refunds that George Multiculturalist. Eisenhower's cabi-net was called "Eight Millionaires and a Plumber." Lord Grenville's Bush banded out a year early. Lefties will get their share of rhetone and symbolism, more important star-studded government, after the death in 1806 of William Pitt, was to them than real money. The sop to the liberal Cerberus is Donna Shalala, reputed high priestess of politi-cal correctness, whose multicultural passion will be harmless enough if dubbed "the Ministry of All the Talents" (changed within a year to "all the hacks"). What conclusions can we draw about the coming accompanied by the promised health Clinton administration from the and welfare reforms. cabinet choices so far?

"I didn't want a cabinet of ing a woman (preferably with a law degree) to be attorney general is blatantly sexist; I hope it is offset strangers," he says. In a sense, that's a pity; the stranger in the Nixon cabinet was George Shultzat by nominating a man to be treasur-Labor, who turned out to be the best of the bunch. Mr. Clinton's er of the United States, which would be a modern first. (Hang the Labor choice. Robert Reich, abancost of putting in a men's room at the Mint.) The only group not given its quota so far is Republicans; I doned his intrusive idea of mandatory job-training spending by business within a week of his would like to see Carla Hills at the nomination, a sensible if gutless State Department, but that, along retreat; we can hope that he is with the National Security Council more stalwart about espousing is supposedly set for Carter IL free trade. (Organized labor got its Rule be applied to the Clinton choices? The first Republican to feeble payoff with a protectionist Council of Economic Advisers.)

The Bentsen-Altman team at Treasury along with the Panettz-Rivlin duo at Budget and Ron Brown at Commerce offer a clear indication that Ross Perot's message got through: working with Congress to reduce the deficit is the بمضيفة والطحارية ورائحا ومرورات بتستشير مستند والاحاد والاحاد والالان فالتناوي والا

By William Safire 2. The Little Rock Economic Sem top priority, which is a good thing. To appear to offer economic stimu-lus, Mr. Clinton will spread about inar. The object was to show that "the presidency is in the details," like God and the Devil; the televised wonkmanship was an exercise in public involvement, and the pressome roads-and-bridges pork as "infrastructure investment," but nt-elect succeeded in show the world that be can stay awake through a morning meeting. that is only to get credit for the recovery that is taking place on its own; it will hardly offset the $15

3. News Conference Preparation In last week's introduction of Henry Cisneros, Mr. Clinton quietly launched his '96 campaign against Jack Kemp, describing the Depart-ment of Housing and Urban Development as "an agency that badly needs reform and revitalization."

Asked about the murder of Israeli soldiers followed by the two-year expulsion of members of the Hamas terrorist group, Mr. Clinton avoided the standard State Department Arabism. He said: "I share the anger and the frustration and the outrage of the Israeli people ... on the other hand, I am concerned that this deportation may go too far." We'll see if his choice for secretary of state veers back to knee-jerk condemnation of Israel.

To an astute question about the wisdom of appointing a veterans' advocate to bead Veterans Affairs, Mr. Clinton argued that with a couple of veterans' lobbyists in charge, he will be better able to get "a serious attempt at eligibility reform." That means he expects the former lobbyists to sell out their constituency by denying expected health benefits. Either Mr. Clinton is kidding himself or us.

How's he doing? America's next. president is practicing sale politics. He runs the risk of running no risk. The New York Times

· .:

IN OUR PAGES: 100, 75 AND 50 YEARS AGO

1892: 25 Heroic Hems

Nottingham League. They certainly deserve all the approbation which is due to the performance of a painful

1917: The Bread Ration

PARIS - In many instances the second day of the 100-gramme bread day was the first for the tea-houses, but there were still no grumbles or complaints, and one will soon learn that it is the tea that cheers and warms and not the bread, and, as to the restaurants, potatoes are a very good substitute for bread, duty under trying circumstances.

94

little concern about the restriction : anywhere. One can still have rum in his tea if he knows bow to ask for it. least five inches from the ground. But

York edition: ] A conspiracy by which defective wire and cable were deliberately foisted on the armed services was charged today [Dec. 21] to the Anaconda Wire and Cable Compa-ny, of Marion, Indiana, in a statement by Attorney General Francis Biddle which revealed that the company and five of its employees have been indicted. The indictment was returned by a Federal Grand Jury sitting in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and its eight counts accused the defendants of conspiracy to defraud the United States and to present false claims in the production of wire and cable used by the armed forces for combat communications.

LONDON --- Twenty-five heroic young ladies in Nottingham have started the Short Dress League, and its members pledge themselves to wear, in winter weather, gowns at

1942: Wire Firm Charged

so why waste time grieving over the scarcity of bread? they will wear gaiters. It would be a WASHINGTON - From our New delicate attention if some special medal for beroism in time were to be conferred on the sworn sisters of the so, on the whole, there seems to be

OPINION

Ad Hoc Salvage Work Won't Make for World Law and Order

WASHINGTON - My last encounter with Mohammed Siad Barre was a troubling experihard-won economic reforms and ence. Before I could introduce my lose the confidence and support of agenda, the Somali grumbled, "I virtually all foreign partners and have lost confidence in my peoall Somalis beyond his own Mareple." Such was the logic of Africa's han subclan. Rival clan leaders

· 12

ace

10ł

1+N'N

* v.,

· . . . .

14 E

SW(2)

presidents-for-life. filled the vacuum and promptly fell Mr. Siad Barre complained about all the pressures placed on (former British Somaliland) broke

The historic changes since 1989 have destabilized the previously existing order without replacing it with any recognizable or legitimate system.

Both Somalia and Bosnia Test Our Moral Resolve

Having recently returned from is exactly this type of intellectual cial kind of hell that happens when ordinary civilian society is allowed to become the plaything of men

George Bush (with the evident support of President-elect Bill Clinton) to mount a major bumanitar-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

dithering on the part of the West over what is really bappening in the Balkans that has allowed the events to degenerate into incredihly evil crimes against bumanity.

The West has disgraced itself with its attitude toward the war in the Balkans. The time to redeem face, restore sanity, uphold law and order

In an attempt to justify U.S. nonintervention in Bosnia, Mr.

Krauthammer contends that the so-called ethnic cleansing is not genocide, Let me remind him that the 1948 Convention on the Pre-vention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide, in force since 1951, defines genocide as any of the following acts committed with intent to destroy, in whole or in part, a national, ethnical, racial or religious group as such: killing members of the group; causing serious bodily or mental harm to members of the group; or deliberately inflicting on the group condiiv and the new

Greater Croatian state that incor-

JOZEF GOLDBLAT.

- Geneva.

PETER RAJIC.

Rome.

and defend human rights is now.

The decision by President and boys with guns.

him by the American ambassador away, and much of the rest of the in Mozadisha: to reconcile with country descended into that spe-Ethiopia, to release political prisoners, to support market reforms and to observe human rights stan-dards. "Somalis are not like Ameri-cans," he added. "We have no tradition of democracy and loyal pposition." Besides, he concluded, "I'm no Abe Lincoln."

Before abandoning Mogadishu in early 1991, Mr. Siad Barre had ian intervention in Somalia represents a dramatic departure m managed to key waste to Hargeisa, the capital of the north, scuttle shaping the transitional world sys-tem. It also raises scores of quesconfusion and tragedy there, I am now hopeful that the United Na-tions, with the United States playing the lead role, can justify its noble purpose — that of helping

Somalia and witnessed the chaos.

The UN military alliance in Somalia can help make sure that food reaches the starving. It must be ready to stay there for many months, since there is no guarantee that all the handits who fled to Kenya with their weapons or wbo hide in the countryside will not return to ravage the country again.

hammed Farrah and with advisers to Mohammed Ali Mahdi, I could not help but feel that both warlords were tired of the fighting and worried that Somalian history would blame them for the deaths of thousands of their people. Now that they have agreed to abide by a cease-fire, all parties in Somalia must be brought together to form a new government. Member states of the United Nations can help them

Having met with General Mo-establish peace on our planet.

By Chester A. Crocker

tions about: America's exit strategy: the United Nations' capability to fill in behind U.S. forces; the precedents being set and how to define limiting criteria for other cases; and why it fell to America, once again, to act.

There are good answers to most these questions. We need first, however, to understand why regional disorder in Somalia and elsewhere is flourishing and why U.S. leadership in these revolutionary times is vital to American national interests.

The short answer is that historic changes since 1989 have profoundly destabilized the previously existing order without replacing it with any recognizable or legitimate system. New vacuums are setting off new conflicts. Old problems are being solved, begetting new ones. The result of this process is a global law-and-order deficit that is strain-ing the capacity of existing and emerging security institution

It is no coincidence that the United Nations is facing unprecedented demands to deploy peacekeepers, porates most of Bosnia-Herzegovina. They already control western

Herzegovina and central Bosnia,

"cleansed" of all its Serbs and many of its Muslims.

Although the Serbs are the main culprits of "ethnic cleans-under their control - the Croats and Muslims have expelled thou-by the international community to compel the three Bosnian factions to negotiate a mutually acceptable

Nothing is more crucial to the outcome of the "Grand Design" for the European Community than the response of its would-be mem-bers to the war in the Balkans. That is the real test. The current feverish discussions about the minutiae of the Maastricht treaty are fools' di-

Regarding Vicious Rape, lanned and Systematic (Dec. 14):

Why is the world being so silent to this savagery? These are mon-versions. Europe must act now.

F. EMMETT FITZPATRICK 3d.

GEORGE TINTOR,

London.

Philadelphia,

constitutional arrangement.

- by virtue of the larger area much

ing"

of which has been springtime flowers. These demands are in part the result of peace accords that created fresh challenges of implementation board challenge to the political and and enforcement (as in Mozam- territorial status quo. bique, El Salvador and Cambodia). The demands also stem from the disintegration of governments. states or empires that no longer enjoy the legitimacy and domestic external support to survive (for-OL mer Yugoslavia, Somalia, Iraq). Whether these new "demands" are viewed as good or bad news is not the point. The point is that there is ( a global law-and-order deficit and America doesn't like to talk about it. Instead it preaches to the rest of the world the post-Cold War litany of U.S. goals and hopes: de-mocracy and human rights, free markets and peaceful settlement of disputes. This sermon is fine as far as it goes, but it is an madequate answer to our era of change. Democracy and free markets are not capable of being "exported" by Voice of America broadcasts or

"taught" through exchanges of scholars. They cannot be imposed by isolation and sanctions. It is time to get the sequence right: A minimum level of order is a precondition to achieving any of these goals. By that I do not mean to advocate antocratic rule or police states: nor do I mean a global regime of military interventionism wherever outsiders conclude that unruly lo-cals are misbehaving. But the world does need to address the mounting lack of consensus on basic norms of global political life combined with the shortage of legitimate institu-tions for handling the resulting security problems. It needs to remedy the scarcity of sands of Serbs from their homes means for "enforcing" whatever soand slaughtered many others, Enlutions may be agreed upon. Not since the Napoleonic opheavals (if not the Peace of Westphalia in 1648) tire Serb-inhabited villages in Croatia and Bosnia-Herzegovina have been razed by the Croats. Arming the Muslims will do have the rights of states, people and governments been so unclear, nothing to alleviate the suffering of In what circumstances are territo-Bosnia's beleaguered population and will only fuel the fighting.

rial borders to be considered sacrosanct and who will determine the A concerted effort must be made answer? When do "identity groups" (peoples or ethnic fragments) have the right of secession, autonomy or independence? What "sovereign" rights, if any, do governments have to prevent outsiders from telling them how to treat their people, their economies and their environment? And what about the rights of out-siders to come to the aid of peoples victimized by the actions or inac-tions of local governments - or to create the functional equivalent of government where, as in Somalia, none exists? George Bush and, soon, Clinton are taking America Bill through uncharted waters - an experience full of creative potential,

Every age, including the Cold War era, has developed answers to the questions of law and order. Periods of imperial expansion or collapse are the least stable and the European maritime empires collapsed in the 15 years after World War II, the destabilizing impact of what buffered by the emergence of global bipolarity and the gradual assertion by Washington of a world-wide containment doctrine.

monumental event was some

TIK

this

DIOU

cease-fire observers, election moni-tors and even civilian administra-tors. New operations sprout like are becoming rather casual toward the dismembering of states.

We in the post-industrial north are encouraging an across-the-

Western activists are outdoing each other in a rush to define bilnteral relationships in terms of favorite causes ---environmental protection, human rights, free elections, market reforms. The World Bank now insists on greater "accountability," thereby threatening scores of incombent elites. Nongovernmental organizations are busy networking with local activists and governmental opponents across what we used to call the Third World, emboldening new political forces. The Western media intrude into the agonies and conflicts of societies that would previously have excluded them.

Most of these Western causes are good ones, but pursuit of them is destabilizing if not subverting the existing arrangements of the world around us. It will not do to organize high-level meetings at which stern measures are adopted - which are then not enforced. It is not enough to arrange negotiated settlements of bloody conflicts and then not insist upon their implementation. It is time for some candor about the law-and-order deficit that the West bas beloed to create.

Similarly, the decolonized world is facing an onslaught of often contradictory Western demands and conditions. Yet we have no way to control the political consequences of our demands. Is it a victory for Western statesmanship if the pres-sure for democratization opens the door to Islamic fundamentalism or to the rampant ethnic renaissance that is spreading across the former Soviet empire? Is it a plus if Western disengagement from ramshackle tyrannies so weakens the local economy that young people see emigrating or living by the gun as their most omising career opportunities? Western economic demands on other nations threaten fragile experiments in political democratization. Yet our political demands risk undercutting painful economic liberalization programs in such places as Egypt, Russia or Zambia. Yes, it is becoming easier to blow away Third World tyrants like Mr. Siad Barre, hut there is no rance that something better ass1 will replace them. Neither the United Nations nor the Arab League nor the Organization of African Unity nor the Europeans (who ruled the place until 30 years ago) did anything effective to save the Somalis from themselves, So President Bush has set up an alliance to do exactly that within the context of a broad UN mandate. His action sends a signal of human solidarity with a Cold War orphan for whom America accepts a measure of responsibility. It means that we Americans are coming dimly to recognize our interests in the world's bad neighborboods. By changing the balance of power between helpless civilians and lawless armed gangs, the Somali intervention creates a window for the peacemakers and for the Somalis to huild themselves a new political system. The intervention demonstrates that, far from becoming a geopolitical dinosaur, the United States is uniquely placed to point the way toward a better world order. The president has been justifiably uneasy about the destabilization of the international political system. Now, with Somalia, he has created the precedent for global action to save civilians in zones of mayhem and to create the space for political solutions during civil conflict. But if America is to expand the zone of law and order around the globe, the next president will need to move fast to capitalize on its global position and strengthen international security. The law-andorder deficit cannot be eliminated hy relying solely on ad hoc, unilateral American actions, no matter how forceful the decisions or mas terful the execution. The world needs some internationally agreed-upon rules and criteria, as well as dedicated mechanisms, for planning and conducting the internationally sanctioned uses of force. The past few years have made a muddle of the international legal system; it, 100, needs work. Dispute resolution mechanisms proliferate, but they tend not to be used or linked to implementation/ enforcement procedures. Regional bodies and the United Nations need the tools and rules to cope with new assignments as well as classic peacekeeping missions. America does not want endless tests of its readiness to lead while other experienced powers evade responsibility, It does not want to become a ripe target for a future backlash (both domestic and foreign) against U.S. leadership. Amer-ican military strength and diplomatic creativity are simply too important to afford such setbacks during the prolonged transition to a more orderly, democratic and prosperous community of nations.

. . . . . . . . .

The writer, U.S. assistant secre-tary of state for African affairs from 1981 to 1989, is author of "High Noon in Southern Africa: Making Peace in a Rough Neighborhood." He contributed this comment to The Washington Post.

A . . . . .

Turning on the Light In a Social Darkness

By William Raspberry

WASHINGTON - For 20 It is that light that intrigues W years, says Robert L. Woodson Sr., be had been ob-Mr. Woodson. He has seen it come on in the drug-ridden serving the phenomenon but not seeing it. "People, including me, would check out the successful social programs - I'm talking about the neighborhood-based healers who manage to turn people around - and we would reon such things as size, funding, facilities or technique. Only recently has it crystallized for me that the one thing virtually all these successful programs had in common was a leader with a strong sense of spirituality. Mr. Woodson, founder and president of the National Center for Neighborhood Enter-prise in Washington, still isn't sure where to go with his insight. He gets nervous over the idea of government agencies funding religion, and he fears that some private funders might be seduced into hacking programs that, though run by religious people, have no chance of producing results.

MEANWHILE

"I'm not saying the spiritually-based programs always work, only that the successful pro-grams almost always have a spiritual hase," be said.

He's known it - or should have known it - for a long time.

"Several years ago when I was working with (Philadelphia's) Sister Fatah, who was doing such a wonderful job with gangs, I kept trying to figure out bow she could compete so successful-ly with the traditional programs, government or private, that were able to offer jobs and other benefits," he said.

"Then I started asking the kids themselves. I'll never forget this one youngster, a reformed gang leader, who told me, 'Sister Fatah taught me the meaning of life.'

When I asked him to explain what be was talking about, he told me: 'She set an example by the kind of life she led. She was always available for me - for family funerals, when my mother was sick, on a Friday night at 10 o'clock when I was feeling frustrated. I put her through some things, but you know even when 1 rejected her she didn't ca is not a hunger for things but a search for meaning, reject me. Finally one day, a light came on."" neighborhoods of Detroit, where the Reverend Lee Earl does his rescue work. He has seen it in the eves of the young Cleveland fa-thers, who, thanks to the influence of Charles Ballard, have assumed responsibility for their out-of-wedlock children, often marrying the mothers of those children. He acknowledges that programs designed to deliver specific services can work without regard to the deeper motivations of the service providers. His interest is in the community-based workers who can trigger the life-changing experience - the light that comes on. "The thing I'm talking about may or may not be specifically religious." Mr. Woodson says.

Page 5

'It can happen with people who don't even go to cburch. But it's spiritual, and the people who are touched by it know it. I should have known it, too, but it took me a long time to see it. You see, I was trained as a social worker, and part of our training is professional separation - don't get emotionally involved. You must always remain in charge. That seems to be the essence of the professional relationship." But not of spiritual ones. Mr. Woodson remembers asking Carl Hardrick, who used to be known as "the mayor of the ghetto" in Hartford, Connecticut, what be got out of his work with young people. Mr. Hardrick recalled the time when his own brother was brutally beaten in a gang assault that left him paralyzed. He explained the situation to the young men he'd been working with, armed himself, and was about to go looking for the men who had hurt his brother. Then. according to Mr. Woodson, this kid who had been a gang leader spoke up. "If what you've been teaching us doesn't mean anything, I'll get a gun and come with you," he said. "If it does, let's call the police." That's spiritual, says Mr. Woodson, and it is profoundly effective. What are the implications of this for social service programs? "I'm not sure l know yet," Mr. Woodson admits. "I do know that the hunger I sense in Ameri-

The Washington Post.

 working to establish a police tions of life calculated to bring force to discourage banditry. about its physical destruction in whole or in part. This is precisely · Rebuilding or repairing hospiwhat is taking place in the former Yugoslavia. Minimizing such tals, schools, universities and government institutions. crimes borders on irresponsibility.

• Organizing agricultural pro-grams to alleviate drought. · Restoring electricity and telecommunications. Regarding "A 'Bush Doctrine' on Applying U.S. Force" (Dec. 16): These moves would be far less costly than maintaining a foreign President George Busb sounds army in Somalia indefinitely. admirable when talking about hu-

ABE NATHAN.

Tel Aviv. Thousands of U.S. troops are facing up to the teenage gangs in Somalia. Fine, But what about the perpetrators of death, torture and rape in Bosnia? MOHAMED ALI ZEID.

Paris. Charles Krauthammer's attempt to justify the nonintervention of Western troops in Bosnia-Herzegovina is a slap in the face of those suffering the consequences of Serbian "etimic cleansing" and geno-cide ("Somalia, Yes, Bosnia, No: The Crucial Distinction," Dec. 12). Treating Serbian aggression in Croatia and Bosnia as an evil that does not merit foreign military intervention can only encourage the aggressor to continue unabated. It sters playing war games, giving themselves a carte blanche to dis-pense borrific buman degradation, U.S. foreign policy, such as in Soempowering themselves to destroy malia. In case of great human disthe body and spirit of an entire tress, morality is to be on the same people. We must cry out in our collective voice: "No, you cannot plane as promoting democracy. Unfortunately, Mr. Bush seems to do this. And you must pay for what have no intention of giving European leaders a signal to do any-thing meaningful in Bosnia. you have done." Each moment we wait means more death for women and children in Bosnia. LEONORE SUHL. KAREN L. MCDERMOTT.

' Ľ'

Paris. Geneva. Leslie Gelb's arguments for mili-tary intervention in Bosnia are Do we really need to know anybased on the notion that the Serbs thing more about the atrocities beare the sole group guilty of atrocing committed in the former Yugoslavia hefore action is taken? President-elect Bill Clinton and the ities ("Never Again" Beware, Eu-rope, Cynicism Is Comagious," Dec. 14). But he overlooks the fact that European Community leaders Croat extremists also are to blame must intervene forcefully to bring for much of the fighting in Bosnia. these horrors to an end. They seek an ethnically pure LINDA HEALEY. Paris.

That is all gone. Not only does the West face a vast, newly decolonized zone from Tajikistan to Slovenia, hut it is also witnessing mounting challenges to law and order across previously decolonized Africa, Asia and the Middle East. Superpower disengagement from Cold War stakes has removed a vital element of coherence. Old taboos about offending friends and partners in the developing world, all part of the Cold War dating game, are gone. In addition, after

Passport Inquiry Aims Higher White House Aide Tied to Anti-Clinton Search

By Robert Pear New York Times Service WASHINGTON - The Justice Department says that the White House political director, Janet G. Mullins, "may have made false statements to agents of the State

Page 6

Q Department" investigating the pre-nc election search of Bill Clinton's CI passport files. Moreover, the Justice Depart-

th ment said that Ms. Mullins, part of the inner circle of aides to former in

Secretary of State James A. Baker District of Columbia, in response 3d, may have helped direct the to a petition by The New York search. This is the first time U.S. Times and two other news organilaw enforcement officials have sug- zations. gested that Ms. Mullins helped or-The court appointed Joseph E. chestrate the search. diGenova, a former United States

The allegations were made in the attorney, as independent prosecu-Justice Department's request for tor on Dec. 14. appointment of an independent Attorney General William P. prosecutor to investigate possible Barr summarized the evidence crimes. The text of the request was against Ms. Mullins in his applica-disclosed Monday by the United tion to the court. States Court of Appeals for the Ms. Mullins was interviewed cials said.

CRASH: 52 Killed in Portugal

(Continued from page 1)

ÖE

CI

ca crash, said, "the plane journediately pr filled up with black smoke and evco eryone began scrambling to get CO OUT."

Another survivor described the panic as people tried to flee the aircraft. "There was screaming and people falling over each other." Marlous Jungerius said. "There was blood everywhere.

Those of us who got out of the plane ran as hard as we could -people were running in all direc-tions. We got to the terminal and there was nothing there, no one to help us, just people screaming all over the place." Martinair in Amsterdam said the passengers included 12 children and eight babies. The Portuguese Air Force sent helicopters and planes to ferry some of the injured, who could not be treated at Faro, to three hospine tals in Lisbon, 220 kilometers to the world, with good visibility.

north The Transport Ministry said the

(Continued from page 1)

Mr. Rahin acknowledged that conditions were harsh for the deportees, hut he asserted that both they and the Lebanese anthorities were exploiting the situation, abetted by "media tearfulness and hyp-

"I will admit there is no pity in my heart for them," the prime min-

"The protesting and advice-giv-sting world that is flinging criticism Mat us is the same world that didn't onsay a word when 300,000 Palestin-wians were thrown out of Kuwait.

erAnd this is the same world that day

thy day and night by night sees the buse of the staughtered to the second secon

Nevertheless, some Israeli offi-bcials aeknowledged that an opera-h turned into what one of them called an awful mess '

doesn't lift a finger.", ....

danger of extremist Islam," be said fin parliament.

ocritical speeches."

ister said. He added:

The Transport Ministry said the for Portugal's southern coastal re-plot had given no indication to the gion, the Algarve. It is the destinacontrol tower that his plane was in tion of many tourist charter flights.

twice by agents of the State Department inspector-general, Sherman M. Funk, he said. "During those interviews, she made statements denying her knowledge of, or partrouble. That was confirmed by the ticipation in, the search of Clin-ton's files. Other evidence directly airport director, who said the approach was "totally normal," contradicts Mullins's statements. A spokesman for the Interior Ministry said the hlack-box flight Moreover, Mr. Barr said, "there is also evidence that Mullins was recorder had been recovered fromaware of the interest in Clinton's the wreckage and that an inquiry files before the search occurred, into to the causes of the crash and that Mullins helped encourage would be started immediately. and direct the search.' Martinair said it was sending ex-In his request for an independent perts to Faro to help with the inqui-ries. Many of the charred bodies prosecutor, the attorney general did not name Mr. Baker, who at the time of the search was the White would be difficult to identify, offi-House chief of staff, or Margaret D. Tutwiler, the White House di-It was the second major crash in three months to claim Dutch vicrector of communications, as a target of the investigation. The inspec-tor-general concluded that both of tims. An El Al cargo plane crashed into a block of apartments near then were apparently aware of the Amsterdam Oct. 4, killing 43 peosearch around the time it occurred, on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. It was the first major accident at But the court's charter for the independent prosecutor authorizes him to investigate "all matters and individuals whose acts may be re-Faro Airport, which opened in 1967. Portuguese officials consider it one of the salest airports in the lated" to the search of Mr.' Clinton's passport files. A special three-judge panel of the appeals court ordered Mr. di-Genova to investigate whether Ms. Mullins had committed a crime by making false statements, by obstructing the inspector-general's investigation, by conspiring to vio-late U.S. law, by stealing confidential information from Mr. Clinton's file for the benefit of the cial authority to interfere with the 1992 presidential election.

Scope of Inquiry

Mr. diGenova's job will include determining whether Ms. Mullins, and possibly other White House officials, prompted the search of Mr. Clinton's State Department files and later sought to cover up their actions, The Associated Press reported from Washington.

publican attacks on Mr. Clinton's anti-Vietnam War activities when he was a student at Oxford University in 1969 and 1970.

Ms. Mullins, Miss Tutwiler and Mr. Baker were among eight White House employees questioned by Mr. Funk and his investigators during their inquiry into the passport search and its aftermath. State Department officials said initially that they had conducted the search to answer news organization requests under the Freedom of Information Act. starts,

Once combat started between Western forces and the Serbs, U.S. and other allied aircraft would quickly start knocking out military installations, artillery batteries and bridges in a way that could quickly isolate large parts of the Serhian forces in the field.

The price for this could be highfor the civilian population. Local Serbian repression would become worse, and humanitarian relief, at least in its present form, prohably could not continue in most places.

Even with forces poised to move, planners said, the cials said, "We would have a mas-Claim of Victory sively friendly local population. The place is readily accessible from neighboring countries that would tions, had issued blunt warnings support intervention. The terrain is that a Milosevic victory would be much better suited to our kinds of potentially disastrous for Yugosla-DOWEr.

Already. Canadian forces are taking up positions along Macedovia. They urged waters here to make what the Russian and U.S. governments described in a joint statenia's border with Kosovo, and AIment as "the correct choice." bania would welcome an outside deployment along its frontier.

Mr. Panic, who was born in Belgrade but has lived most of his life in California, ran as a candidate of

Warlords Begin a Pullback

40 Armed Trucks Leave Mogadishu

By Eric Schmitt

New York Times Service MOGADISHU, Somalia - In a move to rid Mogadishu of heavy weapons, the two major warlords here began impounding their armed vehicles outside the city limits Monday.

The agreement between Mohammed Farrah Aidid and his chiel ; milinn rival, Mohammed Ali Mahdi, marks a significant step in what 2 could lead to a political resolution to the arms buildup and random.

sbootings here. A convoy of 30 to 40 of General " Aidid's "technicals," vehicles mounted with heavy machine guins or rocket launchers, were driven to the outskirts of the capital. The first technicals of Mr. Mahdi's fau-tion were scheduled to leave Tuesday.

Colonel Michael W. Hagee of the Marines said that the actinn stemmed from "a Somali agree-ment" that U.S. officials helped to coordinate. But President George Bush's envoy to Somalia, Robert B. Oakley, and senior U.S. military commanders have been pressing the warlords to rein in their gunmen since technicals reappeared on the streets here last week

For the first few days of the military operation that began Dec. 9, ŽII helicopter gunships buzzed Somali technicals in an attempt to intimidate them. Many disap-peared into the countryside, while others apparently hid in the city. Many of the hrightly colored vehicles reappeared on the crowded streets, their weaponry on full display, when it became understood that U.S. troops would not disarm them unless the weapons presented a direct threat.

would not monitor the technicals' movements after they left the city. "Aidid and Ali Mahdi agreed to move the technicals out, and we'll see if they carry that out," he said,

The moves in Mogadishu came as U.S. military planners prepared for the next stage in the relief effort centered around Baidoa, about 200 kilometers northwest of the capital in an area among the hardest hit by famine.

Senior officers said that Marines. would move into Bardera, west of Baidoa, on Thursday. At the same time, French forces and Marines will bead to Hoddur, about 150 kilometers north of Baidoa.

With Bardera and Hoddur secured for food deliveries, only two cities, Gailalassi and Belet Uen, would remain on the military's original plan of eight relief sectors, to clear. On Monday, Colonel Fred Peck,

ISRAEL: Militia Repels Deportees public image and also the goodwill that was shown toward this government," the official said. Bush campaign or by using her offialso had to contend with domestic criticism, mostly from people on the political left who say that the expulsions are more than just a public-relations black eye.

Civil-rights lawyers have ap-pealed to the Israeli Supreme Court, asking that the Palestinians be returned to Israeli-controlled territory because they had been expelled to a country clearly unwilling to receive them. The court deferred a decision until Tuesday.

The crisis has reverberated as well in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip, which for the last four days have endured the effects of curfews and a general strike. In the Khan Younis refugee camp in Gaza, near the site where six Palestinians were shot and killed by Is-Bion they had hoped would face. tack soldiers over the weekend, a quickly from the spotlight had i0-year-old boy was killed Monday 10-year-old boy was killed Monday when soldiers fired at youths who took to the streets, throwing stones "It's a very bad drain on our and bottles.

The center-left Rabin coalition

Faro is the main holiday center

recently. Mr. Aspin, 54, worked in the Pentagon when Robert S. McNamara was defense secretary under President John F. Kennedy and has superpower, conflicts are the norm.

It is on the question of the shape of the post-

Cold War world and its demands for a redrawn will be subjected to the most scrutiny. All are practitioners of foreign policy as it was con-ducted during the Cold War. None has been forced to conceptualize and then implement a attack on UN forces with its ownescalation, possibly including air strikes against Belgrade. A slight delay in a final decision on any. Western action, which was the upshot of talks this weekend between President George-Bush and Prime Minister John Major, may be useful in starting to reduce the vulnerability of UN troops on the ground before any air action

The search occurred amid Re-(Continued from page 1)

A MAJOR MEETING IN WASHINGTON --- Vice President-elect Al Gore and his wife, Tipper, with Prime Minister John Major at a British Embassy social function. Mr. Major had been visiting the United States for talks with President Bush on the crisis in Bosnia. CLINTON: President-Elect Signals Activist Foreign Policy for America manager than someone who will lead the intel-policy designed for the world Mr. Clinton will somewhat conventional line based on several inherit. (Continued from page 1) choice for secretary of defense, Representative Les Aspin, Democrat of Wisconsin, is less a

Anthony Lake, the leading contender for national security adviser, and Samuel Berger, who may be named as a deputy to Mr. Lake or to a State Department post, played key roles during the election campaign in drafting Mr. Climton's major foreign policy addresses, and these two veterans of the Carter administration likely will take the lead in shaping Mr. Clinton's thinking. But Mr. Clinton is not likely to be from its global responsibilities. But at the same

At the same time, the situation in Bosnia continues to deteriorate, confronting Mr. Clinton with the knotty questions of how much U.S.

bashful about making his own views known. "Clinton is an activist," a senior adviser said.

drawn the line against the use of U.S. ground In his campaign speeches, he followed a forces there. OPTIONS: Bosnia Viewed as 'Iraq in Bad Terrain' SERBS:

spent his adult life working on military affairs. He is regarded as one of the leading thinkers on That's the key." restructuring U.S. military forces to meet the challenges of a world in which regional, not lectual effort to reshape the military - something Mr. Aspin, the chairman of the House Armed Services committee, been working on said: "The same activism he's going to hring to the domestic policy will manifest itself in forcign policy."

Mr. Clinton repeatedly said during the cam-paign that the United States could not shrink time, he will have to define the limits of U.S. military involvement to endorse. So far he has power.

U.S. foreign policy that Mr. Clinton's choices

Another person who knows Mr. Clinton well policy; that policy should be built around the idea of vigorously promoting democracy and free markets abroad; and that the military must be reshaped into a leaner, more mobile force, In recent days, Mr. Clinton has shown more a U.S. role in crises.

But will that activism, in the absence of sure-footed instincts, cause him trouble? Already there is concern within the transition that Mr. Clinton's early statements on reversing the Bush administration's ban on Haitian refugees could set off a wave of new Haitian "boat people" heading for the United States once Mr. Clinton is in office.

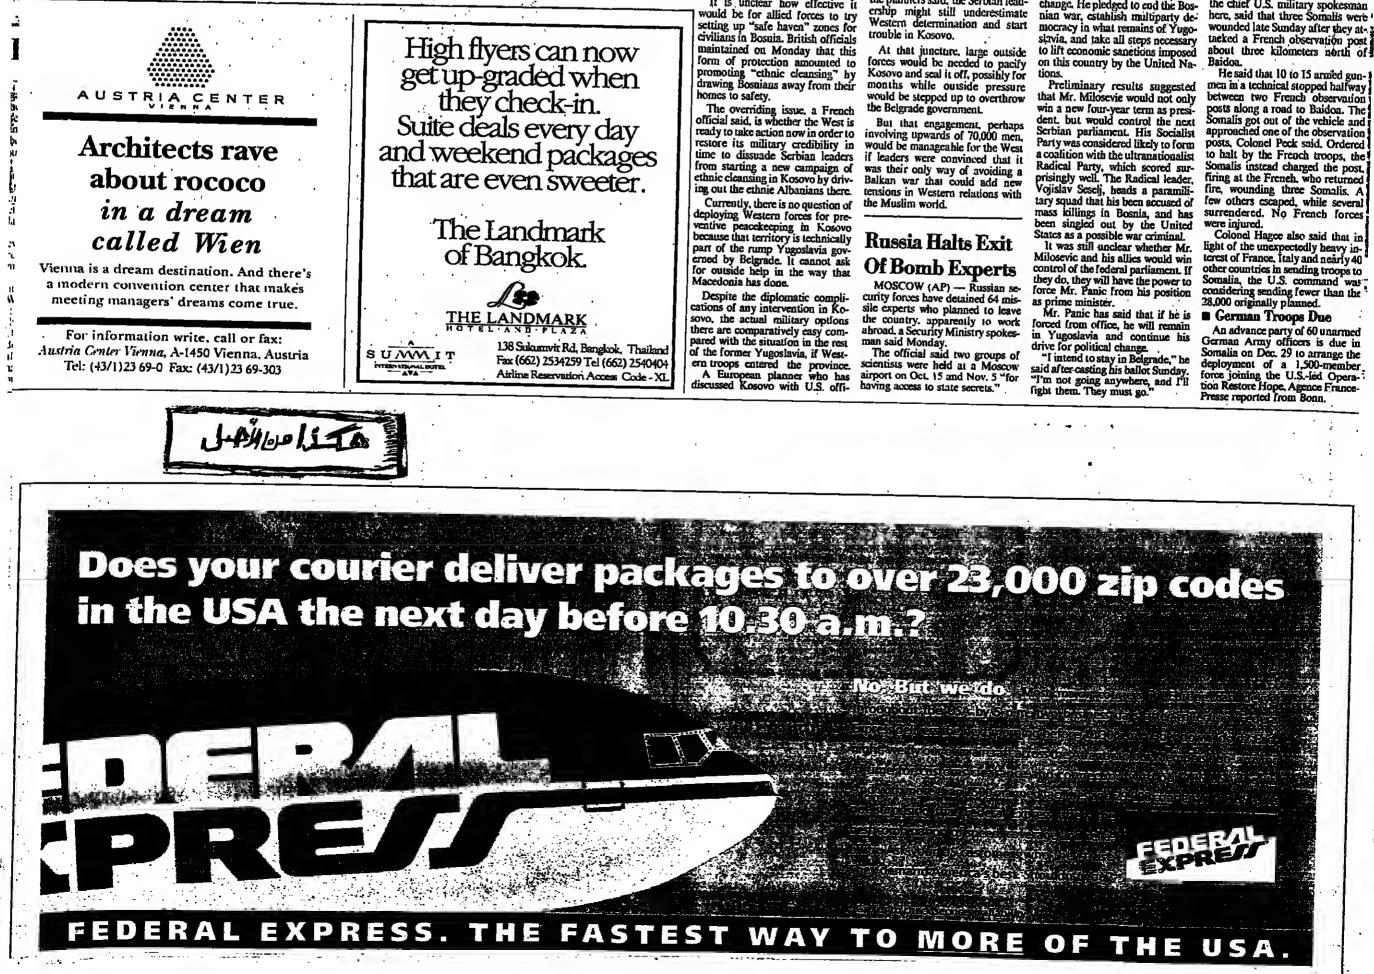

principles: that domestic and international economics must play a more central role in foreign willingness to speak out on foreign policy matters and has shown little hesitancy in projecting

(Continued from page 1)

Colonel Hagee said U.S. officials

× 28.4

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1992

Far Right Feels New Pressure

Irds

"sadis

Germany Outlaws 3d Organization

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches HANNOVER, Germany - The vernment banned an extreme rightist organization Monday, which brought to three the number of rightist movements outlawed this month.

Officials said they had notified leaders of the Alliance of German Comrades of the ban Monday. The group, based in Wilhelmshaven in northern Germany, has about 60 members. In raids on its offices Dec. 9, the police uncovered racist and nationalist literature. In November, a leader of the group, Thorsten de Vries, 31, was intenced to 16 months in prison by a court in Eastern Germany for threats, rebellion and breaching the

The other two banned extremist groups are the Nationalist Front, ith 130 members, and German Alternative, with about 350. But there have also been calls to ban the extreme rightist Republican Party, which his 23,000 members and is led by a former officer in Hitler's Waffen-SS, Franz Schönhuber.

In Leipzeig, vandals desecrated a Jewish cemetery, writing Nazi slo-gans on gravestones and a wall, the police said Monday. The authorities said they had no suspects in the Meanwhile, some business analysts said that a boycott of German goods, which has been proposed by the World Jewish Congress in re-taliation for neo-Nazi violence, could be devastating for the image of German industry. Auslim violence.

Although a boycott would have a limited impact on sales and earn-ings of multinational companies adquartered in Germany, there would be considerable damage from the publicity that a boycott would generate, they said. "It would certainly be painful," said Günter Albrecht, chief econo-Riot in France mist at the German Chambers of Commerce and Industry in Bonn. TOULOUSE, France -- Arab But it is hard to analyze the exact youths overturned cars and lonted

North Africans

shop windows in the southern town of Beziers on Monday after the police shot and killed a Moroccan teenager arrested while driving a

Trouble first empted late Sun-

effects." German car manufacturers would be the most visible target for a boycott, analysts said.

The World Jewish Congress will stolen car, officials said. About 100 immigrant youths took part in the riot, in which a car hold an emergency meeting in New York on Tuesday to discuss a ban was set ablaze. It followed similar and the severing of tourism links. In Bonn on Monday, a governincidents overnight that the police broke up with tear-gas grenades, the officials said. No injuries were ment official confirmed a newspaper report that Russian military helicopter pilots had helped refugees reported. from developing countries to enter Germany illegally by architing them to the German-Polish border. day after the shooting of Hassan Ben Hamed, 17, who according to The government official ac-knowledged that at least one such escape from custody. The two offiflight had been uncovered.

cers lovolved were reportedly being (AFP, Reuters, AP) questioned

Indian Government Wins Confidence Vote on Mosque Riots By Sanjoy Hazarika New York Times Service NEW DELHI — Prime Minister party, for what be called its "betrayal" of assurances by senior offi-cials that a disputed mosque at Ayodhya, in the northern state of Uttar Pradesh, would be protected V. Narasimha Rao's 18-month overnment crushed a challenge

during a Hindu gathering. The 16th century shrine, which militant Hindus say is built on the from the rightist pro-Hindu Bharatiya Janata Party in Parliament on Monday and gained the support of centrist and leftist parties while winning a confidence vote in Parruins of a temple to the God Ram, was demolished by frenzied mobs Dec. 6, triggering widespread Hin-du-Muslim nots and clashes be-tween mobs and police in which liament over its handling of Hindu-

Mr. Rao attacked the Bharativa more than 1,100 people died. Janata Party, the main opposition The government won the vote easily, securing the support of 334 lawmakers, including members of the Communist parties, regional groups and independents.

Bharatiya Janata, which has 117 members of Parliament in the lowhouse, mustered 106 votes, Several of its lawmakers have been arrested since a nationwide crackdown against Hindu and Muslim fundamentalists began last week.

A further 47 lawmakers, most centrist party members, abstained, to express their opposition to the Bharatiya Janata Party and to Mr. Rao, whom they accuse of failing to take firm action that would have saved the structure and curbed the riots.

Earlier, however, former Foreign Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee of Bharatiya Janata wrested a significant political victory for his party when he forced Mr. Rao to agree not to block the party's meetings and activities.

regarded as a leader of the small by the brutal riots earlier this rested for breaking a ban on rallies but later released with other lawmakers.

moderate group within his party. month, quickly agreed to his debegan a protest hunger strike on mands, far it sensed the potential Sunday after the police refused in of greater sectarian trouble if Mr. allow a meeting of the party in the Vajpayee's health was harmed by Indian capital. He was briefly ar-the fast.

His demands included official ic chill dating from the 1989 Beijing massacre, voiced cautious support for Governor Chris Patten's proposal to extend democracy in Hong Kong elections. "The United States supports democratic values around the world, including here in Hong Knng, she said. But ahe stuck carefully to the ann's length policy perts have fled northeastern Assam stadiums and halls; that it would state following threats from sepa-ratisi guerrillas. The Associated not arrest party members for their earlier association with a nowbanned Hindu fundamentalist Press reported from Gauhati, Ingroup; and that it would not "interfere" in the party's activities. since Dec. 7 after receiving a "Quit French Oilmen Flee India" notice from Assames

bels, Home Secretary Tapan Lal

nonexistent here," King Fahd was quoted as having said in a meeting with senior, pro-government Mustim clerics. "Do we accept that somebody comes to us from nutside our country and directs us?

against the distribution of anti-gov-"Has it come to the point where ernment tape cassettes and literawe depend on criticism and casture and the use of mosques as sette tapes and talk that does not pulpits to incite followers against lead to good? We should not follow government policies and the ruling the path of foreign currents -- for-

Saudi King Warns Extremists

Harsh Attack Against Religious Hard-Liners

certain limited things," he said, in a reference to the growing use of mosques by religious extremists th fan their hatred of government policies, and to increasing attacks on senior officials. These have included verbal attacks on such figures as Prince Bandar ibn Sultan, the Sau-di ambassador to Washington, and on other members of the royal family accused of pro-Western lean-

The king's remarks followed a recent confrontation with the reli-gious fundamentalists in which the #### things unfamiliar to us which were monarch dismissed seven elderly religious conservative officials from the country's highest Islamic clerical body, the Supreme Author-

The dismissal of these senior government employees resulted from their apparently deliberate failure to join 10 of their colleagues talists from the country's top religious institutes and universities, who had submitted an ultimatum

In what was dubbed a "memorandum of advice," in itself a challenging terminology in the context of Saudi exchanges, especially with the royal family, the 107 younger fundamentalists "demanded" rigorous application of Islamic laws to every aspect of life in Sandi Arabia. They also sought the repudiation of T relations with all non-Islamic governments and the West as a whole. The king's apparent retort, pub-lished Monday, represented the first time he personally acknowledged the existence of tens of thousands of tapes that began to surface in Saudi Arabia after the Gulf War. Some of the cassettes are soldpublicly in the religious item stores that abound in Saudi Arabia, but most are distributed free at mosques after prayer times, dropped in cars or left at doorstepe in major cities. The tapes criticize virtually every aspect of Saudi Arabia's foreign patch of U.S. troops to fight for the liberation of Kuwait in 1990 and business practices including all dealings with Western banks, companies and Arab secularist regimes. The tapes, as well as subversive . literature, also denounce what theyfrequently refer to as widespread officially-sanctioned corruption in government, nepotism and the monopoly on power by the royal house of Saud and liberal technocrats who constitute the bulk of the rul-fourth time in two years that a senior member of the ruling family bas confronted militant Muslim fundamentalists in Saudi Arabia, a country that by any standard is widely viewed to be one the world's a most fundamentalist Islamic states." The king's personal warnings el-evate the level of confrontation to r pledges that the government would A government afficial said Mon- bels, Home not ban party meetings held inside day that a group of French oil ex- Barua said. The central government, shaken

U.S. Tells China to Honor Hong Kong Contracts

Compiled by Our Staff From Desparcher . stalled by the Chinese-British im-HONG KONG — The U.S. commerce scorrelary, Barbara H. Franklin, warned Beijing on Mon-day not to invalidate contracts in Beijing announced Nov. 30 that all contracts, leases and agree-ments, except land leases, made by Hong Kong, becoming the first cabinet-level official in the Bush administration to publicly inter-wene in the Chinese-British dispute after the territory reverts to Chi-nese sovereignty in 1997. Ms. Franklin, whose visit to Chi-"Let me state clearly, the leaders of China need to realize that contracts must be respected," she said. "Respect for contracts is vital to a modern economy and to a modern "The United States will do all it can to protect the interests of American businesses and the continuity of American contracts here to Hong Kong," she added, "There can be no wavering on this point." Ms. Franklin said she expected China to protect what she called of to block the party's meetings U.S. companies' "significant inter-ests" in the building of Hong Mr. Vajpayee, who is 66 and is Kong's new airport, which has been Clinton transition to Childese sovereignly is best decided by the participants directly isvolved, Britain and Chiments, except land leases, made by British colonial authorities without Beijing's approval would be invalid na, taking fully into account the aspirations and needs of the Hong Knng people," sue said, echoing Mr. Clinton's words. na significantly thawed a diplomat-

In another sign of pressure on Mr. Patten, more than 250 labor, with Ms. Franklin's trip to Beijing, they said. business and community groups on Monday released a statement as-

The strongly worded statement, published in local Chinese newspa-pers, said Mr. Patten's proposals "polarized the Hong Kong people, affected social stability and coo-

For investment information

read THE MONEY REPORT

every Saturday in the IHT

- State and the state and domestie policies, including the kingdom's request for the dis-Twenty-one engineers have left ing establishment. The king's comments mark the George Bush had already made some of the hard decisions that would have faced Mr. Clinton's trade team. He sent Trade Representative Carla A. Hills to Taiwan and resumed high level trade ties (Reuters, Bloomberg) new heights.

nomic prosperity, and ran counter laid out by President-elect Bill to the people's aspirations to live and work in peace." "The manner of Hong Kong's Analysts said that President

By Youssef M. Ibrahim

PARIS - King Fahd of Saudi Arabia has delivered his harshest and most explicit denunciation of extremist Muslim fundamentalists, warning Saudi religious hard-liners

New York Times Serme

eign to our country." In remarks made public by offi-The king said the government had placed limits on activities by religious groups. "The pulpit was only made for modeled after Iran. "Two years ago we started seeing ity of Senior Scholars.

in the 17-member body in de-nouncing 107 extremist fundamento the king voicing objections to various government policies.

family.

southern city of Perpignan. The farmers, who were protesting importation, took two police officers hostage for several hours.

Page 7

	1	BUSINESS	REAL ESTATE	REAL ESTATE
		OPPORTONITIES	TO RENT/SHARE	TO RENT/SHARE
100	ay's	OFFSHORE	HOLLAND
EDUC	ATION	Companies for all purposes including banking and manages. We offer 30 years professional experience world-	8 Short Term Looses for peerily fur- nicked houses 8 Acts. Tell, +31 20 6250071. Forc. +31 20 6320075. Kezersgracht 33, 1915 CD Ansterdam	MANHIATTAN - EAST 70%. Becuritully furnshed, quiel, 5 room oportment. Owner Face 33-1-42,84,07.14, Short term rental.
DIRECTORY		ASTON CORPORATE MANAGEMENT	PARIS AREA FURNISHED	EMPLOYMENT
		19, Peel Road, Dauglas, isle of Man. Tel: 0624 626 591 Fax: 0624 625 126	AGENCE CHAMPS ELYSEES	EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE
Appears	on Page 5	BUSINESS SERVICES	specialists in furnished apartments, residential areas, 3 months and more.	REPRESENTATIVE DIRECTOR
прешь	m I uge o	OFFSHORE COMPANIES	Tet (1) 42 25 32 25 Fax (1) 45 63 37 07	French, SO, 10 years an Japan se North Africa and 10 years in Japan se Project Manager and President of a molecularia Company in Talya. Very good relations with Japanese aspirators. Reant in English.
PERSONALS	ANNOUNCEMENTS	FROM £150 Vonces countries, Full services,	AT HOME IN PARS	Very good relations with Japanese asphatons. Fleent in English.
Y THE SACHED HEART OF JESUS		INTERNATIONAL COMPANY SERVICES (UK) LIMITED Standbrook House, 2 - 5	PARIS PROMO oportments to rent furnished or not Solas & Proverty Management Services	German, Spanish, Japanese and Graceian languages. Ready to asome new position preferably to set up
<ul> <li>adored, plonbed, loved and pre-</li> </ul>	Herald Eribune.	Standbrook House, 2 - 3 Old Bond Street, Landon W1X 318 Tel: + 44 71 493 4244 Tel: + 44 71 497 0605	Solis & Property Management Services 25 Av Hoche 75008 Paris, Fae 1-45611020 Tab. (11) 45 42 35 40	Please write to: INT, Rol. 23, Manchiono Sontamona 8 - 6, so.
Steal lineageout the world, now and Week's Society and Heart of Jesus, pray # vs. Soint Jude, warker of mirades, ray for us. Sourt Jude, help of the paties, pray for us. Annua. Say this rays may times a day, by the mith by van times will be compared in	SEASONS GREETINGS	and the second se	Tel: (1) 45 63 25 60	28036 Madhd, SPAIN
ipmen, pray for us. Arman. Say this ayer more times a day, by the ninth by your proyer will be enswered in	CONTEST	LONDON ADDRESS BOND STREET. Mail, Phone, Fax, Telex, Conference room, Tel: 071 499 9192 Fa: 499 7517	74 OHAN'S EVISES	HOTEL - TOURSTIC an aver been known to fail. Pobli- man man be promised. MG/TT.	FAMILY OR FRIENDS in FAR AWAY places	BUSINESS TRAVEL	FOR I WEEK OF MORE bob day	HOTEL - TOURSTIC Reputable spaline Manager and Trouble Shoater (20 year Hoten In'i) seets meansaing challenge as Switzstond, Europa, ISA (Graen Card, Bryde), Gergeon, Franch, Italian, Sand offen Ta-
Y THE SACRED HEART OF JESUS addred, glanfied, laved and pre- rved throughout the world, now and rever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, proy	Place your message in the International Heraid Tribute	Let/Business Class Frequent Travellers to Orient/Australia/Africa/No.: & So.	studio, 2 or 3-room apartments, FULLY EQUIPPED, WWEDLATE RESERVATIONS Tel: (1) 44 13 33 33	Europe, USA (Green Cord), English, Germon, French, Italian, Sand offers to:
prever. Sciented Heart of Jesus, proy # m. Saint Jude, worker of miracles,	on Dec 24 or Dec 31 and the 3 best messages will win a Special HT grit.	America. Sove up to 50%. No cau- pare, no restrictions. Insperial Conada Tel. 514-341-7227 For 514-341-7998.	" RINNISHED RENTALS "	HES Dora Joho, Human Resources Services, POB, CH-8302 Klaten
The Sant Jude, worker of minocles, ray for us. Some Jude, help of the optimus, proy for us. Amen. Say the rayer rune times a day, by the anth	Tet. Pors 33-1-46-37.93.85	CAPITAL WANTED	Selected & Verified evertments only Wide selection - Studies to Perthouses Tel 1-4443 881 1, Fext 1-4443 88112	GENERAL POSITIONS
ly your proyer will be answered. It is never been issown to fail. Publi- nov must be promoted. E.F.	Fox: 33-1-46.37.93.70 or your local representative (in the US Fox. 212-755-8785)	CHE MILLION & marked by presented with excellent colloveral on French Riviera. Brian Jackson Tel (33) 94 76 96 79 Fax (33) 94 76 84 22	"HOMES FOR EXECUTIVES" DE CIRCOURT ASSOCIATES Tel 1-47 53 86 38 Rex 45 51 75 77	FEMALE, 50, French native, PA French/English for over 20 years Hobby: Cenalogy. Also misrasted m letterature and arts. Excellent reduc tonal & relational skits. Sheno bost
REININGERS HI. MERY XMAS AND A GREAT NEW YEAR, LOVE DAVID	CHALLENGES IN YOUR LIFE?	FINANCIAL SERVICES		letterature and arts. Excellent reduce tonal & relational skits. Sheno both
Clinton's Subsequent Appointments Ware Incomative. Touche.	Free brochure teches on ancient tech- neue for spintud insight. Write or foas ECKANKAR, Rahgon of the Light and Sound of God, Dept. 551, P.D. Box 27300, Minespodis, MM 55427 or fase 12:544-3754, Dept. 551, USA.	IF YOU WISH to have quality manna-	CHAMPS BLYSEE (seor), super 2 rooms, 50 sp.m., batteroom, lacter, well furnished & equipped, view gar- den, F7800 rel Owner 1- 42 56 03 79	Recont character. Still of any pro-
WK YOU ST JUDE FOR ALL	27300, Minneopolis, MN 30427 or hale 612-544-3754, Dept. 551, USA.		NEWLY country import bedroom both	fessional use 1 Al service suggestion welconse. Tel: (33-1) 47 89 35 19
ANNOUNCEMENTS	FEELING Inw? — Isoving problems? SOS HELP crass-line in English. 3 p.m 11 p.m. Tet Pans (1) 47 23 80 80.	REAL ESTATE FOR SALE	All constants, coins, balkony on garden, sumy, 6th floor. Tel: 1-42571884, weekend in provinces 16-85379444 cm	EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT
	ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS English speaking metangs doaly. Tet PARS 46 34 59 65 or ROME 678 0320.	MONACO	14th, NEAR MONTPAINASSE, sudio respectable, 7th floor, view Effel Tower, fully equipped latchen, both, balcony. Short term, (1) 44 39 80 36	French/English billingual, Greek, good working knowledge German, 34, 10 years expension, seeks position in Paris. Free to Inavel. Tel/Fax, (1), 43, 22, 44, 52
THE HIT IS NOW			boleony, Short term, (1) 44 39 80 36 16th FAISANDERE - near Henri Mar-	Free to Inovel. Tel/Fca. [1] 43 22 44 52
AVAILABLE IN MANY	DUTY FREE SHOPS	PRINCIPALITY OF MONACO	ria, 65 sq.m. fully equipped apartment, colm, 5th floor, lift. F7000 + charges.	SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE
U.S. CITIES ON DATE		FOR THE SALE, PURCHASE, RENTAL, MANAGEMENT or	Coll Mr Joseph 1-5.04.7.64 15/1-4/1 COURSEVOIE - La Defense,
OF ISSUE	FREDDY	INSURANCE OF REAL ESTATE PROPERTY	new, view Paris, 2 bedrooms, balcony, large fiving, parting. Fully equipped with 5 hrs maid/week, 1-4/79/512/	MINERVE SEEKS for AMERICAN FRANS IN PARIS
W Rinted by satellite transmission in W York the international Herald who is an shaped for day-of-	Newly renovated shap to heart of Parts	Contoct:	PARES INCOMPANE Short term with service & furnished rentols. 3 nights to	Freich matter transa stateforiat includes delevery to your home or or in most areas of the following	Come in & buy all your perfumes & gris "Duty Free or SAVINGS OF 40%. Two blocks from the "Openg".	AGEDI	Z YOULL (01 1-4/33008) (10X 4/33/277	knowledge of French required. Write or phones 422, Roy Saint Honora, z Na Boson, Chicago, Denver,	ned to the American Express Sank FIGEE GIFT with this ad, Mon-Fri, 9-6-30	7 and 9 Badlevard des Maulins MC 98000 MONACO	VANEAU, nos iving + bedroom, equipped latches, both, dressing room, inf, porting, 19,000. Tel (1) 43 29 40 40	75008 Paris, France. Tel: [1] 42 61 76 76
nia, Baston, Chicago, Denver, or, Housan, Las Angeles, Micini, Yark, Maladalaha, San Francisco	12 ree Auber, Paris 9, Metro Opera.	Tel: (33) 93.50.66.00 Teles: 497417 MC Fax: (33) 93.50.19.42. (Offices open on Soturday)	NEAR BASTILLE, living + 1 bedraces, freplace, sonny & colm. F5.000 net. Tet. Home 1-69732642, office 32412021	AUTO RENTALS
Washington D.C. speedy mail delivery, subscription	MOVING		INVALIDES, high closs building, 2 rooms + drassing room, 60 iq.m. 8th
tes also are flown directly to knowle, Phaesis and Seattle.	ATTA	SWITZERLAND	floor. P8,500 net. Tel: (1) 45 55 46 75. M* JASMINE Very elegant & sonny 110	NEWT FROM DERGI AUTO WEIGHD: FF 515
In the U.S.A., call	AGS NOVING	BUY TODAY	sq.m., 4th floor, living, clinicg, 2 bed- raoms, 2 baths. Only F8,000, 47230484	SPECIAL OFFER - 7 DAYS. # 900 PARIS TEL: (1) 45 87 27 04
TOLL FREE	And the second s	Buy a few apartments/villas next to Generos, Proces are law, A good eventment for the environment and long	SPAIN	LOW COST FLIGHTS
1-800-882-2884	A.G.S. LONDON (44-81) 961 7395 A.G.S. PARIS (33-1) 40 80 20 40 A.G.S. BERLIN (49-30) 429 28 65 A.G.S. NICE (32) 93 64 59 40	tern. Enquries confidential. Globe Plan SA, rue Ercaz 10,	IN MADRED, APARTMENTS Busilico Maza, Comunicante Zonto, 27-31, The	LOW CUSI FLIGRIS
in New York , cell (212) 752-3890		1003 Lousanne, Switzerland. Tel 41-21-312 35 12 Feet 20 23 70	· Weakly · Manthly rates. All services.	DAILY FLIGHTS AT LOWEST FAREs to ony mojor North American int Lowport, (AIA) / 34-997V	HQMESHIP. Small & medium moves, baggage, cars worldwide. Call Charte Pars (1) 42 $1 18 $1 (near Opera).	REAL ESTATE	(34-1) 5351497.	le: #T Pars (33-1) 47 55 13 13.
gr wrde/fax		TO RENT/SHARE	Espano, 7 The most lastrous in town center. Daily - Weekly - Monthly rates.
erald eribune	BUSINESS	GREAT BRITAIN	Espano, 7 The main Jacustons in town center. Doily - Weekly - Manthly rates. All services. Reservations - Tel: (34-1) 5425555. From (34-1) 7464380.	Page 12
850 Thed Avenue New York, NY, 10022	OFFSHORE COMPANIES. JPCR 1/5	INIGHTSBEDGE 159/1-gir serviced Jummy rists beside Horrads, From 129	In ALADRED, APARTMENTS, Los Jeronimos, Moraio, 9. Besida Prado	FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS
Telex, 427 175 Fax: (212) 755-8785	Church Street, Douglas, Ide of Man. [ 1et (0:24) 629529 Fax: [0:624] 629662.	in Kensington. Okbridge Aportments Tel: [71] 835-1611 Fox: [71] 373-0036.	saureum Best Anary, best prize, all services. Reservances Tel. [34.1] 4200211. Fox: [34.1] 4294453.	CLASSIFIEDS

Germany's leading national daily and business newspaper

Frankfurter Allgemeine

Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung P.O. Box 10 08 08 · W-6000 Frankfurt am Main 1 Fax 69/75 91-21 83

International Herald Tribune Tuesday, December 22, 1992 Page 8

Woman and python by Jacques Olivar; tattoo decoration photographed by Mikael Jansson; a photo for Harpers Bazaar by Paolo Roversi.

Monaco's Grand Prix of Flesh and Fashion

ONTE CARLO --- The blushpink buildings of this toytown city seem to have taken on a rosier glow. Is it the bright winter sunshine? The red carpet on the sidewalks and the Santa-with-sleigh fairy-lights? The thought of Princess Stephanie giving birth to love-child Louis by her bodyguard? The sight of Crown Prince Albert on the Sporting Club dance floor with supermodel Claudia Schiffer?

Or could it be the exhibition of fashion

The fourth International Festival of Fashion Photography generated a gala and a high-powered attendance from Helmut Newton through Karl Lagerfeld — and a

SUZY MENKES

"Is fashion photography out of fashion?" was the question posed in a discussion that got to the heart of the subject matter hanging on the walls of the Sporting Club: Can fash-ion photographers give themselves that title if they dispense with clothes? "Yes," said French photographer Domi-nique Isserman, 45, known for tender images of women."Photographs of nudes are part of fashion, because if you take a picture of 1910 and compare it with a modern picture, as ell as the differences of body or makeup, there is an attitude that reflects the time." "No," said Helmut Newton, whose fashion images have a powerful sexual charge, "It's disbonest if you don't photograph (ash-Na. ¢S. ion." He walked out of the debate in which Vivienne Westwood (wearing silver carrings with the letters "SEX") dismissed fashion ٦İ photography as "a very limited form of exression compared to painting."

hi

"Creativity comes from technique," she said. "It is based oo lighting and composi-tion. There is a constant battle between the classic approach and a romantic one. It needs the input of both. But a romanti attitude often leads to an overflow of selfindulgence

The exhibition is designed to showcase both the industry's leading figures and devel-oping talent. Although it is open to the public (until Jan. 4), it is really a show for the pros, who look for work at fashion's cutting edge and for changes barely yet in focus.

The show is about images of women, and they show slight, pale-faced figures in dark shrouds, transparent wraps, sex-shop accessories - or just nothing at all. At best, the pictures, which are a mirror of avant-garde fashion, have a tender poetry. Some are disturbing in that they suggest women as vic-tims. All the photographs were in surreal contrast to the plump Mooaco matrons in sturdy suits and the ritzy, fur-coated Italians out shopping for the holiday season.

lo exchanging the powerful woman of the 1980s for the fragile image of the 1990s, new wave photographers have dispensed with sensuous supermodels - even if Nanmi Campbell (in a flutter of chiffon dress by Azzedine Alaïa) was co-presenter at the awards ceremony.

The prize for young talent went to the 27 year-old British photographer Corinne Day, who first used the waif-like model Kate Moss - now high fashion's hot property. Day showed an arresting image of Moss with breasts barely veiled in a wispy blouse. Juergen Teller, a 28-year old German who was the 1991 new talent winner, showed New Age travelers - figures set in a patchy wasteland. His work for the designer Katherine Hamnett proved that it is possible, in spite of claims at the debate, to be avant-garde and yet show the clothes.

"I don't believe that fashion photography wife, June — known profes is dead — it will always live," said German tographer Alice Springs 1.

. . . . ......

photographer Ellen Voo Uowerth, 38, whose stylish, self-possessed women in exotic locations won the snapshot award.

A feel for the ethnic is a current force in fashion photography, whether native culture is a backcloth for western clothes, or celebrated for itself. The beauty category was won by Mikael Jansson, 30, of Sweden. His tattooed decoration above bared breasts expresses a fascination with the tribal. A photograph of a ring oo a wrinkled finger and a flowered oecklet against a resigned face won the accessories category for the American Kurt Markus. Neither winner would be recognized by the general public as creating valid fashion images.

ANNES Schmid of Switzerland made an impassioned plea for photographers to reflect social and political issues. He showed fashion with portraits of American Indian life. "But we are just contract photographers," said the Italian, Paolo Roversi, who won the Monaco grand prize. His images of a sinuous figure, head back, cigarette clamped between carmine-red lips, or a woman with rising bosom and spreading hat, are the develop-ment of Roversi's prophetic 1980s images of the new woman who was to break out of the Batter Lindbergh address and the new woman who was to break out of the Batter Lindbergh address and bleak and bleak and chrysalis of her power suit, Gentle, reflective nudes form the centerpiece of the area devoted to Roversi's work.

Many other ondes are hard-edged. Some are witty, like Sante d'Orazio's woman, naked but for high beels, on an alfresco dining table. Others are disturbing: Jean-François Lepage's collages of bodies mutilated by cutouts or staple marks.

Helmut Newton sees nothing so new or so shocking about sexually charged imagery. "I've always gone after the glorification of women, but politically I'm a feminist," be

The fun of the evening was provided by Canon, which was showing off its oewly launched Ion still video camera, which can project images immediately onto a screen. A rogue's gallery of portraits was flashed up and later laser-printed.

Personalities are a powerful part of the fashion scene, as was shown by another exhi-biuon at the Hotel de Paris. The American photographer Roxanne Lowit celebrated the publication of her book. "Moments," with giant blow-ups of the 1980s fashion crowd. "They fix an era when everyone was living at night, they were sure it was magic and they thought they would last forever," she said of images that included Salvador Dali (all twirling mustache and kiss curls), a Valkyrio-style cess Gloria Thurn und Taxis, the artists David Hockney and Keith Haring, the designers Yves Saint Laurent and Karl Lagerfeld, the late Halston, Antonio Lopez, Warhol and Nureyev partying until they dropped.

Why was there so much angst at this celebration of fashion photography? The loss of confidence expressed at the debate is part of a general fin-de-siècle fashion malaise and a hangover from the exuberant 1980s. A new

Peter Lindbergh, whose graphic black and white images were a standout in the show, dismisses this theory. "It was always left that everything had already been done — certainly when I started 15 years ago after [Richard] Avedon and [Ir-ving] Penn," he said. "It's a long road. And it was always three out of 1,000 who made it."

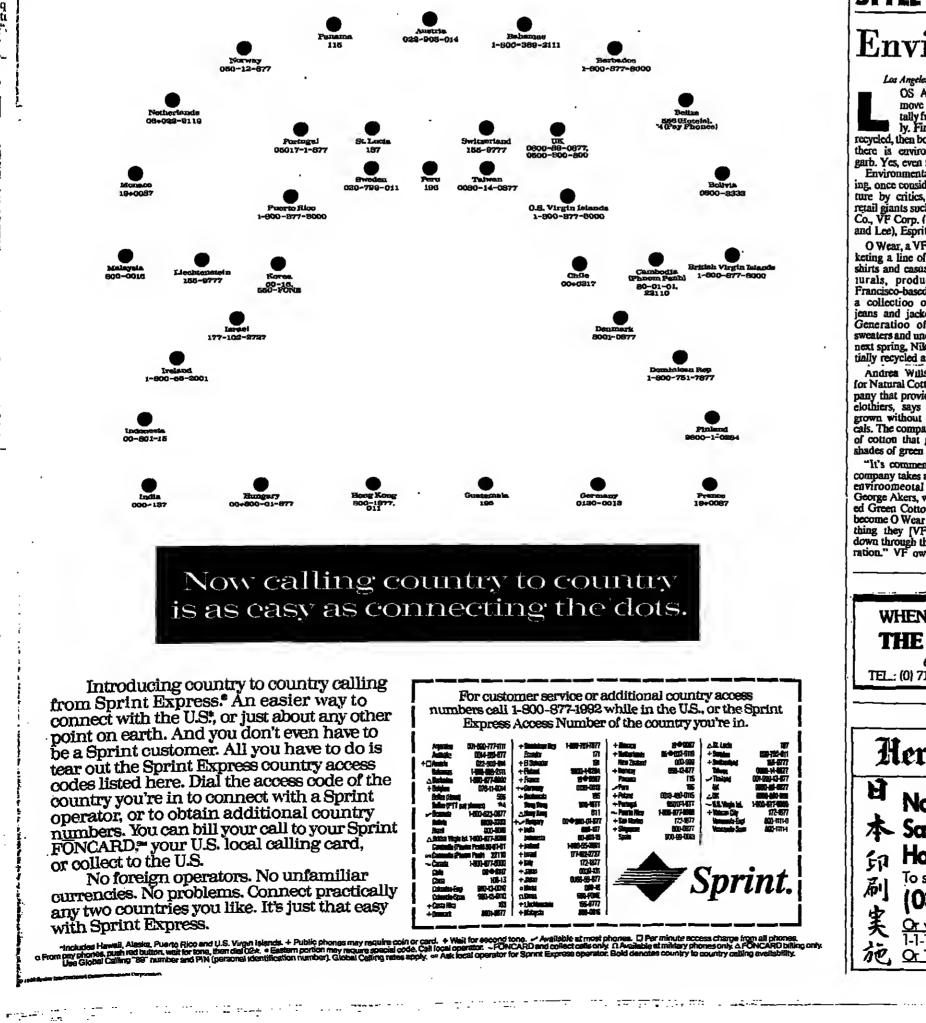

Ultimately, the exhibition proved what everyone knows: A good photograph has the power to impress an image on the imagination and to capture in that frozen moment the spirit of the age. If some of those images said at the gala that he attended with his wife, June — known professionally as pho-tographer Alice Springs<sub>40</sub>. are harsh and disturbing — well, so is the world outside the confident prosperity and manicured luxury of Monte Carlo.

Model Kate Moss (top) photographed by Corinne Day, recipient of the young talent award; Ellen von Unwerth, at left, the snapshot winner; celebrity photographer-Roxanne Lowit with Paolo Roversi, who was awarded the grand prize.

transport is sentition to accurate

STYLE MAKERS

Environmentally Correct Garb

what impact it's tle, Atlanta and Denver.

out to over 200 stores."

natural green shirts next year.

New York, San Francisco and Chicago. O Wear is anticipating moving into other markets such as Seat-

Levi's Naturals, which are brown with naturally colored cotton, spokeswoman Jill Lynch says. "The dyeing process is eliminated. We introduced [Levi's Naturals] into eight markets last year. The response was so strong we rolled it

The success has prompted Levi to diversify its offerings, Lynch says. Levi has plans to introduce a line of nim jeans and jackets, are made

Los Angeles Times Service OS ANGELES - The move to be environmentally friendly started slowly. First newspapers were recycled, then bottles and cans. Now there is environmentally friendly garb. Yes, even recycled shoes. Environmentally correct clothing, once considered a foolisb venture by critics, is being sold by retail giants such as Levi Strauss & Co., VF Corp. (owner of Wrangler and Lee), Esprit and Nike. ronmentally correct," Akers says. Already present in Los Angeles,

O Wear, a VF subsidiary, is mar- The movement is keting a line of organic cotton T-shirts and casual wear. Levi's Na-turals, produced by the San Francisco-based blue jean king, has a collection of natural-colored imme in its infancy and it's hard to predict what immect it's

WHEN IN LONDON WHY NOT VISIT THE ESCADA BOUTIQUE 67 NEW BOND ST., LONDON W.1.

Now Printed in Tokyo For

To subscribe call our Tokyo office

Ar write: TJM, 4F. Mainichi Newspaper,
 1-1-1 Hitotsubashi, Chiyoda-ku, Takyo 100
 Or Telese: 33673. Or Fax: (03) 3214 4045.

(03) 3201 0205

jeans and jackets, while Seventh Generatioo of Vermont offers sweaters and underwear. And come going to have."

next spring, Nike will unveil a par-tially recycled athletic shoe.

Andrea Wulls, a spokeswoman for Natural Cotton Colours, a com-pany that provides cotton to retail elothiers, says organic cotton is grown without the use of chemicals. The company also sells a type of cotton that grows naturally in shades of green and brown.

"It's commendable when a big company takes a first step" toward enviroomeotal awareness, says

George Akers, who in 1989 founded Green Cotton, which has since become O Wear under VF. "Every-thing they [VF] learn will filter down through the $3 billion corpo-ration." VF owns Wrangler, Lee,

TEL : (0) 71 629 0934

E

刷

実

JanSport and Health-tex. In 1991, trying to respood to the environmental movement," says Lynn Spuhler, western regional director it was ranked 152d on Forbes list of 500 top companies. Akers attributed O Wear's sucof Kurt Salmon Associates, a con-sulting company. But even with that effort, the fledgling movement still only accounts for less than 5 percent of the $120 billion retail cess to his clientele — financially secure, educated men and women in their 20s and 30s. "They have the money to start the change," he says. "They're going to buy it be-cause it's fashionable and it's envindustry. The movement "is in its infancy and it's hard to predict what impact it's going to have." Akers became involved in the organic cotton movement in 1989. "I found that cotton is a very pol-luted fabric." He says O Wear uses pontoxie dyes. Seventh Generation, a four-year-old company that posted earnings of $7.5 million last year, offers a wide raoge of environmentally friendly products, including blan-kets and socks. They have nearly 300 stores.

And like Levi, Seventh Generation is also looking to add more color to its line. "Growing cotton in color solved so many problems," says Jonathan Radigan, the compsy's public relations director. The environmeotally friendly clothing campaign is not limited to traditional fabrics.

ILLING their product as "nature's leather," Jun-gle Beach Corp. of Ho-nolulu has introduced a line of cork clothing. Though the line is 100 percent natural, it is also expensive — $230 for a skirt and $520 for a raincoat.

"Cork is a great product because "I think you're seeing companies it sheds from trees naturally." The-

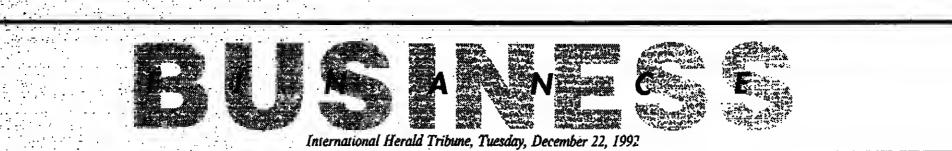

It sheds from trees naturally." The-resa Thurmond, owner of Jungle Beach Corp. said, "We have an overabundance of it." Nike also has jumped ioto the recycling act. Spokesman Dusty Kidd said old or imperfect sneakers are ground up, the byproducts, rubber and fiber, separated, and the rubber is used to make up 20 nement of new shoe soler percent of new shoe soles.

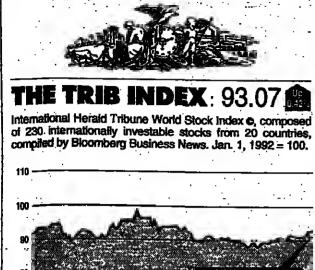

Nike has no use for the fiber. Kidd says, but has been contacted by other companies looking to use the material as filling for futons and briefcases. Nike says the "Air Es-cape Lo" will be available in spring.

Otto Strong

FAX: (0) 71 589 3020 Herald Eribune. ESCADA' 本 Same-Day Delivery to Most Homes & Offices in Japan Paris Left bank SALE 40% FALL WINTER

COLLECTION Marie-Martine 8, rue de Sèvres, Paris 6th Tel.: (1) 42 22 18 44

ward of the second

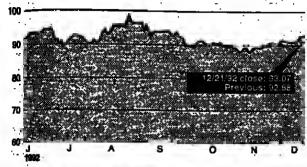

. . . .

· Ę

★★ しいや

ŧ

4TD

The index tracks U.S. dollar values of stocks in: Tokyo, New York, London, and Australia, Austria, Beigium, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Italy, Netherlands, New Zeeland, Norway, Singapore, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland. In the case of Tokyo, New York and London, the index is composed of the 20 top issues in terms of market capitalization. In the remaining 17 countries, the ten top stocks are tracked.

	cific		Europe	N. /	Amei	rica
yrax, weigh	ing: 25%	- 14	oprox. weighting: 40%	Appro	x. weightis	ng: 35%
e: 87.12 P	rev.: 86.2	2 Ck	se: 93.02 Prev : 92.56	Close: S	99.26 Pres	: 99.44
		-			5 0
2 (1698)			-	1992	_
stria	-	-tors	5	libra	Distant I
- close	close	change		close	close	ohonge
93.30	93.50	-0.21	Capital Goods	92.42	92.28	+0.15
87.83	87.19	+0,73	Rew Materials	94.27	94.08	+0,20
85.73	84.74	+1,17	Consumer Goods	96.00	95,57	+0.45
101.73	101.96	-0.23	Miscelianeous	93.62	93.49	+0.14
voidel is av	ailablo In	e of cha				ld Stock
	A S Strie 93.30 87.83 101.73 s desiring of	A S O N I World Ind Striel Sec 93.30 93.50 87.83 87.19 85.73 84.74 101.73 101.96 s desiring more indo	A S O N D A S O N D A S O N D A S O N D World Index Bate Cose change B3.30 93.50 -0.21 87.83 - 87.19 +0.73 85.73 84.74 +1.17 101.73 101.96 -0.23 s desiring more information	A       S       O       N       D       J       A       S       O       N       D       J       J       A       S       O       N       D       J       J       A       S       O       N       D       1992       J       A       S       O       N       D       S       J       A       S       O       N       D       S       J       A       S       A       S       J       A       S       A       S       A       S       J       S	Max         Prov.: 56.22         Close: 93.02 Prov.: 92.56         Close: 61.02           Image: A S O N D         Image: A S	As S O N D       J A S O N D         J A S O N D       J A S O N D         World Index       J A S O N D         B3.30       93.50         B3.30       93.50         B5.73       84.74         B5.73       84.74         B4.74       1.17         Constancer Goods       96.00         95.57       101.96         B5.73       84.74         B5.73       84.74         B4.74       1.17         Constancer Goods       96.00         95.57       101.96         B5.73       84.74         B5.73       84.74         B4.74       1.17         Constancer Goods       96.00         95.57       101.76         B5.73       84.74         B4.74       1.17         B5.73       84.74         B5.73       84.74         B5.74       84.74         B5.75       101.96         B5.75       101.96         B5.75       101.96         B5.75       101.96         B5.74       100.76         B5.75       101.96

INTERNATIONAL STOCKS Fear of Political Turmoil Unhinges Taiwan Market

By Russell Flannery

By Erik Ipsen ternational Heraid Tribune Inter

LONDON - The British government's face was coal-blackened again Monday when the High Court ruled that its hotly contested mine-closure plan was illegal. It was the second major setback for the plan, under which the government wants to shut 31 coal mines and lay off 30,000 miners, and mining-union leaders hailed the court decision as a vindication of their opposition and an "amazing Christmas present."

But coal analysts said that in the long run, the ruling changed little for an industry whose capacity is far too high for its dwin-dling customer base.

And the court, focusing on its judgment that the government had failed to follow properprocedure, did not suggest that the govern-ment would never be able to close the mines.

To Novell

Bloombere Business News

SUMMIT, New Jersey -In what analysts called a move to counter

Microsoft Corp.'s efforts to become a technology spinoff of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

$100 million profit on the transfer.

The new arrangement effectively pits AT&T, Novell and 11 leading technology shareholders against the

Jeffry Canin, analyst at Salomon

Brothers, "Unix Systems Labs as a subsidiary of Novell will have a little steeper hill to climb, but will be able to standardize all Unix software."

John Edwards, Novell executive

"There's no doubt about it," said growing power of Microsoft.

Novell, which owns 5 percent of

The court said that the government of Prime Minister John Major had acted "un-lawfully and irranonally" by denying miners and unions their right to be consulted about the closures. Under the Modified Colliery Review Procedure, Lord Justice Glidewell said that the government could not close mines without such prior consultation.

Another Coal-Black Eye for Major

The closures were announced Oct. 13. tmplying as they did the loss of more than half of Britain's coal-mining capacity and deep social damage to mining communities, they touched off a storm. Six days after the initial announcement, under intense pressure, the government drastically scaled back its plans. Chastened officials then announced that only the 10 least viable pits would be closed, and then only after a 90-day review. The viability of the remaining 21 pits was to be restudied. Monday's High Court ruling, which came in response to requests from the National Union of Mineworkers and other unions, will affect only the 10 pits slated for closure at the end of next month

Whether they will ultimately escape closure remained highly uncertain, however.

British Coal said it was weighing whether to appeal. In the meantime, the fate of the 10 pits and their 7,000 jobs will be reviewed by the government together with union officials and an independent scrutincer.

But the industry has a big long-term prob-lem. "If all these pits stay open it will just mean that British Coal will produce more coal that they cannot sell," said Robert Davies, coal analyst with Lehman Brothers International.

A vast slice of the British coal industry has survived in recent years only by dint of heavy government subsidies, estimated at £100 million ($156 million) a month.

AT&T Sells The House That Ross Built

Unix Labs Can the Heir to Time Warner Keep the Magic Going?

By Geraldine Fabrikant New York Times Service

NEW YORK - It was Steven J. Ross who built Warner Communications into an entertainment powrhouse, and it was Mr. Ross who cobbled together its blockbuster merger with Time Inc. in 1990.

With the death Sunday of Mr. Ross, 65, the task of bolding together two disparate corporate cultures at Time Warner Inc. falls to his successor, Gerald M. Levin.

an all-purpose software company, Novell Inc. on Monday agreed to acquire Unix Systems Laboratories, "It was never a unified family," said Dennis Leibowitz, a media analyst for Donaldson Lufkin & Jenrette, "It was like stepsisters and stepbrothers. They never really fused together as one company. The Unix Systems' equity, will acquire the rest early next year. It plans to take a write-off as large as $250 question is whether or not Mr. Levin can pull it all eether.'

million to account for the purchase. Mr. Ross's severe illness during the last year had increasingly forced him to withdraw from the business AT&T, which controls 77 percent of Time Warner, where he served as chairman and coof Unix Systems Labs, expects a chief executive and dominated the giant media company with his charisma and experience. It also will obtain 3 percent of the equity of Novell, of Provo, Utah.

Mr. Levin, 52, who had long worked in Mr. Ross's shadow and stepped in as the handpicked heir when Mr. Ross took a leave of absence last fall, managed with the same priorities Mr. Ross had set after the 1990 merger.

But Mr. Levin must now hold together a company at which some key Warner division executives, includ-

Japan Gives Fresh Impetus to Public Works

companies.

board members of both companies.

By Paul Blustein

In charge of desktop systems, said the deal was "absolutely not" constructed as an anti-Microsoft effort. Washington Post Service TOKYO - Two weeks after Ja-He said the idea was to merge Unix and Novell's NetWare software for connecting personal computers. But he conceded that the NT Version 3.L pan implemented an 586 billion package to spur its economy, the Finance Ministry on Monday un-veiled a draft budget for the next software being developed by Micro-soft would pose a challenge. fiscal year that some analysts said for private companies.

New Technology, or NT Version signaled its intent to offer still more 3.1 for Windows, is Microsoft's stimulus.

See TIME WARNER, Page 11

give an indirect boost to the slug-gish global economy. The slump that began seriously affecting Ja-pan earlier this year has become a drag on other economies because of . to stimulate the economy again," the fall-off in Japanese demand for foreign goods.

The 72.3 trillion yen ($58.8 bil-lion) plan for the fiscal year starting savings into investment and loans virtually impossible" to meet the "I take these numbers as a clear sign of the Finance Ministry's intent to stimulate the economy again," said Robert Feldman, chief econo-in fiscal 1993. mist at Salomon Brothers Asia. [Nonetheless, there were some who thought the budget did not go far enough in providing stimulus,

EC Accuses U.S. Of Backtracking In Trade Talks

By William Drozdiak Washington Post Service

BRUSSELS --- France and other European countries accused the United States on Monday of backtracking in world trade talks and expressed pessimism that a global accord could be achieved by the time the administration of President George Bush leaves office.

The gloomy appraisal at a meet-ing of European Community foreign ministers cast fresh douhts on the plausibility of a promise made over the weekend by Prime Minis-ter John Major of Britain and Mr. Bush to aim for a "balanced and comprehensive" trade pact by the middle of January. Several EC ministers acknowledged that the last, fragile hopes of illing down an agreement with the Bush presidency - once per-ceived as more amenable to comlishing, music and cable-television systems and programming. Despite the fact that the merger resulted in a staggering debt of $11.8 billion, Mr. Ross resisted selling the company's prime assets. promise than the incoming Clinton administration might be - appear to be withering away.

A consummate deal maker, he persuaded foreign There has been an American retreat on all fronts," declared Foreign Minister Roland Dumas of France, He said the United States had recently revoked earlier concessions at the Geneva trade negotiations and was now pressing for greater advantages in such sectors as industrial tariffs and financial services

Foreign Minister Douglas Hurd of Britain, who chaired the ministers' last meeting before turning over the rotating EC presidency to Denmark, said, "It's certainly true that there has been some stiffening on the U.S. side," But he insisted In a struggle early this year, Mr. Levin edged out his main rival, Nicholas J. Nicholas, who had also been a the possibility still existed of an agreement "if the right impetus can Time executive, as co-chief executive of the combined be maintained."

Uffe Ellemann-Jensen of Denmark said one of his country's chief priorities upon assuming the EC eadership on Jan. 1 would be "to establish good relations with the government's growth target.]

The draft budget is based on a

Earlier this month, when the Japnew American administration" with the goal of heading off protectionist tendencies.

Page 9-

Frans Andriessen, the chief EC trade negotiator, informed the ministers that after expressing his "profound disappointment with the-tougher U.S. positions, he was told by the U.S. trade representative," Carla A. Hills, that such moves were justified by the "limited rea sults" achieved in agriculture. An accord reached last month between U.S. and EC negotiators appeared to settle a long-standing dispute over farm subsidies that had blocked progress toward an overall agreement in the Uruguay Round of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

But France, faced with the prosepect of unrest among its politically; powerful farm lobby, denounced the farm pact with Washington and vowed to veto any GATT accord unless the terms were changed.

Mr. Dumas reaffirmed Monday, that France considered the farm accord to be "null and void." He" said Greece, Italy, Portugal, Ire-land and Belgium also believed the?" pact "no longer offered the basis-for serious discussion."

Canada and EC Resolve Dispute Over Fishing

Agene Frame Presse BRUSSELS - Canada will again open its ports to Europe-an fishing fleets, after the EC Commission accepted restrictions on fishing, increased sur-veillance of fishing boats and "rational management" of declining fish stocks within Canadian waters and beyond. The agreement between the Community and Canada ends a seven-year dispute over al-leged overfishing by European fishing boats in the northwest Atlantic.

Canada closed its ports and waters to EC vessels in 1987 to protest overfishing, mainly by Portuguese and Spanish ships. Manuel Marin, the EC fisheries commissioner, said the accord, reached Thursday but not announced until Monday companies to invest heavily in Time Warner, thereby raising capital while not giving up control of its operating businesses. And despite a merger of two disparate cultures — the established, formal Time Inc. and the looser, more entrepreneurial Warner -- Mr. Ross kept the managers that Wall Street and the communications industry viewed as crucial to the company's success. Mr. Levin was one such executive. The former chief strategist of Time Inc., Mr. Levin was a prime architect of the merger. After the deal was done, be gained the support both of Mr. Ross and the large and unwieldy Time Warner board, comprising former

Mr. Ross was determined to build the merged Time, and Warner into a global force whose sheer size gave it enormous leverage in its key businesses: movies, pub-

Bloomberg Business New

AIPEI - Taiwan investors reacted quickly Monday to the worse-than-expected performance by the governing Nationalist Party in legislative elections, dumping shares in a sell-off that is expected to carry through into Tuesday, traders said. Fearing political discord in the aftermath of Saturday's strong showing by the main opposition party, investors slashed buy offers and pushed the benchmark weighted price index down $1.90 points, or 2.23 percent, to 3,576.09 on volume worth 13.5 billion Taiwan dollars ($553 million).

The index had fallen as low as The ruling party's 3,522.50 carlier in the session. Candidates nominated by the Nationalist Party on Saturday poor election showing won only 53 percent of the pop-ular vote, the lowest ever, while shocked investors.

those from the opposition Dem-ocratic Progressive Party received a record 31 percent.

}{

¶∛(

TUR

W. B.

"Investors sold on the low percentage of the vote received by the Nationalist Party over the weekend," said Steven Yang, an analyst with President Securities.

The two parties differ on economic policy, ties with China and a host of other issues, and the results are likely to bring conflict in the new legislature, Mr. Yang said.

The semi-official Central News Agency reported Monday that the cabinet would resign in the wake of the elections, a move that could lead to a shake-up in high-level government posts, analysts said

Investors were also worried about beightened infighting in the Nationalist Party itself, said June Tsai, research manager with National Securities. This, she said, was due to strong election showings by party members who ran without the formal endorsement of the party.

Top party leaders may have to give up posts to individuals associated with candidates who fared well in Saturday's vote, creating turbulence at the party's top level, Ms. Tsai said.

Other analysts said politics would cast a shadow over the market for months, Reuters reported from Taipei. "We will see less of n negative impact from the elections in coming days, but political worries will remain," said Chen Hanchung of Yungli Securities.

Aga Khan Sells 51% Of Italian Hotel Unit

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatche

MILAN — Ciga, the hotel chain controlled by the Aga Khan, said Monday it would raise about $300 million to cut debt by a restructuring that involves the sale of a majority stake in its Italian hotels. The announcement came only days before the Dec. 31 deadline bankers had set for Ciga to come up with measures to raise cash to cut estimated debt of 900 billion line (about $645 million). Ciga says the restructuring is to reduce debt to about 330 billion bre.

Under the plan, Ciga SpA will sell control of Ciga Immobiliare, the subsidiary that bolds its 21 Italian hotels, to Situr Srl, a closely held investment company, for 300 billion lire. Ciga will continue to operate the hotels.

The sale marks an abrupt end to an expansion policy started in the booming 1980s but thwarted first by the Gulf War and then recession. The Aga Khan also will sell a 20 percent stake in his Costa

Smeralda real estate development company in Sardinia to Situr for 95 billion line. To reduce debt further, the Aga Khan said be planned to convert 61 million convertible Ciga warrants. Situr is held in part by Monforte SpA, with 24.9 percent; Isnituto Bancario San Paolo di Torino, 11.9 percent; and Club Mediterrance. 9.7 percent

Ciga Hotels SpA, the operating unit of Ciga SpA, reported a 1991 loss of 98 billion lire on revenue of 462 billion lire. Nearly balf of revenue came from its chain of 36 botels in six European countries, including the Palace in Madrid, the Meurice in Paris, the Imperial in Vienna, the Danielli in Venice and the Principe di Savoia in Milan. The Ciga group is 50 percent-owned by Fimpar SpA, in which the

Aga Khan holds a 68 percent stake. (Reuters, Bloomberg)

CURRENCY & INTEREST RATES

		Eurocurrency Deposits	Dec. 01	resp. 500 and 1.000 shs, in accordance with the Japanese tax regulations.
Cross Rates	Dec. 21	curocurrency neboette	Dec. 21
S & DAL F.F. Line D.Ft B.F. S.F		Swiss	French	AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY COMPANY N.V.
Austerdaus 1,7625 2,7575 1,1245 0,3291 1,1251 5465 1,24		Dollar D-Mark Franc Sterling	Franc Yen ECU
Breinets 322875 5041 20565 6829 2.086 1428 - 22.		Imanth 31-31-31- 91-91- 54-54 . 714-796	101/2-13 3 94-3 % 11/6-11%	Amstendam, December 16, 1992
		3 months 3%-3% 8%-9 6%-6% 6 %-7 %	104-124 3 %-3 % 11-11%
Lington (a) 1.5643 2.6527 1.2005 2.199,00 2.75% 50,465 2.27 Magina (j. 1.1.278 174,262 77,141 20,42 7.97 * 63,261 3.4592 78,0		6 months 3 %-3 % 8/2-8% 5 %-5 % 6 %-7 %	995-11Va 395-3% 10 ~-10 ~
Million 146130 an 29750 24178 001.0 43.00 999.		2 year 4-4% 7%-6 5%-5% 6%-6 %	81/2-10 . 346-344 9 %-9 *-	ADVERTISEMENT
New York (DI 1,555 g 1,565 5,361 1,488,90 1,7637 32,255 1,47		Sources: Reuters, Lloyds Book,
Ports 5345 13745 1457 1378 35065 41661 378		Roles applicable to interbank deposits of $1 million minimu	m (or coulvalent).	KANEKA CORPORATION
Tokyo 1233 19258 7689 2211 8277 78.16 32375 87
Torpets 1,265 1,9773 0,1074 0,236 0,000 0,7175 1,3921 0 0,00	4 1,025 · 1.134 · - 1,1581 · 1,1129 1,2685 ·	Kerr Meners Deter		(CDRs) '
Zorich 1.0.45 2273 6.9912 0.2639 $1000 * 0.0015 4.3947 *		Key Money Rates
1 ECU 1257 0.796 19573 6.677 1.740.33 2.2011 40.2576 1.74 1 Style 1.366 4979 2.3582 1.4421 1.965.42 2.4576 44.9331 1.97		United States Close Prev. Britain		The undersigned announces that as from
		Discount rate 3.00 1.00 Bank base	rate 7.08 7.00	January 4, 1993 at Kas-Associatic N.V.
Clasings is Amsterdom, London, New York and Zurich, fixings in	omer centers; Toromo			Amsterdam div.epn.no. 48 (accompanied by rotes at ) p.m. 0; To buy one pound; b: To buy one dallar; *: Units at 100; N.Q	: ont ounled: N.A.: onl	Federal tunds 2% 2% 3-meats is	terbonik 7% 7%	an "Allidavit") of the CDRs Kaneka Corpo-
o; To buy one pound; D; To buy one durite?; ": Claris of Nov. How ovallable.		3-meals CDs 3.06 3.08 3-ments is Comm. paper 186 days 3.50 3.55 4-month is		ration (Kanegafuchi Chemical Ladue-
CHURADOR.		Comm. paper 180 days 3.50 3.55 6-month in 3-asonth Treasury bit? 3.17 3.15 18-year 6		tries Co., Ltd.) will be payable with Dfls.
Other Dollar Values		1-year Treasury bill 3.53 3.57 France		1,13 per CDR, repr. 100 shs and with
	Currency Pers	2-year Treasury note 4.61 4.61 Intervent	ee rute 7.10 7.10	Dfls. 41,30 per CDR repr. 1,000 abs.
Currency Per & & Currency Per & Curr	S. Afr. rand 3,0045			(Div. per rec-date 30.09.92, gross Yen 3.50
Austrol $ 1.4441 Here Kees $ 7.735 71. Zenicad $ 1.9309	S. Ker. won 790.00	7-War Triesury Rote 0.6 0.40	terbank 11% 11%	p.sh.) after deduction of 15% Japanese tax - Yen
Austr. schill, 11.02 Hung. toriat 10.71 Norw. krane 6.7485	Swed. krona 6.9595	18-year Treasury pole 6.70 6.74 1-month a 39-year Treasury boad 7.39 7.42 3-month a		52.50 = D0s 0.74 per CDR repr. 100 sta.
Brazil cruz, 18%5. Indian rupor 21,902 Phil. pesa 24.80	Taiwta $ 25.47	Manual Lucardo Co danse Desarte and a de des de Calorino a		Yea 525 = Dile 7.40 per CDR, repr. 1000
Chinese yoon 5.7055 Indo, ropish 3061.52 Polish ziely 14673.	Thei beh! 25.46	IB-YEOF O	T 824 831 Reviers, Bloomberg, Merrill	she, without an Affidavit 20% Jap. tax = Yen
Czech kerena 27,76 irish s 0.5928 Pari escede 141,10	Turkish Kra 8212.00		ank of Tokyo, Commerzbank,	70. = Dis. 0.99 per CDR, repr. 100 shs.
Denish krone 4007 isroell shek. 26125 Russian rable 414.00	UAE dirigen 3,6722 Venez, belly, 79,10		Montanu. Cridit Lyonnois.	Yen 700 = Dfs 9.90 pr CDR, repr. 1.000
Savet, pound 3.3245 Konnelli diaar 0.29% Soudi riyai 3.7302 Fin marking 5.119 Miniay riga, 2.565 Side, 5 1.6363	Venez, beity. 79,10	1-month interback 3 is 32k		she, will be deducted. After 31.08.93 the
Fin, markles 5,119 Malay, ring. 2,585 Sing. s 1,6363	•	3-month interbook 3 h 3 h' GOID		dividend will only be need under deduction of
Forward Rates		6-month Interbank 3 % 3% Never Gavernment bood 484 485 7	A.M. P.M. Chige	20% Jap. tax with DGs, 3,88; DBs, 38,80 repr.
Carriery 36-day 66-day 36-day Currency	38-day 68-day 18-day	2010	336.25 334.00 - 3.05	resp. 100 and 1.000 she, in accordance with
Pound Starting 1.429 1.539 1.5478 Convidended	1.2753 1.2798 1.2827	Germany London	336.25 333.90 - 3.10	the Japanese tax regulations.
Deutsche mort 15739 15607 1.507 Joponese yes	123,18 123,21 121,22	Lombord rate 91/2 91/2 New York Calil money 8.10 8.85 // 5 doi:		AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY
Swiss franc 1.4160 1.4190 1.4229		1-month Interbook 9.20 9.25	rs per ounce London official fix- ch and New York epening and clos-	COMPANY N.V.
Sources: (MG Bonk (Amsterdom); Indosuez Bank (Brussels); Banc	o Commerciale Vallana	3-mooth interbook 9.10 9.15 mps; 2011	en and new York opening and clos- ; New York Comex.	Amsterdam, December 16, 1992.
(Milan); Agence France Presse (Paris); Bank of Takyo (Tekyo);	Reval Bank of Canada
(Toronia); IMF ISDR). Other data from Reviers and AP.		18-yest Band 7.31 7.38 Source: i

The tentative plan comes as Towill run on advanced workstations from Digital Equipment Corp. and kyo is under pressure at home and quasi-mainframes developed by abroad to lift the Japanese econo-Sequent Computer Systems Inc. my out of recession, which would

I Includes a 4.8 ( public-works spending, to 8.57 tril-lion yea, and a 12 percent rise, to 45.7 trillion yen, for a program that funnels individual and pension-fund

ADVERTISEMENT

SEARS ALLC

(CDRs)

The undersigned announces that as from 4 January 1993 at Kas-Associatio N.V., Spuistraat 172, Amsterdam, div. cpa. no. 36 of the CDR's SEARS p.L.e., will be pavable with DBs. 2.06 per CDR, repr. 100 shares (re interim dividend for the year ending 31.01.1993) 1p per share. Tax-credit Pat. 0.33 - DBs. 0.91 per CDR. Non-neitherts of the 1 bitlet & interior non lents of the United Kings

AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY

COMPANY N.V.

only claim this tax credit when the rele vant tax treaty meets this facility.

Amsterdam, 16 December, 1992.

ADVERTISEMENT

HITACHI LTD.

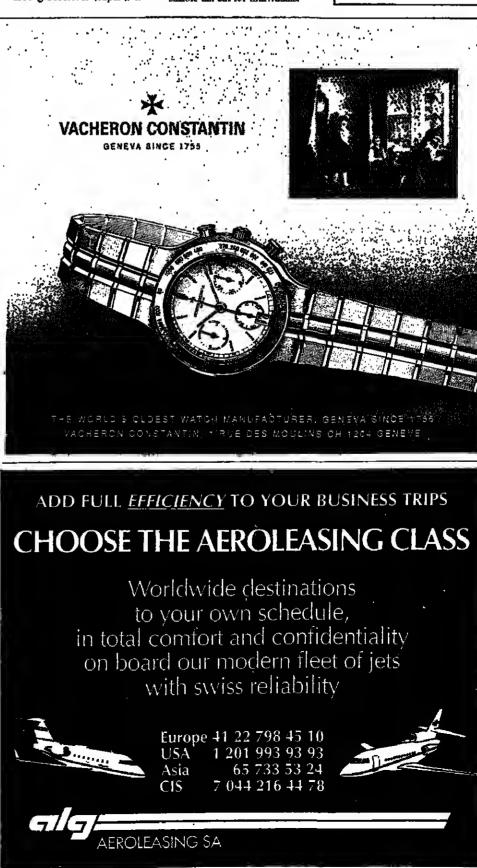

(CDRs)

The undersigned aurources that as from January 4, 1993 at Kas-Asociatic N.V. Amsterdan divegen, and 41 (accompanied by an "Affidova") of the CDRs Hinschi, Ltd.) will be payable with Dfla. 33,25 per CDR, repr. 500 also and with Dfla. 88,48 per CDR repr. 1,000 also. (bit, per recdute 30.09.92; gross Yen 5,50 pah) after deduction of 15% Japanese tax - Yen 312,50 = Dfla. 5,87 per CDR repr. 500 also. Yen 825 = Dfla. 11,74 per CDR, repr. 500 also. Yen 825 = Dfla. 11,74 per CDR, repr. 500 also. Yen 825 = Dfla. 7,85 per CDR, repr. 500 also. Yen 1,100,- = Dfla. 15,66 per CDR, repr. 1,000 also. will be deduced. After 3103,96 the dividend will out be paid under deduction of 20% Jap. tex with Dfla. 31,282 Dfla. 62,56 repr. reps. 500 and 1,000 also, in accordance with the Japanet tax regulations. AMSTERDAM DEPOSITOREY

om cat

"With this budget," said Jesper Koll, chief economist with S.G. Warburg Securities (Japan), it "is laid a base for "promising re-lations." The agreement must still be approved at the ministerial level.

Page 10 MARKET DIARY

Pa

the second se

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1992

U.S./AT THE CLOSE

IBM Sinks Lower But Dow Is Static

Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches NEW YORK - Prices on the New York Stock Exchange slipped Monday as IBM shares fell to their owest level in 11 years. The Dow Jones industrial average slid 0.81 to 3,312.46, with Interhational Business Machines Corp. eccounting for much of the slide. Standard & Poor's 500 index fell 0.58 to 440.70. Declining common stocks out-humbered advancing issues by about an 8-to-7 ratio. Volume was about 225 million shares, combared with the enormous volume of 439.23 million shares on Friday. 1BM's stock fell 2% to 49, the first time it had ended below 50 since Oct. 29. 1981. IBM stock is down 51 percent since hitting a 52-week high above 100 in mid-July. "One wonders where the bottom is on 1BM." said Robert Robbins. market strategist at Robinson-Humphrey Co.

N.Y. Stocks

Some market analysts are becoming less optimistic about the outlook for U.S. stocks, Michael Sherman of Lehman Brothers is decommending that clients take some money out of the stock marker. He reduced his recommended equities allocation to 50 percent from 55 percent, and raised his bond-market weighting to 35 percent from 30 percent while leaving his recommended cash position unchanged at 15 percent.

But other analysts said the stock market was positioned to move higher over the next few weeks. The market typically rises at the end of the year as money managers position themselves for the new year. Tucson Electric Power Co., IBM

Tueson Electric rose % to 21/2.

National Health Labs plunged 5%, or 27 percent, to 17%. The company last week pleaded guilty to presenting false claims for medical tests and agreed to pay $111.4 million to the government. (Bloomberg, UPI)

U.K. Stocks Hit Record

Stocks surged to record levels Monday as investors that bet Britain was emerging from the longest recession since the 1930s, Reuters reported from London.

The Financial Times-Stock Exchange index of 100 top shares closed 18 points higher at 2,807.7. comfortably above the previous record close of 2,792 set on Dec. 1. Government data on Monday showed gross domestic product grew 0.1 percent in the third quar-ter. The chancellor of the Exchequer, Norman Lamont, has pre-dicted the economy will grow t # percent next year.

Hibernation Deepens On Currency Markets

Reuters

or NEW YORK --- The dollar end-ed modestly firmer against most European currencies Monday but aker against the yen after a day of lethargic trading. The only currency to stir much

Foreign Exchange

Was the Canadian dollar, which was bid up by one large order, inaders said. Traders said Bank of Canada intervention, selling Cana-dian dollars for U.S. dollars, helped lift the U.S. dollar off its lows. in The market is basically closed for the year," said Kevin Weir at Bear Stearns, "Most of us are play-

illg Trivial Pursuit."

. .

sche marks, up from Friday's close fat 1.5640. Against the yen, the dol-far closed at 123.00, down from Friday's 123.08 finish. Some traders noted heavy technical buying of the Canadian dollar by U.S. investors on the IMM futures exchange in Chicago. The U.S. dollar ended at 1.2676 Canadian dollars, below 1.2708 at faced further pressure in the cur-rency grid. Despite France's rela-Advanced Declined Unchanged Total 1ssues New Highs New Laws bave been betting on either a franc devaluation or s franc float. NASDAQ Diary but still closed at 3.4179 per mark, weaker than the 3.4156 per mark close Friday.

ter $1.566 at Friday's close.

market players had already squared their positions ahead of the year-end to lock in their profits. Few expect the final third-quar-ter U.S. gross domestic product fig-

Bloomberg Business News HONG KONG — Shares in the Hong Kong trading conglomerate Jardine Matheson Holdings Ltd. continued to take a bearing Mon-, day after the sharp attack on the company last week by Beijing. Jardine Matheson's stock slumped against the trend of a stronger Hong Kong stock market. The market's main barometer, the Hang Seng index, rose 49.82 points, or 0.96 percent, to end at 5,242.48. The company's shares closed down 1.75 Hong Kong dollars (about 225 U.S. cents) at 41 dollars. In the previous two days, Jardine Matheson shares had fallen 5.75. They have lost 19 in two months.

•
1154
IAC
66 E
P
N N
•
Res.
N 5 ' fol 41
с.
R
A
-8
this .

Grains

Dec 168 176/2 Mar 152 155 May 134/1 138/2 Jul 319- 115 Dec 138 131 Jul 313/2 313/2

WHEAT (CBT) -5.00 by minimum 4.40 3.12% 3.75 3.18 3.77 3.18 3.55 3.07 3.40 3.17% 3.40 3.17% 3.47 3.13 5.55 3.07%

112% 3.19% 3.18 3.07% 3.07% 3.17% 3.17%

+010	USUAL
+ 0.10 + 0.07 + 0.07 + 0.07 + 0.07 - Castron Fund - Castron Fund - Castron Hudson Convertildes Cas Convertildes In Fidelity Feel Styp	a 0 364 1-13 1330 10 a 0 36 2-15 1-15 a 0 30 2-1 1-11 10 12 1-13 13-31 co 0 30 1-13 13-31
+ 0.03 Fighter Scientific trach, Graco Inc 0.03 HoffwoodCanadia 0.01 Multiol Svips L/ In Wach, NYMAGIC Inc	8 8 14 12 2
+ 0.01 Perine Bencone Unct. Sel Corp + 0.05 Southment of Maker Southwestern Bet South Fund Inc Showk Wrister Inc	0 13 21 12 5.07% 1-19 1223 0.22% 1-19 1223 0.22% 1-19 1237 0 .11 3-15 3-1 0 .11 3-15 3-1 1 0 .77 2-1 1-10 3 .10 1-15 1230
- 0-07 - 0-07 - 0-08 Value Line Inc Value Line Inc Washington Tr Be Wiley (J) Sens ch Wiley (J) Sens ch	Q 23 2-1 1-15 Q 15 4-7 3-7 Q 20 1-15 12-31 Q 20 1-15 12-31 A 0.779 1-15 12-31
+ 0.14 + 0.14 + 0.14 + 0.14 - unment 27,475. Source: UP1.	thiy: 4-quarterly? #-semi-
ES
,Dec. 21
	ligh Low Open Hi
	1368 70% May 1100 1270 1123 Jul 1121 1280 1138 Sep 1144 31. Sales 2,829 Prev. Sales 3,461

Industrials

174.50 177.80 177.80 174.50 177.80 175.00 177.25 177.30 175.00 177.25 177.25 172.29 174.29 174.59 172.25 172.55 17 18.63 18.63 18.67 18.77 18.79 18.79 18.79 18.79 18.70 18.40 18.77 N.T.

Stock indexes

ciles 22,974

Low Close Chang

2649.0 2009.0 2640.0 + 353 2640.0 2640.0 2870.0 + 373 me: 6470. Open interest: 46,157.

Totory 0,558 0,657 1,1080 2,13,00 1,73 2,13,00 1,73 4,710 2,757 0,517

Per Amt Puy Re

200 2-1 1-15

Q .19 1-15 12-29 Q .4 1 1-29 12-31 Q .4 2 12 12 12 12 Q .4 2 17 1-29

1-12 12-02 1-29 1-11 1-29 1-11

INITIAL

Prev. 0.554 1.106

rces: Reuters, MattL Associated Press dan IniT Financial Futures Exchange

Chie

+2.00 +1.55 +1.55 +2.00 +1.55 +1.50 +1.50 +1.60

12.44 + 0.00 12.49 + 0.02 12.71 + 0.02 12.73 + 0.01 12.73 + 0.01 12.74 + 0.04 12.74 + 0.04 12.74 + 0.04 12.74 + 0.01 12.00 + 0.10 12.00 + 0.10 12.00 + 0.10

Low Lost

.Pre

1271 12.44 12.74 12.44 12.75 12.57 12.75 12.65 12.75 12.65 12.75 12.75 N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T. N.T.

oles 22,412 . Prev

Hick

IBM Recalls 2 Retired Executives

NEW YORK (AP) - International Business Machines Corp. said Monday it had called back two top executives from retirement to help manage the company as the world's biggest computer maker faces one of its worst slumps ever. The two executives, Paul Rizzo and Kaspar Cassani, will help John F. Akers, the IBM chairman, run the company as it attempts to stem an erosion of sales and declining profitability. Mr. Rizzo and Mr. Cassani both formerly were vice chairmen of IBM. Mr. Rizzo, 64, once was considered a leading contender to become chairman, but was passed over six years ago in favor of Mr. Akers, he retired in 1987. Mr. Cassani, also 64, headed IBM's important European operations for seven years, when business there grew steadily. He retired from IBM in 1989. IBM said last week that it would eliminete 25 000 more into protections.

1BM said last week that it would eliminate 25,000 more jobs next year and that it might slash its dividend. The company also said it would barely break even in the current quarter. The news sent IBM's stock price plunging to an 1 l-year low.

O&Y Faces Opposition From Banks TORONTO (Bloomberg) — Olympia & York Developments Ltd. will try to convince an Ontario court on Tuesday to allow it to hand control of its Aetna Centre to Prudential Insurance Co. of America.

Prudential holds a first mortgage on the Toronto office tower alter lending O&Y $155 million on Oct. 15, 1990. The loan was secured by the building's rental income. The ownership transfer could be blocked, however, by four of O&Y's banks, which together have 131 million Canadian dollars ($102 million)-worth of loans backed by a t00 percent stake in Olympia & York ACC Ltd., the O&Y subsidiary that owns Actna Centre.

Rating Lowered on Travelers Life

OLDWICK, New Jersey (Reuters) - A.M. Best Co. said Monday that it had lowered its rating to A- from A for Travelers Corp.'s life/health insurance unit, citing underperforming mortgage loans and real estate investments held by the company. Best said that the investments remained high by industry standards and the unit maintained financial strength because of the support of Travelers Corp.'s capital-raising efforts, the quality and liquidity of its securities portfolio and its strong position in the individual life and employee-benefit markets.

First Union to Buy Georgia Federal

ATLANTA (AP) --- First Union Corp. agreed Monday to buy Georgia

Federal Bank, the state's largest savings bank. The agreement calls for First Union, based in Charlotte, North Carolina, to pay $153 million in cash to Georgia Federal's parent company, First Financial Management Corp. Georgia Federal will pay $115 million in dividends to First Financial. Coergia Federal will pay $2.8 hillion

Georgia Federal has $4.5 billion in assets, including nearly $2.8 billion in deposits. The transaction will add $2.2 billion to First Union's mortgage-servicing portfolio, bringing it to nearly $40 billion.

Weekend Box Office

The Associated Press LOS ANGELES --- The courtroom drama "A Few Good Men" placed first again in the United States last weekend. Following are the Top 10 moneymakers, based op Friday ticket sales and estimated sales for Saturday and Sunday.

1. "A Few Good Men"	(Columbia)	$11 mtillion
2. "Aladdin"	(Disney)	57.2 mittion
1 "Home Alone 2"	(20th Century Fox)	SK8 million
4 "Forever Young"	(Warner Brothers)	sss million
5. "The Bodyguard"	(Worner Brothers)	5.5 m)@loo
4. "Toys"	20th Century Fox)	5 million
7, "The Moppet Christmas Corol"	(Disney)	4.3 mbillog
1. "The Distinguished Gentleman"	(Hollywood Pictures)	SI.7 million
9. "Leap of Fulth"	(Peromount)	SL4 million
16. "Molcolm X"	(Warner Brothers)	51,2 million

Close' Cha Low 1097 1139 1142 92.14 92.10 intes108,129 92.17 1100 111 92,14 40 15580.0001 1.5574 1.5570 1.5466 1.5470 1.5370 1.5490 1.5370 1.5390 1.5370 1.5490 1.5370 ----3.72% +.84% 3.53% +.81% 3.37% 2.13 +.86% JUICE (NYCE) +.00% CANADIAN DOLLAR (IMM)

tive economic stability, many spec-ulators and other market players

Even dealings among currencies

The French franc and the lira

in Europe's recently tumultuous exchange-rate mechanism were relatively calm.

The franc recouped some losses

The dollar ended up on the French franc, at 5.3610, against 5.3420 at Friday's close.

The pound ended at $1.5585 af-

"Everyone is flat as a board." said Ken Nixon, a customer dealer at Dai-Ichi Kangyo Bank in New York, of the fact that most hig and National Health Labs Inc. led the actives.

The company issued 135 million new common shares last week.

Monday's open but up from 1.2653 ai Friday's close. It is the Tuesday, to draw much reaction.	Intro. 0.007 Open Int. 46.273         117.00         97.00         Joint         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         400         410         100.00         410         410         100.00         410         100.00         410         410         100.00         410
WORLD STOCK MARKETS	Dec 21/72 11/72 11/72 11/72 31/75 00% HI GRADE COPPER (CDMEX) GERMAN MARK (IMM) Est Sales Pry Sales Pry Open Int Cha. 2500 lbs-centsper lb. Spec mark-1 coloi counts $10001
Agence France Press. Dec. 21 Clase Press. Clase Press. C
Amristerdam         Vince         122.59320.50         Gioxo         7.78         7.82         Donotue         N.0.         SCA-A         121         119         Alberte Energy         154.1           ABN Amristerdam         Voikswogen         24.39237.90         Grand Mel         4.41	Dec         Strike         Jarrie
Bata musun Tetil         24.29         41.70         HeldSinkty         127         127         128         127         123         127<	Tev. Dory Open Int 2015 of 1946         109.20         77.50         Dec 102.40         102.45         123.55         102.45         123.55         102.45         123.55         102.45         123.55         102.45         123.55         102.45         123.55         102.45         123.55         123.55         123.55         123.55         123.55         123.55         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57         123.57 <th1< td=""></th1<>
Class Prev.         All Preverous Prev.         Preverous Prev.         Preverous Prev.         Prever
Hunch Whamboo 14.10 14 Smith Killing B 5.15 5.02 Mautilinex 86 20.00 JOKYO Jappack 1314 13	Solver and Solver 100 to a.       37.50 and 57.00 and 100 to 32.60 and 32.50 and 35.50
	CATTLE (CME)       CATTLE (CME)       CATTLE (CME)       CATTLE (CME)       CATTLE (CME)         MU00 [bscomps per tb.       Statu Dec 34230 3429 3429 3429 3429 3429 3429 3429 1420 1320 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 100 1
Schwart         Tractise         Machine         Machine         Machine           UC6         2200 2275         Anisech         30 120         30 12	Best Scient NLTM TYPE Scient of the Provide of the
Allion: Hold       Hormony       4.35 A35       Hormony       4.35 A35       Hormony       4.37 A35       Hormony	Prev. Dor Open mil. 1.556 up 72       1814-97       184-97       182-92
Bar, Huse bank         372         371         Schematik         6003 <td>Prev Dov Open Inf. 29/20 off 117         T02-20 file/20 bec 183-9 180-1 182-7 +13         PC CMAP. INDEX (CMED           PORK GELLIES (CMAE)         Prev Dov Open Inf. 192,35 off 5         Prev Soles 31,472         Prev Soles 31,472           40,00 Back cents per Ib.         82.40 21.75 28.10 28.25 -45         Prev Dov Open Inf. 194,35 0773,781         US TREASURY BONDS (CTT)         Prev Soles 31,472           47,00 33,55 Mory 33.99 40.40 27.5 28.10 28.25 -45         TREASURY BONDS (CTT)         Prev Soles 31,472         Prev Soles 31,472           47,00 33,55 Mory 33.99 40.40 27.5 28.10 28.25 -45         TREASURY BONDS (CTT)         Prev Soles 31,472         Prev Soles 51,477           46,70 34.35 Mory 33.99 40.40 27.5 28.10 28.25 -45         TREASURY BONDS (CTT)         Prev Soles 51,877         Prev Soles 51,877           45,70 34.30 Aug 31.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10</td>	Prev Dov Open Inf. 29/20 off 117         T02-20 file/20 bec 183-9 180-1 182-7 +13         PC CMAP. INDEX (CMED           PORK GELLIES (CMAE)         Prev Dov Open Inf. 192,35 off 5         Prev Soles 31,472         Prev Soles 31,472           40,00 Back cents per Ib.         82.40 21.75 28.10 28.25 -45         Prev Dov Open Inf. 194,35 0773,781         US TREASURY BONDS (CTT)         Prev Soles 31,472           47,00 33,55 Mory 33.99 40.40 27.5 28.10 28.25 -45         TREASURY BONDS (CTT)         Prev Soles 31,472         Prev Soles 31,472           47,00 33,55 Mory 33.99 40.40 27.5 28.10 28.25 -45         TREASURY BONDS (CTT)         Prev Soles 31,472         Prev Soles 51,477           46,70 34.35 Mory 33.99 40.40 27.5 28.10 28.25 -45         TREASURY BONDS (CTT)         Prev Soles 51,877         Prev Soles 51,877           45,70 34.30 Aug 31.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10 32.10 24.10
Converse         Strict of the normal st	17.500 bits - contributor (b) 94.57     51.45     Mor (6.20) 94.57     12.00 bits - contributor (b) 94.57     51.45     Mor (6.20) 94.57     12.00 bits - contributor (b) 94.57     51.45     Mor (6.20) 94.57     12.00 bits - contributor (b) 94.57     14.10     96.24     119     Est. Soles     Prev. Soles/12.375     Prev. Soles/13.375     Prev. Sole
Allandia Torio       1789 T123       1780 T123<	COFFFEE C (AVCSCE)       772       771       771       771       772       771       262.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0       22.0

A set of the set of

EUROPI

Paris

Page 11

+0.30

669.40

Italy Makes Final Offer On Bank

LOS

; Cg

100 S. 100

iank

< i.,

· · · · , ·

1.5

ile

 $v \in_{\mathbb{R}^n}$

÷.

ieral

 $1 \, (\mu_{\rm c}$

 $\pm \Lambda_{2}$

.

 $\frac{1}{2}$

1.7

: 11

2.2

1

- 3

44

Bloomberg Business News ROME --- The Italian Treasury has made a final offer to a group of savings-and-loan banks to sell 42 percent of the merchant bank Isti-tuto Mobiliare Italiano for 3.2 trilliop lire ($2.3 billion), a Treasury official said Monday. Talks between the Treasury and Cassa di Risparmin delle Provinrie Loinbatde, or Cariplo, Italy's largest savings-and-lnan bank, and leeri an organization that represents Italy's savings-andloans, have dragged on for months with the two sides arguing over price and method of payment. Proceeds from the sale of IMI are included in the government's projected budget for 1992.

The Treasury had been seeking to sell its 50 percent stake for 4 trillion lire. The other half of IMI is held by a group of banks and credit insulutions, including Cariplo.

Under the most recent plan, the Treasury's remaining 8 percent would be floated on the stock market later.

The new price is the minimum one recommended in a study carried out by the British merchant bank S.G. Warburg, the Treasury spokesman said. The savings banks have until the end of the year to decide, otherwise the government will look elsewhere for buyers, the spokesman said. A quarter of the purchase price must be paid now, with the rest paid at an interest rate linked to government bonds.

By Richard W. Stevenson New York Times Service

ومتعادية ومعادية منافعة والمتعادية والمراجع

-

among commercial property owners and tenants unable to purchase insurance against terrorist attacks, the British government agreed Monday to help insure buildings against damages from bombs set off by the Irish Republican Army. The government, acting under pressure from the insurance industry, landlords and commercial tenants, said it would act as an insurer of last resort in the event that insurance companies could not cover the losses from bomb damages. With Britain suffering from the worst wave of IRA bombings and threats in decades, British insurers have stopped offering new policies to cover terrorisi attacks and have said they will be unable to renew expiring policies on Jan. 1, leaving virtually all office buildings and other commercial structures in London and around the country uninsured against bomb damage. The insurers acted after a series of small bombs were set off by the IRA in London and other cities, and after police foiled attempts last month to set off two huge, one-ton bombs in London's finan-cial district. A bomb attack last April in the City caused would be better. But officials said they were New York Times Service LONDON — Faced with a potential crisis 2800 million ($1.25 billion) in damage.

Business executives in London had said they were fearful that the wave of IRA bombing attempts, should they prove successful, could cripple the property and insurance industries if the government did not step in with financial assistance. "Without this agreement, terrorism attacks on the British mainland would have meant utter disaster for the U.K. economy," said Tony Baker, a spokesman for the Association of British Insurers.

Britain to Help With Bomb Insurance

Insurers said they had been unable to find reinsurers who were willing to share the risk of covering bomb damage. In its announcement Monday; the government said it would act temporarily as a reinsurer in Britain, paying damages above a certain level that is still being negoliated with the insurance industry. in Northern Ireland, the government acts as an insurance company itself, covering busi-nesses against loss from attacks in return for premiums paid directly to the government. Government officials said they had been

London Foils EC Bid to Fund HDTV Next Year

ued to block a plan to finance the development

According to the EC plan, 80 million European currency units ($100 million) would be used to promote HDTV next year and a multi-year action plan would be drawn up for future support of the Community's HDTV approach.

increasingly fearful that a successful IRA bomh could badly harm the reputation of London as a financial center.

"It is the government's objective that its involvement should be of limited duration and should cause the minimum interference necessary with the working of the market," said Michael Heseltine, the trade and industry secretary. Mr. Heseltine said details of the plan were being worked out. Industry executives said the program would probably involve the insurance industry contributing funds, paid for by higher premiums, into its own reinsurance bool. Any damages above the amount in the sool would be paid for by the government. News reports have put the size of the industry pool at around $500 million.

Now, insurers are expected to begin selling policies again; although at higher rates. Mr. Heselune said the government was nifering only to help insurance companies pay off claims on insured risks, and that the government would not reimburse property owners who did not buy insurance on their own.

million Ecus over five years as part of a plan to companies.

Maxwell Payment Ordered

Compiled by Our Stalf From Dispatches LONDON - A London High Court on Monday ordered lar Maxwell, a son of the late publishing magnate Robert Maxwell, to pay £500,000 ($780,000) to a pension fund his father Inoted. Judge John Chadwick found that lan Maxwell, 36, was in breach of his duly as a director of Bishopsgale investment Management, which ran some pension funds for Robert Maxwell's Mirror Group Newspapers. The judge said Ian Maxwell had erred in signing stock-transfer forms without obtaining assurances that they had been approved by the fund's board.

The judge said Ian Maxwell's claim that he had presumed the documents to be authorized be cause his brother, Kevin, had signed them, was insufficient. The judge said the £500,000 was an interim award, pending an assess-ment of the full amount due.

In July, a court ruled that the liquidators of Bishopsgate were owed £406.5 million by Kevin Maxwell.

belp the norm developed by Dutch and French lan Maxwell was not in court. His solicitor said he may appeal. Britain said it supported a commitment of 80 After Rubert Maxwell was found million Ecus in 1993 but maintained its opposidead in the sea off the Canary Istion to the principle of a long-term action plan. lands in November 1991, details of his illegal business practices be-It also repeated a call for an urgent review of HDTV technology in the light of recent pro-gress in competing digital systems, the officials came known.

Investigators believe more than $600 million is missing from Max-well pension funds, and another This strategy contrasted with annther plan. A decision must be reached by the end of the that was backed last week by the 11 other EC member countries and which would devote 500 1993 bndget, which must be signed by Dec. 31. 5700 million missing from Mr. Maxwell's companies. Very little of the money has been found.

Earlier this month, the brothers New Cellular Net for Norway were remanded on bail until April. Kevin, the former chief executive of Maxwell Communication Corp., which owns the U.S. publisher Macmillan, is charged with eight counts of theft and conspiracy to defraud totaling more than £135 million. (AP, Reuters)

DAX	FTSE 100 I	index	CAC 40	. 4
1908	- 2800 -	6T	2100	··
1800		· ····	2000	*
1790	2500	v .	1900.
1600 -	. 2500 -		1800 - 1800
1506	NA 200 - 1		1700	LY.
1400	0000		1000	1
1992	DND 1992	OND	1992	OND
Exchange	Index .	Monday	Prev.	%
		Close	Close	Change
Amsterdam	CBS Trend	104.40	103,50	+0.87
Brussels	Stock Index	5,528.32	.5,489.44	+0.71
Frankfurt	DAX	1,515,58	1,492.04	+1.58
Frankfust	FAZ	593.79	585.66	+1.39
Holsinki	HEX	810.04	816.68	-0.81
London	· Financial Times 30·	2,159.70	2,147.60	+0.56
London	FTSE 100	2,807.70	2,789.70	+0.65
Madrid	General Index	217.20	215.66	+0.71
Mian	MB	847.00	840.00	+0.83
Paris	CAC 40	1,786.29	- 1,760.12	+1.49
Stockhoim	Affaersvaerkden	1,053.41	1,021.33	+3.14
Vienna	Stock Index	336.02	333.34	+0.80 -

London

Investor's Europe

Frankfurt

Very briefly:

Sources: Reuters, AFF

SBS

Zurich

• AMB Aachener & Münchener Beteiligungs AG said the agreement to sell a majority stake in BIG Bank to Crédit Lyonnais would be signed according to plan before Christmas.

671.40

• NetBoyd NV said that a decision would be made in the first half of January about the request by a board member. Torstein Hagen, for air extraordinary shareholders' meeting.

SNECMA Chairman Gerard Renon warned of a large loss in 1992 and said the company would have trouble breaking even next year.

· Philips Electronics NV President Jan Timmer said that a restructuring program was beginning to bear fruit after two years.

· Saint-Gobain SA Chairman Jean-Louis Beffa said maintenance of the dividend would be a priority even though "1992 will have been relatively difficult and 1993 will be as well."

• Standard & Poor's Corp. said it placed the BBB+ long-term rating of the Swedish industrial group SKF AB on Credit Watch with negative implications.

. Lasmo PLC said it would raise $145.5 million from asset sales in the North Sea and Indonesia.

· Philips Lighting Poland, which was bankrup: when Philips Electronics NV took it over less than two years agn, said it would post a profit of $F.3 million in its 1992 financial year. AFX, Remera, AFP

(Continued from first finance page) ing the chairman of Warner Brothers, Robert Daly, have worked for Mr. Ross for as much as 15 years. Mr. Levin is thought to have the that about two months ago he had support of top executives, includasked at least a dozen people to ing Mr. Daly and Robert Morgado, who heads Warner's Music Group, and Michael Fuchs, who beads Home Box Office, And be has managed to reassure executives of Time's magazine division that be will remain committed to that business. 1

Several industry executives say, bowever, that those allegiances appear to be tentative in some cases. Without Mr. Ross's blessing, these executives say, the editorial operauons may be less secure.

Indeed, a decision last week to reduce the size of the board by six members has already raised some the discussions said doctors for Mr.

questions about potential friction at Ross had expected him to be able to ecutive and president, now be-the company as Mr. Levin secures discuss business matters by Janu- comes chief executive under the his power base and begins to put his own stamp on Time Warner. ary; this person said it was "unseemly" not to wait, since Mr. Ross's condition was then seen as improv-An associate of Mr. Levin said

AFP-Extel News

between Britain and the EC Commission over strategies for funding the development of European high-definitinn television in 1993 and be-ynnd. EC Council sources said. "A legal basis was required by the end of this year to release money for 1993." said one source at the council, which groups the EC governments. "This has not happened. As things stand, there will be no EC money for HDTV next year." EC Council officials said that Britain contin-

Not that be should have vetoes. provide suggestions for new board members. The board had long inbut that be should have the right to express them," this person said. He added that he thought there was a race to make the board changes tended to reduce its size from 21 members, and had asked the former Time Inc. chairman, J. Richard Munro, and Hugh F. Culverbouse. a former Warner director and a partner of the Culverhouse & Botts law firm, to suggest which directors might be asked to resign. While several executives agreed that Mr. Ross knew of the plan to reduce the board's size, he had been before Mr. Ross could express his objections and noted there were now no insiders with affiliations to Warner on the board; both Mr.

Levin and Mr. Munro were Time insiders. But another executive close to the Time Warner board said directors had planned to make the too ill since the fall to be consulted changes by the end of this year. The on the names, these executives said. actions last week were consistent One executive with knowledge of with that goal, this executive said. Mr. Levin, who was co-chief ex-

BRUSSELS — Talks broke down Monday etween Britain and the EC Commission over rategies for funding the development of Euro-trategies for funding the development of Euro-company's bylaws. The board has the right to designate him chairman but the directors, in an informal telephone discussion Sunday, chose to postpone that decision feeling it would be inappropriate at this time.

Time Warner executives will be watching carefully to see what members of Mr. Ross's team remain in place. One important if less visible ally of Mr. Ross, Ed Aboodi, the man who worked perhaps more closely with the chair-man than any other executive in structuring a wide variety of deals, will also be closely watched.

Mr. Daly and the president of Warner Brothers, Terry Semel,

RUSSIA: A Moscow Banker Criticizes Strict Adherence to IMF Guidelines (Continued from page 1) dar of impoverishing the nation with his free-market economic poli-

A . . . . .

day, has spoken in favor of change in general but has appeared uncer-tain or negative about Mr. Gaidar's policy in the few specific comments he has made since his appointment. The continuing conservative

Photos and the second second

1. 105

clear to what extent Mr. Yeltsinwould follow the banker's suggessia's new government would soon abandon key aspects of Mr. Gaidar's free-market policies, pumping large new credits into the system. despite the risk of inflation The banker said that Russia foreign investment and integrating Russia into the world economy. And Mr. Kulikov proposed the recreation of a host of massive state banks that existed in Soviet times - the Industrial Construction Bank, the Agricultural Bank and others - to support industry in a way that he said commercial banks could not. He bemoaned the recent :

"Unfortunately, everything was decided by the Monetary Fund instead of the central bank, and we had to he robots, obediently for lowing the goals set for us," Mr. Kulikov said, according to Izvestian

The angry statement by Mr. Yeltsin's spokesman came after Mr. Khasbulatov allegedly said; "If the press secretary dares say, a single word against me, he will be thrown out and destroyed." ୍. ମ

1. 1711 POID BERARD I - 1 + 1915 61 11 11 12

As far top management, both

TIME WARNER: Can Ross's Successor Preserve the Mix of Cultures? Reuters SINGAPORE — Singapore Te-lecom and Ameritech Corp. will jointly operate a digital cellular phone system in Norway. Singa-pore Telecom said Monday. The system will be operating by July 1.

banner Izvestia article quoting Mr. eign exchange rate, a key change by Kulikov, although it remained un- Mr. Gaidar aimed at encouraging

Mr. Chernomyrdin, who is ex-pected to name his cabinet Tues-tions. Mr. Kulikov reportedly tald a council of industrialists that Rus-have contracts that expire in a year. pressure seemed clear in Monday's would soon abandon the single for-influence of Westerners.

PRESENTING AT&T

WORLD CONNECT SERVICE.

IT'S GOT THE WHOLE

WORLD TALKING.

When you're outside the US, country to country calls haven't always been that east to make. Today, with an AT&T Card they can be, thanks to our

AT&T World Connect™ Service. When business takes you where World Connect<sup>344</sup> is available, dial the appropriate AT&T USADirect* Service access number. In seconds, AT&T can connect you with any other country in the World Connect system. You'll find some of our European access numbers at the bottom of this page. For a full list of World Connect countries, call AT&T collect at 412 553-7458, Ext. 611. AT&T World Connect Service. It puts the world at your fingertips.

*Austria 022 903 011 + *Denmark 8001-0010 + France 19 0011 + Germany** 0130 0010 + *Greece 00-800-1311 + Ireland 1-800-550-000 + *Netherlands 06-022 9111 + *Sweden 020-795 611 + *Switzerland 155 00-11 + UK 0800-89 0011

Page 12	INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBU	NE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1992	*
A FREE HOL	GIFT SUBSCRIPTION MEANS DAY GIFT — PLUS FREE WEEKS

• -

A

•

$

A FREE HOLIDAY GIFT — PLOS FREE WEEKS ADDED TO YOUR OWN SUBSCRIPTION HIGHS off Has westerned porte Aubscription to the IHT is an ideal years ong wift for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for a friend or business acquaintance specially at our special gift rate of up to soft for our subscription will automatically to up the Oxford Atts Encycloped at first time, and you choose a six or soft for a busines our our specify, to the soft or fail us copies for each order. And
In addition, we will extend your       leave the rest to us.         subscription by one week for each month's gift         leave the rest to us.         Description by one week for each month's gift         Provide Press in another the subscription term you prefer and fill in the recipient's name and complete address.         Address         Presse indicate which gift subscription term you prefer and fill in the recipient's name and complete address.         Image: Colspan="2">Image: Colspan="2"         Image: Colspan="2"         Image: Colspan="2"         Image: Colspan="2	Continued on next left-band page         ESCORTS & GUIDES         INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED         BELLE EPOCH ESCORT Service Deficit Agence Code Code Webces         INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED         INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED

۰, ۵

.

	INTERNAT	L Div Yid PE 1005 High Low 4 Pix Chige	AY, DECEMBER 22, 1992	rack Div Yis PE Sis High Low 4 P.4. Chips 12 Migh L	Page
Bit         Bit         Ide         Ide <th></th> <th></th> <th></th> <th></th> <th>A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A</th>					A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A A

•

· 44

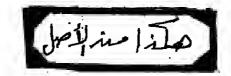

•

.

**`

Page 14	INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBU	NE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 19	992	/

subsidiary.

been made.

Page 15

ASIA / PACIFIC

China to Remain Active in World Metals Trade

BELJING - China will maintain its high

· []

profile on world metals markets next year as the country's economic boom keeps demand high, the president of the state metals trading company said Monday.

Fang Dacheng, the president of the China National Nonferrous Metals Import & Export Corp., said the country forecast high demand for copper, aluminum and other indemand for copper, automation and outer in-dustrial metals to supply factories and ex-panded industrial-development programs. "This year has been active, and next year looks to be the same," Mr. Fang said. China's gross national product is now forecast to rise by 12 percent in 1992, and China National has led Beijing's push for increased international metals trading this year, mostly on the London Metals Exchange. The company has two main subsidiaries overseas; Sinomet U.K. in London and Nonferrous Metals National alone to import about 200,000 tons USA Inc. in New York.

Copper has become a major import as Chi-na expands industrial development. Mr. Fang said domestic copper demand was estimated at about 700,000 metric tons in 1992, compared with a high of about 900,000 tons in 1988 when Chine's economy went into a period of overheating. Annual demand was held at 600.000 to 650,000 tons during the three-year austerity program that Beijing ordered at the end of 1988 and declared officially over in March.

domestic production by about 4 percentage . points a year over the next several years,

This year's economic surge pushed China of copper and copper products, Mr. Fang said. Industry analysts have forecast China's

"We estimate that by the year 2000, copper demand will have risen by about 35 percent overall," Mr. Fang said.

He said the domestic aluminum market was also having a surge in demand, but added that so far Beijing saw little need to sharply increase imports.

flash to become a visble replacement, it has to offer the same storage capacity in much smaller sizes.

"Our demand jumped by about 12 percent this year," he said, adding that growth in demand would continue to outstrip growth in 65 percent by 1995 as new production facilities are due to come on line.

Stake in Allied Unit Allied Group ended at 54 cents, Bloomberg Business News down 1 cent HONG KONG - The investment concern Allied Group said Allied Group, which is controlled by the Malaysian entrepreneur Lee Monday that it had been ap-proached by an independent Chi-Ming Tee, has sold off a string of its interests since the government probe into suspicious reshuffling of assets na-based party interested in buying the group's 57.6 percent stake in Allied Industries International, a between group companies began. Many of Allied's assets have gone to companies in China. Allied Group, whose affairs have #### been under investigation by a Hong Cathay Offers Raise Kong government-appointed in-

Chinese Firm Seeks

Cathay Pacific Airways said spector for four mooths, said the spproach had been oral and unso-Monday that its 1993 pay offer to licited. It said no formal offer had Hong Kong-hased staff was equivalent to an average 10 percent raise in a separate statement, made at and reflected competition in the the request of the Hong Kong stock industry and Hong Kong's high inexchange, Allied Industries said its flation rate. directors were not aware of any rea-. The company said its offer was 6 percent plus 150 Hong Kong dol-lars per mooth and an annual inson for recent increases in the price and trading volume of its shares. The company said it was aware crement that would represent a further 3 percent increase on average. But Cathry unions say the offer of the approach made to the parent group about the controlling stake is really just 6 percent, well below the government's inflatioo forecast and advised shareholders to exercise extreme cautioo while trading in its shares and warrants. Allied Industries' shares closed of 9.5 percent for 1992.

Cathay, which is controlled by the Hoog Kong cooglomerate Swire Pacific Ltd., said that many airlices were cutting salaries or staff pumbers and that it thought

Investo	or's Asia
Hong Kong Hang Seng	Singapore Straits Time	s N	'okyo likkei 225
6500	1600	2	0000
6000VA	1500	: 1	8125 M	Re. Art
5500 - HY V	1400 - 14	- M - 1	8250 A	-¥
5000	1300	₩ 	4375
4500 J A S.D 1992	N D 1200 J A S 1992	OND 1	2500 JAS 1992	OND
Exchange	Index	Monday Close	Prev. Close	% Change
Hong Kong	Hang Seng	5,242.48	5,192.66	+0.96
Singapore	Straits Times	1,511.49	1,491.80	+1.32
Sydney	All Ordinaries	1,537.00	1,515.60	+1.41
Tokyo	Nikkei 225	17,645.44	17,680.74	-0.20
Kuala Lumpur	Composite	643.60	641.08	+0.39
Bangkok	SET	871.33	848.97	+2.63
Seoul	Composite Stock	653.46	663.31	-1,48
Taipel	Weighted Price	3,576.09	3,657.99	-2.24
Manila	Composite	1,207.48	1,215.81	-0.69
Jakarta	Stock Index	270.45	271.85	-0.51
New Zealand	NZSE-40	1,529.12	1,509.18	+1.32
Bombey	National Index	1,156.40	1,132.00	+2.16

Very briefly:

Company of the local data

• China Airlines' first public stock offering was oversubscribed by eight times, incomplete results showed; the company offered 41 million shares. or 5 percent of the company, at 68 Taiwan dollars ($2.70) a share.

• Formosa Plastics Corp., Taiwan's largest industrial conglomerate, said it would spend $250 million to expand its U.S. investments.

· Pacific Electric Wire & Cable Co., one of Taiwan's largest cable companies, expects to increase its 4.8 percent stake in Chroon Thai Wire Cable & Wire Co. of Thailand,

South Korea's economy will grow Dext year by 5.8 percent, up from this year's estimate of 4.9 percent, the central bank projected.

• BHP Minerals, an arm of the Australian resources giant Broken Hill Pty., has submitted a plan for the development of the Udokan copper deposit in Siberia, Russia's largest known minerals deposit.

 National Mutual Life Association of Australasia Ltd., Australia's second higgest life insurance group, reported a oet loss of 46.6 million Australian dollars ($32 million) in the year to Sept. 30.

. J. P. Morgan & Co. and Industrial Credit & Investment Corp. of India will form a joint-venture investment bank for underwriting, advisory, securities trading and selected financing activities.

Bloomberg, Reuters, AFP, AP

Chief's Departure Toshiba and Samsung Join Forces Opens the Way

developed as a next-generation storage device, and is expected to be a replacement for hard-disk

For Astra's Sale

Renters

JAKARTA -PT Astra International's chairman. Sumitro Djojo-hadikusumo, who has been blocking the conglomerate's takeover by Indonesian businessmen, has announced he will resign Tuesday.

The Soeryadiaya family has been forced to sell its controlling stake in Astra to bail out the family's lossridden Samma Group.

"With my resignation from PT Astra International, any Astra share sale by the Soeryadjaya family would no longer need my approval." Astra quoted Mr. Sumitro as saying.

Analysts said Mr. Sumitro had become an obstacle to bids for Astra by two consortiums. One is led by the timber tyccon Prayogo Pangestu and the other by Mr. Sumitro's son, Hasjim Djojohadikusumo. The elder Sumitro has said he preferred pension funds to buy the shares.

· .:

12

.

:

· · ·

۰.

· '

 $\cdot$  :

. 7

He said Toyota Motor Corp., which owns 51 percent of Astra's main unit, PT Toyota Astra Motors, was worried by the sale of 44.5 percent of Astra to Mr. Prayogo, Compiled by Our Staff From Dispatches megabyte and larger flash-memory ever smaller in physical size. For TOKYO — Toshiba Corp. an-nounced Monday an eight-year alli-ance with Samsung Electronics Co. chips. Flash memory is being actively of South Korea in a bid to establish of Sould Korea in a bin to establish Toshiba's flash-memory chip tech-nology in a standard format. Like the battle over which com-pany's software a computer uses, the fight to establish a world standard for flash chips offers rich re- high-powered computers. wards for the victor. Flash memory is a type of data-storage chip for But existing flash memory chips computers that does not lose the including those made by Intel Corp. stored contents when disconnected of the United States, the world's from its power source. leading maker, have only a 4-mega-Under the agreement, Toshiba will transfer technology and circuit data to Samsung, and Toshiba will byte capacity. The hard disks they are eventually intended to replace have capacities of more than five design, develop and produce 15- times as much and are becoming

Nomura Disciplines 3 Executives

United Press International

TOKYO - Nomura Securities Co. announced punitive measures Mooday against three executives in connection with questionable sales of securities backed by U.S. real estate as collateral.

The brokerage received a warning on Fridey from the Finance Ministry for selling the securities without explaining the high risks involved to investors. Atsushi Saito, executive managing director, was demoted to managing director, Hideo Sakamaki, president, took a 20 percent pay cut and Tadashi Takubo, executive managing director, a 10 percent pay cut, both for a year,

Joining with Samsung, the lead-ing South Korean maker, offers Toshiba a chance to dislodge Intel. on Friday at 1.09 Hong Kong dol-The company will be looking to lars (14 U.S. cents), up from 74 Samsung to provide some stiff Hong Kong cents only six trading airlices were cut price competition for the Ameri-cans. (Bloomberg AFP) ther 3 cents on Mooday to 1.12. its offer was fair.

Hyundai Pledges to Stay Out of Politics

SEOUL - Hyundai Group, the South Korean multinational that became embroiled in presidential politics when the group founder, Chung Ju Yung, ran for election, pledged Monday to concentrate oo business in the future and stay out of politics.

"Since President-elect Kim Young Sam insists on pational reconciliation, I hope he would show tolerance and generosity toward Hyundai," Chung Se Yung, the chairman, said at a meeting of Hyun-dai executives. "I promise the company will never again be swayed by political winds."

of Chung Ju Yuog's campaign, Chung Se Yung threatened to close the company chairman, developed presidential ambitions earlier this year and irritated the political establishment. Tempers flared in the rup-up to Friday's election, when the police swooped on the conglomerate in search of evidence of alleged illegal funding unless the police stopped investigations but withdrew the warning later.

The police say they suspect that Hyundai satel-lites illegally funneled nearly 45 billion woo ($57 million) into the campaign. Mr. Chung finished third behind Mr. Kim and The government and Hyundai have been in dis-pute since Chung Ju Yung, the older brother of the less than 17 percent of the popular vote. ADVERTISEMENT Dec. 21, 1992

w Abba Hersshere Neutrul:         10.32           w Abba Lamoni Sock Mole Full         20.132           w Abba Lamoni Sock Mole Full         30.422           w Abba Portific Fund Lid	c S Fixed 13 7% 176SF       YG,100         c G Fixed 10A 8% 176DA       111555         d G Fixed 10A 8% 176DA       104_E0         d G Fixed 10A 8% 176DA       107         d G Euro Bloc Chips 2       DM         d G Start 7. Bond 5A       JM         d G Start Market Fd IA       JM         d G	BORD PORT_DIS 232       DWR       545         G DEM BORT_DIS 217       SF       212         G Everaped Balt_Dis 217       SF       212         G Everaped Balt_Dis 217       SF       212         G Everaped Balt_Dis 117       SF       212         G Storling Balt_Dis 117       Storling Balt_Dis 117       112         G Gernand       Storling Balt_Dis 117       112         G Dis Dent_Dis 128       Storling Balt_Dis 117       112         G Everaped       SC       117         G Gernand       Storling Markats       S       227         G Gernand       Storling Markats       S       227         G Gernand       Second       Second       3247         G Gernand       Second       Second       3247         G Morth America       Second       Second       3247         G Sernand Response       Second       Second       Second         G March Marchina       Second       Second       Second         G Sernand Network       Second       Second       Second         G Second Network       Second Network       Second Network       Second Network         G Second Network       Second Network       Second Network       Seco	d G.T. Delice Fund	<pre>setist prime Dived Proy_set PLAD AuthOC: DV_SET_ENATIONAL FUTURES ANAL CALABAR CAR MOMT DETERMINED TO MALABAR CAR MOMT DETERMINED TO MALABAR CAR MOMT DETERMINED TO MALABAR CAR MOMT DETERMINED TO MALABAR CAR MOMT DETERMINED ANALIS CALABORAL FUTURES ANALIS CALABORAL F</pre>	Possible of Part Processing of Processi	diolocation       1000000000000000000000000000000000000	<pre>v Green Growth Trial 72/40 v Levis Accord Trial 79 v Accord Trial</pre>
- Austration Local Astronomy Astr	chillings; BF - Belgian Francs; CS- Canadian Doj manufourg Francs; p-pence; Pias - Pesetas; SC ; p - New; S - suspanded; SS - Stock Split; "der; x-not registered with regulatory authority.	5 - Shugapare Dollary, SF - Swigs France, Y - Yi Ex-Dividend; Ex-Ris; - @ Other Price hack 3	nr; s* astad + - Other Phoes; N.A % prelim. charge; *- Parls exchange;++-	For information on	how to list your fund,	fax Simon OSBORN o	on (33-1) 46 37 21 33.

Page 16

Pa

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1992

SPORTS BASKET

Petrovic Gets Points By Playing Defense

Drazen Petrovic isn't playing in the National Basketball Associa-tion because of his defensive abili-than when 1 scored 25 or 30 points sey Nets' shooting guard.

The Sacramento Kings tried to age. "I've been working hard in Petrovic stole it.

NBA HIGHLIGHTS

made the tactic backfire on them. position to break its losing streak He scored 19 points, but it was late in the fourth quarter. his two steals in the final 70 sec-

were 33 lead changes and 19 ties mond on the right side of the floor

ty. In fact, there are teams that try because I played tough defense," to take advantage of the New Jer-said Petrovic, who is seventh in the league in scoring with a 23.8 averpractice and 1 think my defense is getting better." Sacramento, which has oow lost do that Sunday night, and Petrovic 10 straight road games, seemed in

Spud Webb sank a 12-foot us two steats in the final 70 sec-oods, one of which led to Chucky jumper aod Mitch Richmood Brown's go-ahead slam dunk, that scored on a driving lay-up follow-most helped the Nets win, 104-98, ing Webh's steal for a 97-94 lead and handed the Kings their eighth straight loss. Sector of the first steal for a 97-94 lead with 1:36 to go. Brown got New Jersey within a point by hitting two Neither team led by more than the final six-point margin. There were 33 lead changes and 19 ties and the game was up for grabs in and he tried to back in co Petrovic, the final minute. However, the Nets guard poked the ball away, Anderson grahbed it and fed Brown for a slam dunk and a 98-97 lead. "They ruo that play all the time," Petrovie said, "I knew from the scouting reports what to expect, so I was able to knock the ball away. I think it was a big-time defensive play." After the Nets gave a foul with The Associated Press The embarrassment on Eric Lin-dros's face was brighter than his orange jersey.

fouled and made two free throws for a 100-97 lead with 21.3 seconds

Richmond threw up a 2-point shot with about 14 seconds to go. Lionel Simmoos rebounded, hut was poiots and a career-high 24 rebounds for the Nets. Richmond topped Sacramento with 18 points, hut only four came rassed, as did the rest of the Flyers. ejection of Clyde Drexter to beat They managed just 19 shots against Golden State and end the Warriors' the first-year Lightning and fell to five-game winning streak.

The Lightoing got two goals came the 20th player in NBA histo-from Brian Bradley and a superb ry to surpass 10,000 rebounds and checking job on Lindros from Steve 10,000 points in his career. Wil-kasper, acquired from Philadel-liams, in his 12th season in the Only three other active players

BLUE NOTE — Terry Dehere had a jam session against Fairleigh Dickinson, with 19 points as No. 7 Seton Hall won, 81-61. But his coach, P.J. Carlesimo, said, "We're the biggest fraud" in the country. Adv. Adv. and that when the set of the set o

SCOREBOARD

6.7 (3)	1367.1		1.40	NE Illinois 85, Aqui N. Carolina 103, But				Buffala Hartford	14	14 20			48 123 99 144
				Notre Come 73. Bos		70. OT		Ottown					75 163
NBA Star	ndinas			PAR	WEST			CAMPBEL	LÕ					6. Merle, 173; 7. Eder, 163; 8. Chantol Bour-
		_	_	Californio 80, Sonta	Clora 73					livisie				nissen, Switzerland, 160; 9, Katrin Gutensohn,
EACT	ERN CONFER			New Mexico %, Tex	as Tech 75				w			ts G	F GA
CAS I	Aliantic Divisia			Xovier, Ohio 75, Ric	e 60			Chicego	17	12	4	42 1	18 95
	W L	Pct	~	TOURN	AMENTS			Minnesoto	17	12			13 106
New York	16 7	496	GB	Son Juo	n Shootout			Detroil	10	16			47 132
Orlando	11 9	.550	342	First	Roand			Tompe Boy	14	20			25 133
New Jersey	ម៉ា	543	342	E, Michigan 69, Ill,-C				Toronto	13	15	4	30 1	02 108
Boston	10 13	435	3-2	Iowo 101, American	U., P.R. 47			SL Louis	11	10	4	26 1	15 123	4. Lebedeva, 00: 7. Lee-Garmer, 76; 8. Merie.
Woshington	7 16	.304		Mississippi 51, 58, Fi	a. Internat	lonal 57		Smyt	te D	tvision	1			74; (11e) Genety, 74; 10, Hoeusi, 72,
Alami	6 15	285		S, Illinois 108, Radio	rd 82			Calgary	20	10	4	4 1	24 105
Philodelphia	6 75	284						Los Angeles	30	10	4	44 1	55 123
, manual and	Central Division		•	The AP Top 2	5			Vancouver	79	10	3	6 1	47 100	TRANSACTIONS
Chicago	15 7	682						Edmonton	12	17	5	29	96 135
Indiana	13 10	.565	242	College basketball	poll with	n first-p	loop	Winnipeg	11	17	3	25 10	04 126	BASEBALL
Cleveland	13 11	541	3.	votes in pareniheses,	records thr	ough De	c. 20,	Son Jose	5	27	1	11 9	9e 170
Detroil	11 10	524	312	total points based on 2	5 points for	o first-p	NOCE	N.Y. Islanders	1	11	ġ.			BALTIMORE-Decilned to tender 1993 con-
Chorlotte	12 17	522	315	vole through one pol	nt for g 251	h-place	vote	Quebec	3	11-0	5			tracts to Bob Millacki and Mark Williamson.
Ationite	11 12	478	412	and previous ranking				Norton (61. Marok	5 (2),	Turpe	i	(201;	Sakk	pitchers and Sam Honn, Mork McLemore and
Milwaukee	. 10 15	A35	572		Record	Pts	Pvs.	(24), Rucinsky (7), 0	Duch	esne (	101.	Nola	n (19).	Randy Alligan, infielders, Agreed to one-
			372	1, Duke (43)	4-0	1.403	t	Young (17). Shots en	goal	New	YO	rk (o	n Hex-
	TERN CONFER			2. Kansos (22)	÷-0	1,570	2	IoII) 4-12-6-22, Quet	bec (c	on Heo	dv)	17.7-	14-32	minor-league contracts with Steve Searcy,
	Midwest Olvisia			3. Kentucky	5-0	1.472	3	Taronto	1	12-	4			Mike Cook, David Walters, Woyne Edwards
	WL	Pct	Θa	4 Indiana	8-1	1413	4	Buttolo		14-4	í .			and Day Schulze, plichers, Assigned Cesar
Utoh	14 7	.667	-	5. North Carolina	6-0	1.372	s	Anderson (81, GI	lmou	r (11)	, P4	0,50	m (81,
Houston	13 7	.650	42	6. Michigan	5-1	1,300	6	McLiwolo (6); LOF	iotno	ne (24	1, R		TY (21,	BOSTON-Declined to tender 1993 con-
Son Antonia	10 11	.476	4	7. Seton Holl	8-1	L244	7	Bodger (5), Sweeney	Y (11)	, Mool	Inv	(25).	Shots.	tracis to Tony Fossos and Jeff Gray, plichers.
Denver	7 14	.333	7	a, lowg	6-9	1,149		on gool - Toronio (a	n Ha	sek 13	3-7-1	1-3	1. Bot-	CALIFORNIA-Agreed to 1-year contract
Minnespio	$ 15	,250	845	9, Oklahoma	5-0	983		tola (on Fuhr) 12-1	5-14-	-11,				with Rene Gonzales, third baseman,
Dollas	2 17	105	11	10. Arkonses	5-0	967	12	Philadelphia	1	80-	1			CHICAGO WHITE SOX-Declined to tender
	Pacific Division			11. Georgelown	5-0	909	11	Tampa Boy	1	12-4	ł.			1993 contract to Cariton Fisk, colcher,
Phoenix	14 4	,800	-	12 UCLA	6-1	852	13	Lindres (16) 1 Broa	diev	(26  2,	G	SAME	at 17),	CLEVELAND-Decimed to tender 1993
Portland	15 7	.682	2	13. Syrocuse	7-0	824	- 14	Bureau (5). Shots of	1 900	-Ph	lied	elph	la (on	contract to Rod Nichols, pitcher,
Sectile	15 7	.682	S	14. Arizona	2-1	716	15	Bergeron 7-9-3-19	Tor	mpa B	QY	on s	Soder-	OETROIT-Declined to tender 1993 con-
LA Lokers	14 0	.636	S	15. Purdue	5-0	71a	14'	strom1 12-9-10-31.						tracts to Mark Carrean, autilelder, and Dan
LA Clippers	13 10	.565	442.	16. Georgia Tech	4-1	701	17	Minnesona M		·				Gokeler and Sleve Cummings, pitchers.
Golden State	11 12	478	642	17. Bebraska	.6-0	537	20	Chicugo	1	17-4	× 1	•		OAKLAND-Agreed to 7-year contract with
Socramenta"	6.16		· 11	N- Florida 51.	* 5-3	- 57	· 10	Grabom (11), La	or me	r (17)	), E	TOWN	a (1),	Shawn Hillesus, pitcher. Declined to tender
	MDAY'S RESUL			12 UNLY	30	405	22	Noonon (6), Shots on	9006	Min	105	ila (a	n Bel-	1993 contracts to Kevin Compbell, Kirk Ores-
Socramento	25 23		- 78	20: Michigan SI.	5-1	362	23	four 1 8-12-525. Chic	00900	Ion Co	DEV	19-7	5-21.	sendorter, Joe Klink, Jeff Porrelt and Michael
New Jersey	75 2	3 26 3	L94	21. Colifornia	4-0	244	25	True and	TOUR			-		Roczka, pitchers, and Eric Fox, outfielder.
I ISUOR 6-LS	46 16, Richmon	a 9-20	0-0 18,	22. Connecticut	3-1	239	24	IZVESTIA '	ou	KNAN	EN	n		SEATTLE-Apreed to 1-year contract with
THE U ON 44 16	Coleman 19-18	9-1 20, 4	under-	23. Cincinnoti	3-1	215	17	Russia II 2, Czecho	-1					Dennis Powell, pitcher, Declined to tender
	Rebounds-So			24 Tylone	5-2	209	78		NOVOL					1993 contracts to Brion Fisher, pitcher, and
				All Mart deschool 18										Dance Contractor description Linguist Catho and

Texas A&M Probes Payments to Players

The Associated Press

DALLAS - Texas A&M officials are pressing their own investigation into a newspaper report that a prominent booster paid several football players over the past four years for work they didn't do.

Unbeaten Texas A&M, ranked fourth nationally, plays fifth-ranked Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl on Jan, 1.

The allegations reported in Sunday's editions of The Dallas Morning News, if substantiated, would be a violation of the NCAA's rules against extra benefits and could lead to major sanctions, including the NCAA's "death penalty," which can be assessed after a university's second major violation within live years. The A&M football program was put on two years' probation in 1988 for 25 violations, including ticket-selling by players and excessive recruiting visits. Texas A&M officials said they had reported possi-ble rules violations to the NCAA based on knowledge of the Dallas Morning News story.

The newspaper said Warren A. Gilbert, one of the largest Dallas operators of federally subsidized housing for the poor, arranged for twice-monthly $400 payments to the athletes.

Gilbert has said he has paid thousands of dollars to employ as many as 30 A&M football players in the last five years. But in every instance, he said, the players earned the money during summers and school breaks. Federal officials served subpoenas last Wednesday on properties belonging to Gilbert, the newspaper reported, seeking evidence of fraud, misapplication of federal funds and embezzlement.

Several employees told the newspaper that athletes were on the payroll even while attending classes at A&M, and that when they were around they spent their time lying about in a garage, laughing at employSIDELINES

Bowe to Fight in Garden NEW YORK (AP) — Mndison Square Garden, once the merca of boxing, will be the site of Riddirk Bowe's first defense of his heavyweight title against Michael Dokes, a former WBA champion, on Feb. 6. Rock Newman, Bowe's manager, and Bobby Goodman, vice president and matchmaker of Madison Square Garden Boxing, confirmed Monday that the Garden, which has not been the site of a heavyweight title fight in six years, had secured the bout.

Newman said that Bowe, a native of Brooklyn and winner of four Golden Glove titles in the Garden, "was the driving force in getting the fight in the Garden. He wanted it there."

For the Record

Peter Wirnsberger, 24, one of the rising hopes of, Austria's ski team, was killed Sunday when he struck a wooden post on the slope after winning the downhill title at Altenmark-Zauchensee near Salzburg, Austria (UPI)

South Korea will bid to to play host to the 2002 World Cup soccer tournament and the 1996 Asian Winter Games, Ministry of Sports and Youth officials said Mooday. (AP)

John Ngugi, Kenya's five-time world cross-country champion, has pulled out of his eagerly nwaited clash with Steve Cram in the County Durham International meet Jan. 2 in Englaod because Ngugi's wife is facing (ÀFP surgery.

Marco van Basten underwent a successfal ankle operatioo Monday in St. Moritz, Switzerland, but his club, AC Milan, said the soccer star would probably be unable to play for three months. (Renters)

Ayrton Senna drove an Indy car for the first time hut a spokesman for the Roger Penske racing team said there were no plans for the three-time Formula One world champion to switch circuits. (AP)

THURSDAY, DEC. 31 HURSDAY, Des. 5, Independence Bowl to Shreveport, Lo. Creson (6-5) PHILADELPHIA-Agreed to minor-Indérendence Bowi to Sarverour, Le. (ote Porest (741 vs. Ocegon (6-5) John Hancock Bowi to El Pasa, Taxas rano (6-4-11 vs. Bavior (6-5) Gotor Bowi In Jockson/Bis, Fia. lorido (8-41 vs. North Carolino Stote (5-2-1) Liberty Bowi In Memohis Tena, Force (7-41 vs. Mississipal (8-3) fon Cattoge (8-21) vs. Tennessee (0-3) Catton Bowi In Tembe, Fio, ton Cattoge (8-21) vs. Tennessee (0-3) Catton Bowi In Dollos In Catado, Fio, o Stote (8-21) vs. Georgia (9-2) Biochauster Bowi In Fort Landerniale, Fia, vs. Sicile (7-41 vs. Stonford (7-3) Fiesta Bowi In Tennee, Anz. DCUSE (9-2) vs. Colorado (8-1-1) Rose Bowi In Pastadena, Catti, in Pastadena, Catti, league contract with Lorry Andersen, pitche Declined to tender 1993 contract to Waity Rit SAN FRANCISCO-Declined to lender 1993 in Posadena, Calli, 8-0-3) vs. Washington Orange Bawi In Miami In Miami ste (y.2) vy, Florida State |10-1| Supar Bewl Ia New Orleans a (12-0) vy, Miami (11-0) SATUROAY, JAN, 2 SATUROAY, JAN, 2 Peach Bowi In Allanta Ina (8-31 v9, Missis opi Stole (7-41 SATUROAY, JAN. 9

,

CHARLESTON SOUTHERN-Nome CHARLESTON SOUTHERN-Nome James Optesby assistant atbletic trainer.

FRIDAY, OEC. 18

Los Vegas Baw Green 35, Nevada 34

Lindros Rips Into Flyers

After the Philadelphia Flyers' seventh loss in eight games, a 4-1 defeat at Tampa Bay oo Suoday to play. night. Lindros hinted that the With Sacramento down by three.

team's problems may he more office (han on "It comes down to a lot of bard

ies," said Lindros, the rookie center hailed as the NHL's next superstar, who had Philadelphia's only goal. "Puttiog some things aside off the ice and focusiog oo hockey, "I'm embarrassed about our ef-fort tonight. I'm embarrassed about my effort first, and I'm embarrassed about a lot of people's efforts," added Lindros, who was playing in his second game after missing nine with a sprained knee ligameot.

Lindros had reason to be emhar-

2-12-2 away from the Spectrum, phia carlier this month, to improve league, grabbed his 10,000th re-to 4-1-0 after a six-game losing bound with 3:47 left in the game. to 4-1-0 after a six-game losing streak. At 14-20-2, the Lightning is work and taking care of our bod. NHL HIGHLIGHTS

The second state added two free throws for a 102-97 edge. tough down the stretch," said the Phil

Nets' coach, Chuck Daly. "Anybody in this league can play good defense if they work at it, and Petro has been working hard to get better." Derrick Coleman added 20 Chic

Cleve Detro Chor Arlan

in the second half, Trail Blazers 130, Warriors 114: Io Portland, Rod Strickland scored a season-high 25 points and the Trail Blazers survived the first-balf

The Blazers' Buck Williams be-

Soc New Tisc Webb Son 6 ICous

NB.

tied for fourth with Toronto in the - Moses Malooe, Robert Parish Nortis Division. and Bill Laimbeer - have reached Bradley now has 26 goals for the the plateau.

season, and tied for third in the Drexler was ejected with 2:52 NHL with Vancouver's Pavel Bure left in the second quarter after a Drexler was ejected with 2:52 and Detroit's Steve Yzerman.

nose-to-nose confrontation with Blackhawks 4, North Stars 0: Tim Hardaway at center court. Chicago cooled off the NHL's hot- After they exchaoged words, stopped 25 sbots for his 13th NHL Drexter shoved back.

shutout. Sabres 5, Maple Leafs 4: Alexander Mogilny scored unassisted with threw Drexler out of the game for falo rallied to beat Toronto.

test road team as Ed Belfour Hardaway shoved Drexler and Referce Steve Javie called a technical foul on both players, and Florido 51, 9 1:17 left in the third period as Buf- throwing a punch at Hardaway. There were five technicals in all. illingis 77, Mercer 58

Assists-Socramento 16 (Richmond 7), New Jersey 22 (Anderson 8).

JEISEY 12 LANGEISON
Golden State	25	26	33	30-114
Partland	42	28	32	27-130
Mutilo 10-233-425, Hor land 11-19 3-3 25, Porte Galden State 59 (Hitti 1: 51, Assists—Galden 5 Portiond 27 (Strickia	1 9-14 3-1 1. Porti lote 25	5 23. ond (Ha	Reb 47 IV	willioms
Major College
	AST
Selon Hell 87. Fairle		kins	on (	61
Vermont 73, Horvard
	UTH
Elorido 70. N.C. Chor

(Strickland, Parter 9), ollege Scores	Plits
EAST	Wosh
87. Fairleigh Olckinson él , Horvard 65	New NY I
SOUTH N.C. Charlotte 47	Philo
FI, Tempia 80, OT MIDWEST	Moni

All II CAL
NHL Stand	ings		_
WALS	S CON	FER	SN	CĽ
P	atrick	Oht	cion	1
	w	L.	т	Pts	G۶	GA
Plitsburgh	23		3	47	157	125
Woshington	18	15	2	38	141	124
NY Rangers	17	12	- 4	38	138	127
New Jersey	10	14	1	33	105	104
NY Islanders	14	16	4	32	136	133
Philadelphia	11	17	4	26	178	135
Ad	lams D	Ivtak	00
Monineot	21	10	4	46	148	111
Ouebec	10	ñ	6	Q	154	135
Boston	10	11		411	177	119

	26. 	2	EXIII: G World Cup Results	TEXA: with Roll Descenz with Mo
-	-		WORD CUP Nesulis	CHICA
47 38 38 33 12	GP 157 141 138 105 136 138	125	WOMEN'S SUPER-GIANT SLALOM AI Loke Louise Alberta: 1. Katio Sekinger, Germony, 1 minute, 10/3 seconds: 2. Tationa Lebedovo, Russia, 1:11.01: 3. Regina Hoeusi, Germany, 1:11.20: 4. Sylvia Eder, Austria, 1:11.27: 5. Meson Gerarty, U.S. 1:11.29; 4. Kerrin Lee-Goriner, Canada, 1:11.38: 7. Michaela Gera Leitner, Germany, 1:11.49; 8. Anito Wachter, Austria, 1:11.56: 7. Carole	Torning : Torning : T993 cont Dascenze and Day FLORI tract lo GREEI
Q	148 154 123	135	Merie, France, 1; 11,69; 10, Morting Eril, Ger- many, 1; 11,00, Overall World Cup Standings (after seven events) 1, Workler, 311 points 2, Percella	Collins, P HOUST accepted solary arbitration. AS—Agreed to minor-leasue contract do Ducey. I-year contract with Doug tax, outfielders, and 2-year contract aruset Lee, infleider, Mational League CAGO CUB3—Agreed to 3-year con-the Willie Wilson, outfielder, and 1-year cts with Dwight Smith, outfielder, and Stieldes, Infleider, Declined to tender intracts to Jerame Waiton and Doug taxo, outfielders, Kan Patterson, pitcher, was Strange. Iofielder. compled solary arbitra g Stronge, lofielder. IDA—Occlined to tender 1993 con-

p Green 35, Nevada 34 Alaba Bewi le Honajsiu (7-4) vs. Brisham Young (S-TUESDAY, OEC. 29 Copper Bowi la Tacson, Ariz, Hon Slate (8-3) vs. Ulah (6-5) Freedom Bowi IDA—Declined to render 1993 con-Robert Person, altichat. EN BAY—Put Johnny Holland, Ilne-an Jalured reserve. Activated Brett Haobacker, from practice squad. TON—Declined to lander 1993 contract by Jones, pilcher. Claimed Chris Dan-Freedom Bowi la Anabeim, Calif. Cal. 16-4-11 vs. Fres WEONESDAY, DEC. 3 Heliday Bawi la San Diego Hawoff (10-2) vs. Iff 015 (6-4-11

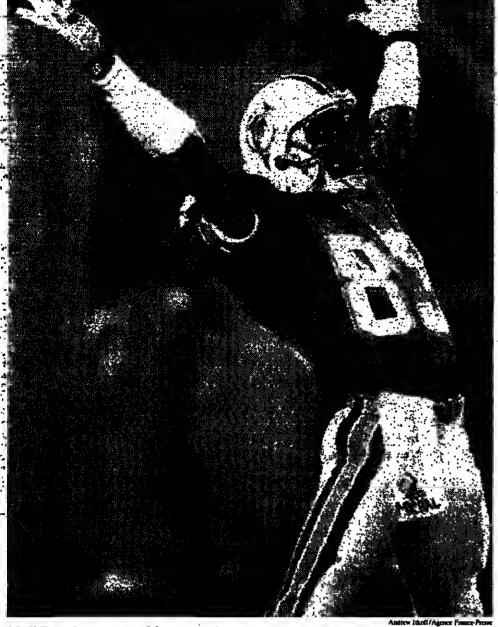

Huio Bowi Io Honoluju SATURDAY, JAN. 23 FostWart String Closed lo Stanford, Calif.

Japas Bewi Tokyo SATUROAY, JAN. 16

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDLY WORLD CUP QUALIFIERS Africa, Grove E Africa, Group F pio 3, Benin 1 Africa, Group H goscar 2, Zambia 0 Africa, Groap I Guinea 4. Kenya 1

SPORTS FOOTBAL

The last of the second second second

Chargers Gallop Into NFL Postseason

By Tom Friend New York Times Service LOS ANGELES - The San Gabriel Mountains in the distance were snow-capped, and the air was so crisp that the players could see their breath in midafternoon. But Bobby Ross, the coach of the San play. Diego Chargers, was so absorbed in putting his once dreadful team in the National Football League playoffs that he never once put on a iacket.

Still wearing a golf shirt, Ross set down his beadset with two minutes to play and reveled in San Diego's first post-season berth in a decade. The Chargers' 36-14 victory Sunday over the Los Angeles Raiders certainly ordained them as the comeback team of the year, and perhaps of history: No previous squad had ever overcome an 0-4 start to reach the playoffs.

The Chargers (10-5), who have won six straight, can take the American Football Conference's West Division title with a victory next Sunday in Seattle. And they can wrap up a first-round playoff bye if they defeat Seattle and Pittsburgh loses to Cleveland. The last time San Diego was host for a playoff game was the AFC ship game against the Raiders in 1980 But those were a different set of Raiders. Sunday, they could not muster a first down for the first 25 its offensive series with four different running backs - Marion Butts, Rod Bernstine, Ronnie Harmon ninutes of the game. The only and Eric Bieniemy. Bernstine even-Raider thrill of the day came when tually left with an ankle sprain and Marcus Allen — who is feuding with owner Al Davis — broke a did oot return.

The San Diego defense, choreo-graphed by Bill Arnsparger, bas a wait-and-react philosophy, and short screen pass for 13 yards and a run for another 13 yards down to the 5-yard line, setting up the Raid-ers' final touchdown. Los Angeles played into its hands with slow-developing running and The Chargers are professors at passing plays. On the Raiders' first monopolizing the football on the ground. The first half ended with them leading, 23-0, and it was diffitwo possessions, quarterback Jay Schroeder tossed three incomple-tions, was sacked twice and handed

The Raiders had minus-7 yards San Diego's first two offensive series were 7-minute field-goal in the opening quarter and 30 yards drives. And when the Raiders' defirst down came with 5:46 remainfense was suckered into crowding ing in the half. Schroeder - 4-for-13 for 25 yards - was mercifully the line of scrimmage with nine players, San Diego struck swiftly with passes. There was a 14-yard replaced after a first-down incomtouchdown pass to wide receiver Anthony Miller, who en route eludpletion with 12:50 left in the third period. Coach Art Shell simply in ed a poor tackle by defensive back Terry McDaniel, and a 50-yard touchdown homh from Stan

The score would have been pad-ded late in the first half, but wide receiver Shawn Jefferson and tight

Humphries to Nate Lewis.

49 seconds

NFL ROUNDUP

Vince Evans, 37, during an offen- and Kenny Walker recovered at sive series. It was later revealed that Seattle's 24-yard line. sive series. It was later revealed that Schroeder had developed numbness in his shoulder.

end Dusne Young dropped certain touchdowns. San Diego settled for John Carney's short field goal for its final points before intermission. Humphries, like Schroeder a former Washington quarterback, was 13-of-21 for 176 yards in the first half. A Redskins scout, Kirk Mee, watched from the press box and By half's end, San Diego's time of possession advantage was 20 minutes, 11 seconds to 9 minutes, maintained that his team did not regret trading Humphries. "But we had so much admiration for Stan, there was no way we were The Raiders could not get a han-dle on the Chargers' rushing attack going to trade him within the con-ference," Mee said. "We didn't want him to come back to haunt because San Diego started four of

In other games, The Associated Press reported: Dolphins 19, Jets 17: In Miami, Pete Stoyanovich atoned for missing an extra point moments earlier with a 37-yard field goal with seven seconds to go. Tony Martin took Dan Marino's short pass 55 yards for a touch-down with 2:30 remaining, but Stoyanovich, the NFL's leading scorer, missed the conversion, He

Elway's Broncos Rally to Beat Seahawks cult to recall a Raider offensive off to running back Eric Dickerson ball at New York's 45, and Dan for a 2-yard loss. ball at New York's 45, and Dan Marino moved the Dolphins into field-goal range Broncos 10, Seahawks 6: John Elway became the 15th player to pass for 30,000 yards as Deover rallied to win for the 10th time in its last 11 bome games despite five first-half turnovers.

Elway completed 19 of 28 passes for 213 yards, but a Seattle turnover became the game's lone touch-down after John L. Williams fumhled when hit by Michael Brooks, Gaston Green, who had missed two games with a knee injury, ran for 23 yards down the left sideline. and two plays later plunged over for a 7-3 lead. The Broncos had lost four consecutive games with Elway side-lined by a shoulder problem. Lions 16, Bears 3: In Ponuac.

Michigan, Andre Ware was a winner for the second straight week and had his best day in a limited pro career. Ware completed 12 of 20 passes for 290 yards, and Barry Sanders carried 20 times for 113 yards, including a 6-yard touch-down run. Herman Moore caught three passes for 108 yards for Detroit In earlier games, reports on which appeared in some Monday edi-tions of the International Herald Trib

Eagles 17, Redskins 13: In Philadelphia, the Eagles got two TD passes from Randali Cunningham and stellar defense by Eric Allen got another chance when Louie after Washington went on a 16-Aguiar's short punt gave Miami the play, 85-yard drive in the final play, 85-yard drive in the final Field Goal Squeezes Dolphins Past the Jets, 3:35. Allen knocked away a five-yard pass for Gary Clark in the end zone as the clock expired.

Bills 20, Saints 16: In New Orleans, Thurman Thomas ran for 115 yards and two touchdowns and caught six passes for 62 yards. He scored from the 2 with 7:19 remaining for the winning points. That touchdown was set up when Reginaid Jones was called for a 24-yard pass interference penalty on Buffa-lo's fourth-and-1 pass from Jim Kelly into the end zone to Andre Reed Packers 28, Rams 13: In Green Bay, the Packers won their sixth straight as Sterling Sharpe went over 100 receptions with eight catches. He has 102, four short of Art Monk's single-season record.

Oilers 17, Browns 14: In Cleve land, Houston stormed from behind as Cody Carlson, sacked six times, threw two TD passes in the last three minutes, to Curtis Duncan for a 2-yard score and 10 Ernesi Givins with the 3-yard winner with 34 seconds to go.

Duncan's reception with 2:58 left was his first TD in his last 109 catches, ending the longest streak of catches without a touchdown in NFL history.

Colts 16, Cardinals 13: in India napolis, the Colus moved within one victory of matching the best one-season turnaround in league history, a record they set in Baltimore in 1975.

Dean Biasucci's 42-yard field goal with 49 seconds to play gave the Colts their fourth straight triumph. Mike Prior had three interceptions for the Colts, who were 1-5 last year.

The other turnaround, from 2-12 to 10-4, came in Ted Marchibroda's first year of his first stint as the Colts' coach. He returned to coach them again this season.

Mark Clayton's reasons to celebrate: a touchdown against the Jets, the Dolphins gaining the playoffs.

playoffs, it was the day of days.

This much was certain, or so it seemed, on the next-to-last weekend of the regular season: Minnesola (without Herschel Walker)

ance in the playoffs by defeating season but became the first team to overcome that handicap and make

Miami's victory had other repercussions: Besides keeping alive the Dolphins' chances for a division title, it simultaneously lifted Houston into the playoffs and eliminat-

Of the 12 playoff berths 10 are filled, with four teams left in con-

The Chargers won their ninth game in 10 starts, routing the Raiders, to guarantee at least a wild-ed overachieving Indianapolis.

tention for the other spots.

card playoff berth.

vantage in the playoffs.

have a champion.

No wonder there remained uncertainties that may not be resolved until next Sunday night. The East and West divisions of the AFC, as well as the NFC East still does not

But several clubs control their playoff prospects: The Chargers can win their division by defeating the New York Jets.

Playoffs: Sure Things and Uncertainties

NFL Standings

....

1.0

AL CONFERENCE

Pts PF PA .786 341 212 .667 334 235 .600 280 234 .400 296 347 .267 240 325

PF P/

playoff contenders.

the playoffs.

By Gerald Eskenazi New York Times Service NEW YORK - For those who ers on Sahurday, can make the play-offs by winning — or losing. iry to figure out the arcane world of the National Football League's the information. The secret is tic breakers - variclinched the National Conference Central Division title by defeating Pittsburgh, Philadelphia (with Her-schel Walker) guaranteed itself a wild-card playoff spot by defeating Washington. And Miami guaranthree 10-6 teams will actually qualify; it matters if two are from the same division, but that's another story. teed Don Shula another appear-that, indeed, the Redskins can lost to New England and Denver

These are solid, year-in, year-out make the playoffs but only if they until the final Sunday of the regular season to determine their fate. Washington, which plays the Raid-Washington, and Green Bay would come out on top and the Redskins would be eliminated.

It makes perfect sense if you have three assistants with erasers on pencils or a calculator, or a why? The league says so. It comes down to Philadelphia elimi-nating Washington on the basis of friend at the NFL who can slip you a better record in the NFC East. And what about Indianapolis?

The 8-7 Colts had a chance to beous formulas to determine which of come the first team in league history to progress from a one-victory season to the playoffs in consecutive years.

All they needed, besides help But Sunday night a cheerful from the New York Jets Sunday math wizard in the NFL's office on Park Avenue assured the world nati next week while the Dolphins lost in Kansas City. There were too

Page 17

x-Mizneso Green Bay Chicago Detroit

Pts PF PA .867 407 230 .733 310 202 .429 383 335 .333 275 356

Saturday's Results Nants 35. Kansas City 21 Mincisco 21. Tempo Bay

Sanday's Result w Orie Reen Boy 20, L.A. Roms 13 4 Pirtsburgh 3 1 20. New Eng lis 14. Phoenix 13 No 17, Washington AL CH 0 34 L.A. Roiders 14 omi M. N.Y. Jets 17

Saturday, Dec. 24 Icons at N.Y Jets Iders at Washington

Sunday, Dec. 27 National at Pittsburgh Inver at Konsos City en Bar at Minnesola Barandis at Cuncinnali ani at Konsos City al of New English OF LA R o of Sealth

Monday, Dec. 26 Irolt of Son Francisco

More surprising was San Diego, with Philadelphia and Green Bay. which lost its first four games this

The Broncos' victory over the Washington - the reigning Su-Seahawks - keeping Denver alive per Bowl champion — is in if Green Bay loses to Minnesota on in the playoff race - also was scaled by batting away a last-second pass, this one thrown by Scat-tle's Stan Gelbaugh. Sunday. Then it wouldn't matter if Washington had won Saturday.

If Green Bay wins, however, And then calculators were rethen Washington needs to have charged, pencils sharpened, fans won too - and to have help from Philadelphia beating the New York won too — and to have help from Philadelphia beating the New York Giants. An Eagles' loss would cre-field goal with seven seconds left.

In a game of inches and seconds, running back Heath Sherman of the Eagles dragged the Redskins' Darrel Green to a touchdown.

Another Thriller: Business as Usual in the Pros' Top Division

By Dave Anderson

.The Bills also did what they New York Times Service DHILADELPHIA --- Now this was an NFC East needed to do if they are to capture I game. Trailing by 17-13, the Washington Red-skins had come from their 10-yard line to the Philadelthe American Conference East championship. But the playoffbound Bills, after defcating the phia Eagles' 5-yard line. Second down. Goal to go. Two seconds remaining. At the snap, Mark Rypien spotted wide receiver Gary Clark open in the end zone. But before the pass by the Redskins' quarter-Saints, must wait another week to see if they finish first in the AFC East and maintain home-field adback could get to Clark, cornerback Eric Allen stuck won, assuring themselves a berth in the Super Bowl XXVII playoffs. The Redskins had lost, assuring themselves of having to wait until next weekend to see if they make the playoffs. And the National Conference East still reigned as pro football's best division.

Seattle next Sunday, and Dallas could take the NFC East with a If the Redskins defeat the Los Angeles Raiders next victory Monday night over Atlanta. Saturday, the NFC East will be the only division in the All those senators and Washing-National Football League this season with three teams ton power-brokers who come along that have won at least 10 games: the Dallas Cowboys (11-3 going into Monday night's game in Atlanta), the Eagles (10-5) and the Redskins (now 9-6). for the ride whenever the Redskins make the playoffs will have to wait

Against each other in their round-robin standing. the Cowboys, Eagles and Redskins are each 1-1. Typical of the best in the NFC East.

Yes, the San Francisco 49ers must be the early favorites for the Super Bowl in Pasadena, California, on Jan. 31, but any of the top three NFC East teams is capable of winning it. If only because each one has had to survive in a division with the other two.

Keep in mind that NFC East teams have won the last two Super Bowls and four of the last six. In reverse order, the champions were the Redskins, the New York Giants, the 49ers twice with Joe Montana at quarterback, the Redskins and the Giants.

Now that Montana is finally in uniform again after recovering from a damaged elbow that required surgery and nearly two seasons of rehab, dramatists are sure that somehow he will come off the sideline to pass the 49ers to another Super Bowl title.

But if the 49ers don't win it, one of the three NFC East teams probably will. Even though the Redskins couldn't quite get the ball in the end zone on the last play, they had found a way a week earlier for a bizarre touchdown on a fumble recovery that stung the Cowboys, 20-17.

But typical of a defending Super Bowl champions, the Redskins simply haven't always been able to make the plays they made a year ago.

"Another touchdown here, another touchdown there," said Joe Gibbs, the Redskins' coach. "You've got to make the plays.

In the final seconds, Rypien and Clark twice almost made the plays. Almost, On a second-and-10 from the 20-yard line with 32 seconds remaining, Clark cut to a corner of the end zone, turned, dove for Rypicn's pass, caught it momentarily, then dropped it as he landed on the artificial surface.

"f thought, This is 6." Clark said later, "but f wasn't able to turn my body to make it catchable. By the time I got my body turned, I hit the ground, I was really mad because I look at myself as one of those guys who make the plays when necessary.

O N THE final play, Allen made the play when necessary. Until thea, Allen, considered one of pro football's most adhesive cornerbacks, had always been on the other side of the field from Clark. But on what would be the final play, Allen somehow appeared and batted the ball away in the end zone.

"As soon as 1 saw 84 coming across," Allen said, referring to Clark's number, "I thought, 'Stick with this guy, they like to get the ball to him."

"Give Eric Allen credit for being in the right place at the right time," Clark said. "He hadn't been on me all day.

Ten Clary/Agence France-P

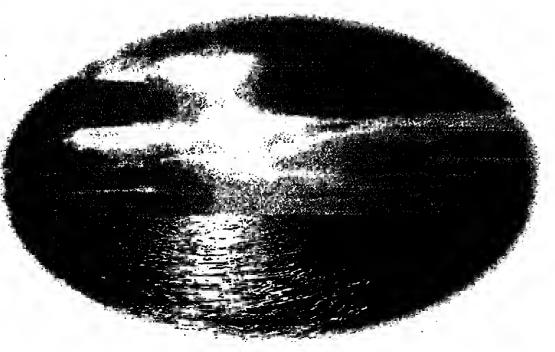

In their march to the Super Bowl XXVI title a year ago, the Redskins scored 485 points, including 56 touchdowns. With one game to go this season, they have scored only 280 points, including only 27 touchdowns. Midway through this season, when the Giants stunned them, 24-7, the Redskins' offensive line was riddled with injuries. But in recent weeks that line has egrouped.

Theoretically, no one offensive lineman should be more important than the others, but when all-pro left tackle Jim Lachey was healthy this season, the Redskins had a 6-2 record.

As for the Eagles, they have never won a playoff me with Randall Cunningham at quarterback. They're overdue, Chances are, they'll open the play-offs in New Orleans in two weeks, but first they must complete their season against the Giants in Veterans Stadium next Sunday, the same Giants they strafed, 47-34, four weeks ago.

"When we get together," said Keith Byars of the Eagles, "you know the game will be played hard, It doesn't matter if it's in a parking lot.

Even with the Giants gasping to the finish with a 6-9 record, maybe that's the best description of the NFC East: the division in a parking lot.

Get your point across in no time.

*ALISTRIA	022-903-011	FRANCE	190-0011	TALY	172-1011	PORTUGAL'	05017-1-288
BAHRAIN	800-001	SERMANY	0130-0010	KENYA	0600-10	SAUDI ARABIA'	1-800-100
BELGAM	078-11-0010	GHANA	0191	KUWAIT	800-286	SPAN	900-99-00-1t
CZECHOSLOVAKIA	00-420-00201	GREECE	00-800-1311	LUXEMBOURG	0-800-0111	SWEDEN	020-795-611
DENMARK	8001-0010	"HUNGARY	000-800-9111	"NETHERLANDS	060-022-9111	*SWHTZERLAND	155-00-11
"EGYPI" (Carro)	510-0200	IRELAND	1-800-550-000	*NORWAY	050-12011	TURKEY	909-6001-2277
'FINLAND	9800-100-10	ISRAEL	177-100-2727	POLANDINI	00010-486-0111	UNITED KINGDOM	0800-89-0011
The state of the s	or read	artists instantion (bottom	And in the second lines	A DESCRIPTION OF A DESC		inter a debr phones ID-	a 1977 fann an deala Canta

AT&T USA Direct "Service. Your Express Connection to AT&T Service. Just dial the access number of the country you're in. For additional access numbers, call collect: 412 553-7458, Ext. 606

Pa

-

ART BUCHWALD

The Aspen Slalom

I enjoy sitting in hotel lobbies in front of large fireplaces, drinking hot 2.1 chocolate and talking about weather conditions on the various mountains that I baven't been on.

I also like to Buchwald go into town and try on ski clothes and huy Briko's snow goggles to wear over my wool cap. Occasionally I'll meet another person who doesn't ski, and then we'll throw snowballs at each other.

But this year Barbra Streisand spoiled my nonskiing vacation be-cause the citizens of Colorado voted on Election Day for something called Amendment 2. It voids and prevents the adoption of legislation that protects homosexuals from discrimination. In other words. towns in Colorado may no longer pass any laws protecting gay peo-

Aspen voted down Amendment 2, by a margin of three to one, yet Streisand has urged ber fellow movie stars to boycott the town to teach Colorado a Jesson

Since I don't ski, I had time to find out what was going on. It turns out that the good citizens of Aspen were being punished for something that the more conservative Coloradans had done.

"We didn't do it," said Bertha Braddock, who sold me a pair of carmuffs. "Barbra Streisand is just mad because her former boyfriend has a house here."

WASHINGTON -1 just re-though 1 am not a skier. I haven't skied in some of the greatest winter resorts in the world. I know that this is a training to addition to be a start of the greatest winter resorts in the world. I know that this is a start of the greatest winter the start of the start of the greatest winter the start of the greatest winter the start of the start this is a terrible thing to admit. It's mountain. The reason the Hollylike saying, "I'm in sales but I don't wood boycotters are picking on As-play golf." But that's the way it is. pen is that the press will write I go to places like Aspen because about us. The networks sure as heck aren't going to send Tom Bro-kaw or Mike Wallace to Grand Junction." What bothered me the most was that the Streisand boycott was aimed at skiers and nonskiers alike. As one of the latter I didn't want to be in the wrong place at the wrong time. On the other hand, when you use up all your free airline mileage to go to a resort that Barbra doesn't approve of, you have to take sides. If I had known bow she felt I might easily have chosen not to ski somewhere else - like Sun Valley or

I tried to fax Streisand for further instructions, but ber fax is unlisted as is her boycott number. I decided to leave word on her answering machine. I asked her to tell me where everyone was going so that I wouldn't be stuck with a bunch of lift tickets which nonskiers use to go up the gondola for lunch.

Most of the people who struggle to earn a living in Aspen are talking about boycotting Streisand's films

A ski equipment store owner told me, "If we don't eat — she doesn't eat. The rich folks have to use some common sense when it comes to dumping on the working stiffs."

I now have a mission since re-turning from Aspen. I am bere to speak for the nonskiers who, in most ski resorts, are more of a minority than gay people. I'm not saying that Barbra Strei-sand doesn't have a right to tell people to stay away from Aspen, but she would be doing a much better service if she asked her Hollywood friends to avoid the Rocky Mountain nuclear waste's ski trails.

Paris Funds Dance Center

The Associated Press DARIS - Officials have ear-I marked at least 64 million francs (about $12 million) for a dance center in Montmartre where students and young dance companies can train or perform. The funding, in city and national government budgets approved this month, allows construction to begin in May next year The Maison de la Danse, scheduled to be completed in December 1994, is to include five large snidios, classrooms, practice rooms, a library and a performance ball,

Charles Vandenhove was chosen as the architect of the project, which in 1990 was estimated to cost 64 millioo francs.

INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1992

By N. R. Kleinfield New York Times Service

EW YORK - The sounds never stop at the scruffy building on Eighth Avenue. It must be the most efficient place in the city to hear music. More than 100 bands play there, often set after set. But since the bands are rehearsing, they perform simultaneously, one genre interlarded with another, sometimes producing a deafening, blood-quickening din that a musician from the Sunspots, a band that plays pop rock, describes as "animals and blenders going at it."

There is no telling what will below out of one of the studios. Not long ago, Thomas Fiorini, napping in his sixth-floor rehearsal room, was jarred awake by an unfath-omable noise from next door. "It sounded like the devil coming up from the floor," he said. "I thought someone was being shot." It was nothing of the sort, just a hopeful vocalist still perfecting his tonality.

"This guy needed some serious work," Fiorini added. The huilding, known as the Music Building, is a battered, 12-story labyrinth that squats on Eighth Avenue between 38th and 39th streets, hemmed in by storefront fabrie shops and fast-food places. The building contains 70 threadbare studios in which many genres can be heard: beavy metal, rock, jazz, thrash, reggae, progressive rock, alternative rock, hip-hop, funk, country, pop, punk, Rid-ing the elevator is like twirling the radio dial.

Rehearsal spaces dot the city, but the Musie Building is one of the few sizable structures given over exclusively to this function. Jack Lerner, the managing partner of the group that operates the building, hatched the idea for it 13 years ago, even though he does not play an instrument and his singing brings out venom in people. The building is a place of legend in musicians' circles. Those trying to get a footing in the business think of it as the place to go. Around 7:30 on a dank evening, Eighth Avenue was its formilier proches under all Thirds traffic advenue due. familiar, spooky, ugly self. Thick traffic churned by. The air seemed smoky. Inside the Music Building, significant sounds were blaring from suite 1101. A knock on the door. A louder knock. Furious pounding with two fists. "Hello! Hello!" Finally, silence, and the door ratiled open. A bass guitarist shook hands vigorously. He was Larry Heinemann, a sturdy, jocular young man with watchful eyes. The band he belonged to, an alternative rock group called Springhouse, subleased the space three days a week from a musician. Rooms of 150 to 300 square feet (about 15 to 30 square meters) run between $650 and $950 a month. Since tenants generally require their spaces for only part of a day, most, with the landlord's blessing, sublease them to other bands for prescribed hours. Some suites are home to as many as four bands. Even so, the place is pretty dead during the day. At night, bring earmuffs.

"This place is great because you can come here at any bour," Heinemann said. "I've been here at 5 and 6 in the morning and there have been others playing away." Heinemann said the other bands in the building were amicable but competitive, though the competition was not overly threatening. He snickered. "We heard one guy near us rehearse like the same six songs over and over at our time," he said. "The songs had like three chords to them. It was pretty maddening."

Some tenants are incapable of reconciling themselves to the music of others. One sneery band was famous for playing at audaciously loud volume. Musicians from adjoining rooms would open the ballway fuse box and remove a fuse to pitch that space into blackness and beavenly qunet.

"Hey guys," Jack Rabid, the Springhouse drummer, interrupted, "we've got a gig on Friday, so we've really got to get going."

New York's Music Building: Bring Earplugs

Many of the bands in the Music Building are in their prestardom stage; they feel that life's most sublime achievement would be for them to become cosmically famous. One renter plays the timbal. In years past, there was a Korean choir. There are occasional hobbyists. An accountant regularly reported to his space after work. stripped to his underwear and beat the drums mercilessly to unbend. Once he played so furiously he got whiplash. For a while, he had to wear a neck hrace.

Shortly after the Music Building opened, one of the rooms was occupied for a few years by a former high school cheerleader from Detroit, a sassy young woman who had worked at Dunkin' Donuts and as a coat-check girl at the Russian Tea Room. She had a guitar with a broken neck and sensed that some day she could be quite a Singer.

"We didn't know she was going to be Madonna," Jack Lerner said. "If we did, we wouldn't have thrown away her old lease. We'd be auctioning it off."

Thirteen years ago, the Music Building was a more placid place, a "rag" building where fabric merchanis rented the rooms to sell their cloth to wholesalers and the public. Lerner, then a real-estate broker, fielded a fair number of calls from musicians searching for rehearsal space and concluded that he could make some money by transforming the building into rehearsal studios. He and some partners acquired a long-term lease to the rag building

Most of the fabric merchants moved out right away. As the musicians settled in, the balls thundered, the remaining merchants' ears ached, their blood pressure rose. Soon, they fied.

By any measure, the Music Building is incredibly untidy, and renters openly complain about its abject shabbi-ness. Lerner does not offer much, simply an open, poorly cared-for room. There's no charge for the mice or cockroaches. Graffiti coat virtually every wall, most scribbled by tenants, often to tout their own musical prowess or to record cryptic remarks like: "It's time to bite the toenails. Stupid Fresh." There is a fair amount of blasphemy against record companies, much of it no doubt composed right after a band bas been told by a record company that the group doesn't quite fit into its plans.

The rooms are not even soundproof. It is always best for a band to be playing so it can drown out the cacophony from the other studios.

Tenants sometimes make alterations. Two have converted their rooms into full-fledged sound studios. Others do nothing more than put sound-deadening mats and more graffiti on the walls.

The Misconceptions added Tony Bennett's couch. At least their manager, who acquired it, said it was Tony Bennett's couch. It's not much — faded blue pillows on a scuffed oak frame - and the hand assumes Bennett has something handsomer now, Sometimes, a band member spends the night on it, dreaming of leaving his heart on the West Coast.

As it happens, the bleakness of the building and the garbled life outside seem to serve as a wellspring for some of the bands. "It fits what we do." said Fiorini, who plays bass for the Misconceptions, "This life is all about playing the music in our hearts. And the atmosphere makes you hungry."

T. M. Stevens rubbed his palms together and peered moodily out the window, transfixed. He occupies room 802 with his band, Out of Control. "I like the dinginess of the place," be said. "It inspires my music, When we're writing music, the hard-core stuff comes out here, because you can't write anything hard core if you're sitting around a pool and palm trees. As in L. A."

PEOPLE

Latest Daughter Book: Is It 'Marlene Dearest'

Meaner by the word?: The celeb-rity world was aghast in 1984 when Christina Crawford wrote 'Mommy Dearest," a bitter portrait of her actress-mother. Joan Crawford And it was not accessary to be a Republican to feel the verom in Patti Davis's "A House of Secrets" in 1991, about growing up the daughter of Ronald and Nancy Reagan. Davis's book weighed in at 256 pages. Crawford's was 352 pages. Now comes Maria Riva, who has written "Marlene Dietrich by Her Daughter" at $48 pages. The book comes out next month. Marlene asked that it not be published before her death.

Audrey Hepburn, 63, who recent-

v underwent a cancer operation. has returned to her villa on Lake Geneva. She was hospitalized for colon cancer last month in Los Angeles. Doctors said they had found a malignant tumor, hui had removed all the cancerous tissue.

Success hasn't been all it's cracked up to be for Angela Lanscracked up to be for Angela Lans-bury. Her long-running series "Murder, She Wrote" is still draw-ing high ratings, but she feels ham-pered by its popularity. If her bosses ever do decide to kill "Mur-der," what would she do? "I'll go to Ireland. Or Broadway. Or who knows? Maybe Hollywood will finally offer me that leading role that will win me an Academy Award!" Tatum O'Neal has signed a deal with NBC to play the role of a former Playhoy Club waitress Bambi Bembenek in a four-part miniseries. Bembenek escaped to Canada after she was convicted of killing her husband's cx-wife in 1981, She was paroled last month after a plea bargain. O'Neal has been married for six years to tennis star John McEnroe, who admitted earlier this month that they had been having troubles.

> INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFIED Appears on Pages 5 & 7

See Today's Sports Page for AT&T ad

Sundance.

BOOKS

An Autobiography

By Michael Caine. Illustrated. 521 pages. $24. Turtle Bay Books/Random House, Reviewed by Christopher

Lehmann-Haupt B ORN in 1933 and named Maurice Joseph Micklewhite, Michael Caine knew as early as age 4 that he wanted to be an actor. But there were few in the profession with whom he could identify. Most of the ones be read about had first been taken to the theater by their nannies, which made them seem alien to him.

What makes this autohiography - its title comes from the film "Alfie" - potentially of special interest is that he is part of an entire to know along the way.

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT? generation of British working-class artists who came to prominence in the 1960s and, in his opinion, even accounted for the decade's extraordinary vitality in England.

They arrived with a chip on the shoulder, by Caine's account, and it was their anger that made England "swing." Unfortunately, aside from dropping names and expressing resent-ment at being referred to in the British papers by "that most insulting of all epithets - 'Cockney ac-tor Michael Caine,'" the author has little of interest to say about this eruption of talent.

Mainly he mentions the more than six-dozen films be bas made, boasts about the women he has slept with and lists the names of the many famous people he has gotten

a second a second s

Inevitably, you do get engaged by Caine's climb up the ladder of fame. It would be churtish to deny it. Late in the book, Caine makes fun of those Academy Award win-ners who deliver acceptance speeches thanking "the little people" who helped them along the way. His sa-tirical version of such a speech would be to recall the "director, who was 5 feet 2, and the producer, who was only just 5 feet tall . . . and the leading lady who stood on a ox all the way through our scenes to-You can understand the gether." point of his satire, but like so much else in "What's It All About?" - the name-dropping, the sexual boasting, the sensitivity to slights - it makes you wonder if the author himself doesn't still feel little.

Christopher Lehmann-Haupt is played in round 3. on the staff of The New York Times. It is a tribute to t It is a tribute to the solidarity of

By Robert Byrne OU can be reasonably sure that there are more upsets in bigh-level chess than in other games or sports, even though we must rely on fragmentary reports rather than statistics. The reason for this is that inspiration can intervene and overcome the best that discipline and technique can produce

A good example of brilliant success by an underdog is the game between Luc Winants, a Belgian international master, and Gata Kamsky of Brooklyn, one of the highest-ranking grandmasters in the world, in the Interpolis International Tournament, which ended October 28, 1992, in Tilburg, the Netherlands. The match was the Caro-Kann Defense that so Bf4, 16... Bh4? would have let Winmany players like to convert it into the Semi-Tarrasch Defense, which with 17 d5! Na5 18 Bb5 Rf8 19 de arose in the Winants-Kamsky match after 7 d4. In this, after 10 Rel. the aim for White is to use the Bd7. advantage m space that the d4 pawn gives him to promote a mating attack, whereas Black's aim is to hold out for an end game.

The exchange with 10...Nc3 I1 be did not alter the basic strategy: The isolated d4 pawn was repla by the c3-d4 pawn couple, which is also an end-game weakness; the absence of the black KN weakens his king position. On 11...b6 12 Qc2, defense by 12...b6?! was to be exploited by 13 Qc2 followed by 14

On 14 h4!, 14...Bb4? would have been smashed by 15 Bb5 Bd7 16 Qe4. On 14...B18 15 Bg5 Be7 16 with 17 d5! Na5 18 Bb5 Rf8 19 de Bes 20 Rad1 Qf6 21 Be5 Qe7 22 Bd6 Qf6 23 Nh4 Qh4 24 Bf8 Rf8 25

CHESS

After Winants's 19 Be4!. Kamsky should have retreated patiently with 19...Qd7 and tried to weather the storm that would build up after 20 c4!

Kamsky could not struggle free with 20...g5 21 Re3! gf 22 Rh3 Qg5 because 23 Rh7 Kg8 (or 23...Kf8 24 RI7 Kg8 25 Bh7 Kh8 26 Ng6) 24 NI7 Qf6 25 Nh6 Kf8 26 Rf7 Qf7 27 NI7 KI7 28 OF4 BI6 (28 Kg7 29 Qg4 Kh8 30 Qg6 forces mate) 29 Bc6 Bc6 30 Qc7 will yield Winants a mighty queen-plus-two pawns for rook-plus-bishop.

SEMI-TARRASCH DEFENSE 20 Ne5 21 Re3 21 Re3 22 Rh 23 Rh 24 Rh 23 Rh 27 Rh 27 Rh 27 Rh 27 Rh 20 Qc 2 2 Rh 20 Rh MNANTSAWHITE QC2 Position after 19.... Qh5 15 Bg5 16 Bf4 17 b5 material loss; 21 ... Ne5 22 Be5 f6 23 After Winants's 21 Re3, there Bh7 fe 24 Re5 wins rook for bishop. was no way for Kamsky to avoid So he gave queen for rook-plus- 19 Bet

Fragile Paper, With Words for Eternity

MSKY/BLACK

월 28월 21월 21일 - 월 21일 - 일종 21일 - 202 213 - 202 - 202 213 - 202 212 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 213 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 210 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202 - 202

Washington Post Servic

WASHINGTON - It is a Iral document. Five pages long, its brown ink fading, it makes for dull reading with its frequent "aforesaids" and "there-fores." But 130 years ago, it transformed a bloody political conflict into a war for human liberation. On Dec. 31, the Emancipation Proclamatioo will go on display in the rotunda of the National Archives. entirety, the order signed by Abraham Lincoln that Ireed 4 milliou slaves during the Civil War.

The display is rich in historical meaning -- including the fact that it was prompted by a phone call to the archives from a woman descended from slaves owned by George Washington

"It's a joy to me," said Loretta Carter Hanes, 66, a teacher and historian. "I've been writing for many years, asking people to join in and become a part of Emancipation Day activities. And just to have triggered this response . . . it makes me feel exceedingly proud."

At 10 A. M. oo New Year's Eve, Hanes will cat the ribbon for the opening of the five-day exhibit of the Emancipation Proclamation in the rotunda of the National Archives Exhibition Hall. Archives officials say it will be, in the words of spokesman Susan Cooper, an informal "neighborhood event" — an apt celebration for a document that was a long-delayed triumph of egalitarianism, bishop with 21...f6 22 Rh3 Qh3 23 gh fe 24 de.

This was of course, hopeless, and soon, after 38 h6, Kamsky, caught in a mating net. overstepped the time limit

The proclamation consists of three pieces of paper, two written on front and back, making a total of five giving the American public its first chance to see, in its pages of text, said senior conservator Catherine Nicholson. It is in much more fragile condition than the original U.S. Constitution, she added. The latter was written on parchment, an animal skin, made by craftsmen using the best natural materials. The proclamation was written on mass-produced 19th-century paper in ink that was highly acidie and that fades when exposed to light and air.

"This is quite a treasure," she said. "We were very concerned about light damage."

To prevent further damage, the pages have been sealed in plastic envelopes, which will be suspended upright so that people can walk around and read both sides.